At the meeting of Astor lodge, K. of P., held last night, it was decided by unanimous vote that the dues and sick benefits of all members who enlisted in the defense of the Stars and Stripes would be paid by the lodge during their term of service. This is another act of patriotism, in line with the American spirit that will help make our arms invincible.

The body found floating near the Flavel dock Tuesday was identified as that of a man named William Teller, who was drowned about five months ago while duck hunting near Tongue Point. The body was badly decomposed and was buried immediately by Coroner Pohl. Teller, at the time of his disappearance, was to have been married in a few days.

REMEMBER THURSDAY MARZLUFF'S FINE LINE OF LADIES' SHOES WILL BE ON DISPLAY AT PETERSEN & BROWN'S. THIS HOUSE IS JUST NOW EXTENDING ITS BUSINESS TO THE COAST, WHICH WILL BE AFFORDED THE PRIVILEGES OF THE MORE POPULOUS DISTRICTS OF THE EAST.

At the special meeting of the city council held last night there was little business transacted. The mayor presided and all the members, except Mr. McGregor, were present. A resolution was introduced and adopted changing the Eleventh street sewer from 16 inches to 12 inches. The street committee's report against changing the grade on Alameda avenue was adopted. The same committee reported favorably on locating a light on Commercial street at the depot entrance, and the light was ordered erected.

Fifty Springfield rifles, with belts and bayonets, arrived here yesterday for Company 2, Oregon naval reserves. The arms were distributed last night and the members were drilled at the gymnasium in the manual of arms. Lieutenant Sherman read a command from Lieutenant Commander Lewis informing the junior officers of the company to prepare themselves to pass a company examination at the end of seven days. The company was also instructed to appear without leggins at the reception to be given them at Fisher's opera house tonight, and to assemble promptly at 8 o'clock at headquarters.

A man giving the name of W. H. Irvin was up before Police Judge Nelson yesterday on a charge of vagrancy. He was arrested by the police the night before as he was known to be visiting houses in Chinatown for the alleged purpose of having the residences numbered, and requested for the job 25 cents in advance. At the trial he claimed to be suffering from asthma and asked that he be sent to the county jail so as to have medical attendance. He demonstrated to the court by coughing the reasonableness of his request. Judge Nelson, however, sentenced him to 25 days in the city jail with the privilege of leaving the city at any time.

A bulletin issued from the headquarters of the Oregon commission for the Omaha exposition says: "The Oregon Railway & Navigation company, the Astoria & Columbia River railway, the Southern Pacific railway lines in Oregon, the Union Pacific Short Line and the White Collar line in Portland are the transportation companies whose hearty co-operation with the state commission has made it possible to get together the state display. Free transporation has readily been accorded to the commission and special credit is due the railway lines for carrying the freight. All recognize the benefits to be derived from thoroughly advertising the resources of the state."

The trial of Mitchel Zulovich for the murder of Frank H. Branderford, known as Pat Barnes, Saturday night last during an altercation in their fishing boats on Miller sands, was concluded in the justice court yesterday and the prisoner held in $2,000 bonds to appear before the next grand jury. A number of witnesses were examined and their testimony varied but little. Sofus Culbertson, boatpuller of the murdered man, was examined and his evidence differed but little from his statement already published. Culbertson is 19 years old and was born in Troutdale. Anton J. Langren and Peter Sholtz were drifting in the vicinity at the time of the shooting and testified to hearing a voice saying "Let me alone," which was spoken in good English, and in from three to five minutes afterward heard a shot, followed by three groans. Dan Gunyon, another fisherman, testified to the same as the preceding witnesses. J Bruce Polworth, prosecuting attorney of Wahkiakum county, Washington, who was present at the coroner's inquest at Pillar Rock, produced the bullet extracted from the fleshy part of the right arm of Barnes. Martin Boucaiten, boatpuller for Zulovich, testified through an interpreter. His evidence in substance was that they laid out on the inside or channel drift, near Pillar Rock, and after laying out about 220 fathoms of net, 30 fathoms remaining in the boat, he heard a voice cry out, "Is that you, Martin?" Barnes told him to pull down stream and not cross his net, which he did. Barnes and his boatpuller were laying on their oars, backing up to his boat, and bumped into it. Barnes flung a sounding lead at his captain, but it missed him. Barnes grabbed an oar and Zulovich pulled the oar away from him. Then Barnes went after the sprit. Boucaiten said he was excited at the time, but at this point Zulovich reached for his rifle and shot Barnes. Zulovich further stated he did not hear Barnes ask to be let alone. It appeared that Zulovich had not yet crossed the net to Barnes when the two boats met. Barnes letting go his net to sheer the other man down stream. As the boats came together Culbertson stated he could not shove off from Zulovich's boat, as the latter had made them both fast. Culbertson told a good story, which was not shaken on cross examination, but part of it was contradicted by the evidence of the boat puller for Zulovich.

INDEPENDENT REPUBLICAN NO. 2.

Astoria, May 25.—To the Editor of the Astorian: I have read with interest and approval the letter in yesterday's Astorian by "Independent Republican." I do not think, however, that the responsibility for the reduction of taxes for the railroad 50 per cent should rest entirely on the county court. As I understand it, Mr. Fulton appeared before the court as the attorney for the railroad and asked it to make the reduction and then afterwards when the property holders asked for a similar reduction went before the court and opposed it.

INDEPENDENT REPUBLICAN NO. 2.

THE HAWAIIAN QUESTION.

Washington, May 25.—The active opponents of Hawaiian annexation in the senate agreed to an arrangement for daily sessions of the senate, beginning at 11 o'clock, only after an understanding between the republican senators that the Hawaiian question should not be earnestly pressed in the senate in any form this session.

COAL FOR DEWEY.

San Francisco, May 25.—The steamer Ning Chow has arrived with a cargo of coal from Puget sound. The government has been negotiating for the charter of the collier for several days, and it is possible that she and her cargo may be sent to the assistance of Dewey's fleet. A big cargo of coal already purchased by the government has arrived here on the Peter Jebsen, which may also go to Manila.

FIRE FIEND'S WORK IN ASTORIA

Clatsop Mill Box Factory and Other Property Destroyed.

ENTIRE SECTION THREATENED

Flames Started in Engine Room—Heroic Work of Fire Department and Many Volunteers—Some Accidents.

The most disastrous fire in years occurred in Astoria at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, destroying completely the box factory of the Clatsop Mill Co., the Columbia cannery, the Pacific Union cannery, the old Lienenweber cannery and damaging the roadway of Exchange street, the Booth cannery and the railroad trestle.

The fire started in the engine room of the box factory, and in a moment the entire building was a mass of flames. The fire department was soon on the ground with all the available apparatus in the city. The firemen were quickly joined by hundreds of volunteers and despite the heroic efforts of all it was soon evident that the box factory was doomed. A high wind from the west prevailed at the time, which saved the sawmill from destruction. The attention of all was now bent to prevent the spread of flames to adjoining property, but notwithstanding hard and brave efforts the flames caught the Columbia and Pacific Union canneries, which were burned to the water's edge. Then came the rag of war. John Kopp's new brewery was next in the line of march of the fire monster and for a time seemed certain of destruction. Additional men, under the leadership of Albert Seafeldt, took off their coats and worked as never before. Here there was some system observed and with satisfaction the boys saw that their hard work was not in vain. The brewery was saved.

In the meantime the wind carried sparks half a mile away to the Booth cannery, which caught fire, but the flames were quickly extinguished and no damage was done. Not so with the old Lienenweber cannery near by. Sparks set the roof afire, which burned 40 minutes before the department could get to it. By that time the whole building was burning and little of it was saved. The railroad trestle was scorched but General Manager Curtis had a gang of men stationed there with buckets and no damage was done. The steamer Telephone steamed down about that time and passed a line of hose ashore and helped keep the flames in check at this point. The damage to Exchange street was not great, but the planking had to be ripped up in places to get at the fire which was below.

The tug Relief, Captain Randall, steamed down to Hanthorn's cannery and protected that from flying sparks.

As near as could be estimated last night the losses were about as follows:

Clatsop Mill $40,000, insurance $20,000; Columbia cannery $20,000, insurance $11,000; Pacific Union cannery $2,500; Lienenweber cannery $2,500; nets and boats belonging to fishermen, stored in the canneries $10,000. The estimate as to nets could not be made accurately, but fishermen stated a large number were lost and damaged.

Police Officer Sestem lost 16 fathoms of small mesh net, which was stored in the burned cannery.

During the fire a number of accidents occurred, but accurate reports have not yet been received.

A man named Charles Johnson, who was in a boat near the box factory, was hit on the head by a timber knocked overboard and would have drowned had not R. Adams jumped in and pulled him out. One of the employees of the factory, young Connor, had to jump overboard to escape the fire, and Ernest Oberg was badly burned.

Mayor Bergman and others who watched the fire asserted that not one-half the damage would have been done under the old volunteer system and with experienced men under systematic methods. The paid fire department is too small to handle such a blaze as that of yesterday, and had it not been for the good work of volunteers that whole end of town would have gone up in smoke. The fire department companies did splendid work, and were promptly on the scene, but alone would have been unable to cope with the emergency.

GETS THE AMERICAN FLAG.

San Francisco, May 25.—The steamer Zelandia will be prepared to sail for Manila with troops. Under act of congress she is admitted to American charter and when she sails next it will be with the Stars and Stripes at her masthead. Captain Howard will lose no time in discharging the vessel and preparing for the accomodation of troops. It is expected that she will be ready to sail in a week.

SHORT OF STEAMERS.

San Francisco, May 25.—The Oceanic Steamship Co. has been wiped out of steamers by the government, and as every other vessel in port is engaged it is expected that the passengers booked for Honolulu will be turned over to the Occidental & Oriental Co. for passage on the Doric. An effort was made to charter the new steamer Senator, but owing to the enormous accumulation of grain in Tacoma she could not be spared by her owners.

THE YOUNGEST VOLUNTEER.

San Francisco, May 25.—The youngest volunteer of the present campaign has come to the front. He is Douglass Dodge, aged 7 years, and he was found stowed away on the City of Sydney. When the young warrior was put aboard a tug to go ashore, he fought stubbornly the big deckhand who had him in charge, still strong in his determination to go with the soldiers, who gave him three hearty cheers.

THIRD BATTALION ARRIVES.

Portland, May 25.—The Third battalion, Washington state volunteers, arrived here at 8:30 tonight from Tacoma. The battalion is composed of 225 men under the command of Colonel Whalley. The troops immediately took the electric cars for Vancouver barracks, where regimental headquarters will be established for the present.

SIMPSON WANTS A COMMISSION.

Topeka, Kas., May 25.—Congressman Jerry Simpson wants to go to war as colonel of a Kansas regiment. Immediately after the publication today of a call for additional volunteers, Congressman Simpson telegraphed to Governor Leedy for authority to raise a regiment and asking for a commission as its colonel. It is probable Congressman Simpson's request will be granted.
