WOULD NOT SUFFER SO AGAIN FOR FIFTY TIMES ITS PRICE.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I was so weak I could hardly stand. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price.—G. H. Wilson, Liveryman, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by Charles Rogers.

Ebenezer N. McKenzie, a seaman on board lightship No. 67, stationed at Umatilla reef, was brought in on the Columbine yesterday morning and taken to St. Marys hospital. He was suffering from the effects of a fall from the top of the smokestack, which he was painting, on to the deck. He fell on a coal bucket, and it was thought at first that he was seriously hurt, but Dr. Tuttle examined him yesterday and found that although badly bruised, no bones were broken, and no dangerous effects are apprehended.

A letter was received yesterday by friends in this city from Lieutenant Sill, who, it will be remembered was in the revenue service here, being stationed on the Perry during the past winter. Mr. Sill is now at Newberne, N. C., where he is temporarily in charge of the revenue cutter Boutwell. He writes that he likes the station and expects the ship to remain there the full term of his enlistment, or for the next three years. Mrs. Sill is visiting friends at Spring Lake beach, N. Y.

Fish Commissioner Reed left day before yesterday for Grants Pass to meet John Hume, the Gold Beach canneryman, when the two will take a trip up Rogue river in search of a good site for a salmon hatchery, which Mr Hume proposes to equip and the state will run it. About $600 has been collected by Mr. Hume as licenses from Rogue river fishermen, and this sum will be spent in the Rogue river hatchery, though not this year, as it is now too late. The new hatchery, Mr. Reed thinks, will be located some distance below the old one, on Rogue river.

All agreed that he was not only bigger but much better than anything we have here. We took great care to have him thoroughly dampened. Edward C. Perkins."

Yashington is not likely hereafter to be so safe an asylum for fellows who have personal reasons for clandestinely leaving their own state as it has been here-tofore. On this subject the Seattle Post-Intelligencer has the following to say: The recent decision of the supreme court to the effect that prisoners cannot be admitted to bail pending appeal from judgment denying writ of habeas corpus will turn the tide of travel of the gentry wanted in other states away from this state. There will be no trouble in holding them now until requisitions can be obtained from the states where their presence is desired and the arrival of an officer to escort them thither.

Warrenton seems to have a transportation grievance and of it the Tribune of that place has the following to say: Warrenton, Flavel, Hammond, New Astoria and Fort Stevens are entitled to a better train service than that now furnished them. There is no reason why the motor service, which was so satisfactory, should not be re-established. It was a paying proposition while it was on and should never have been discontinued. A number of Astoria people purchased property in Yarrenton during the time the service was on with the intention of building and making this their home, but the shorting off of the service put a stop to their plans. This railroad, unlike most companies, does not seem to want to create business.

The Hwaco Journal in its last issue bewails the decadence of interest in athletic sports in that town. The following is what it has to say: Two years ago Hwaco was the center of athletic sports of all kinds, and victory was its in nearly every game that was played, whether it was football, baseball, bowling or any other game. But it would seem that Hwaco has somehow lost its grip or its interest. It undoubtedly has the material to uphold the position it attained in the sporting circle two years ago. It would seem to be almost too bad to not have a regularly organized team ready to battle and uphold the standard it attained, after the expense that has been expended on the grounds. Cannot some enthusiast enthuse some new life into the boys. Probably it only needs a leader to make things interesting again.

The Clatsop Mill Company is reaching out for business. At the mill improvements are being made which, when completed will give them more shed room for lumber and greatly help them in having seasoned lumber on hand. This company expects in the near future to ship a good deal of lumber east, as Clatsop county lumber and especially spruce, can not be beaten, and is in demand. A car is being loaded at the mills with spruce car siding, for shipment east, where it will be used in making railroad coaches. Superintendent Prael stated yesterday that there was a ready market for this class of lumber in Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska, and it was to this section that most of the product would be shipped. Two cars of this siding were shipped last week and another is loading, which will get away Tuesday or Wednesday. The lumber is first-class in every respect, there being no knots, and it all being a uniform length, grooved and beaded. It is not shipped on flat cars like ordinary lumber, but carefully piled up in box cars, where it will be protected from the weather and will arrive at its destination in first class shape.

Colonel Watterson has a forceful, concise, way of telling a fact, and in a comparison he recently made in the Courier-Journal of the attributes of the republican and democratic parties he made the following apt hit: "Issues are never made. They are born and they grow. The republican party may not be a very virtuous party. It may be a very hypocritical party. But it is an all-fired smart party. It sees an issue almost as quickly as it sees an office, and it has a way peculiar to itself of getting at that issue and that office and coming off smooth and smiling just as if it never stole a pig or told a lie. The democrats are either too good, or too foolish to profit by deception. They go smelling around and sniffling, and by the time they get good and ready to gobble the morsel it is gone. They are habitually out of season.

Yesterday morning the different committees who had been appointed to show the respect of Astorians to the remains of Ensign Monaghan, which came up from San Francisco on the Columbia, assembled at the dock and were introduced to the ensign's father, who is accompanying the body to his home in Spokane where interment will take place, by Judge Gray. Mrs. Green presented a lovely wreath, which had been prepared by the Women's Relief Corps, accompanied by the following inscription: "We present this wreath as a tribute of honor and respect that we, the representatives of the city of Astoria have for the heroic act of Ensign Monaghan, who bravely perished with his comrade rather than desert him. 'Greater love hath no man than this, that he gave his life for his friend.'" Mr. Monaghan responded, thanking them for their kindness and sympathy, saying he could not find words to express his gratitude. He then presented the Women's Relief Corps with a cabinet photograph of the brave ensign. The remains will be met at Portland with a guard of honor from the Washington National guard, who will escort it to Spokane.

Yesterday morning when the Columbia landed from San Francisco, two men, a sailor and a Portland sailor boarding house keeper, got off at the dock, and were soon engaged in a lively fight. From what could be learned it seems that the boarding house keeper had a contract with the sailor to ship on a long voyage to Africa, and paid his fare up to Portland from which place the ship would start. On the trip up the sailor changed his mind about going, and decided to spend the rest of his life ashore and interested some of the passengers in his desire. A few of them took quite an interest in the lad and promised him a jog upon the arrival of the ship in Portland. The boarding house man did not take kindly to this scheme, as he feared he would lose his fees, and sought to forcibly prove his claims to the directing of the future history of the sailor. The battle was sharp and decisive, but the sailor was getting the worst of it when a big, lanky member of the troupe announced himself as also on the program. He lasted rapidly, the boarding house man playing the star part, and in the last half of the first round landed a right hook on the point of the jaw and the sailor's defender lay on his back gasping for breath. By this time a policeman came up and took the sailor and the boarding house man in tow and landed them in the city jail. They will be given a chance to untangle themselves from the meshes of the law in the police court tomorrow.

RECITAL TOMORROW EVENING.

It is not often that the music lovers of Astoria have such a rare treat in store as will be offered Monday evening at the Methodist church, the event being the first appearance in the city of the eminent young violinist of New York, Mr. Elmore Rice. Mr. Rice has been playing with wonderful success through the northwest during the past few weeks, having played to large and enthusiastic audiences at Minneapolis, Fargo, Grand Forks, Butte, Mont., Helena, Spokane, Walla Walla, Seattle, Tacoma, Olympia. At his recent concert in Butte, Mont., the newspapers were enthusiastic in praise of the young virtuoso. Mr. Rice is known as a pupil of the great Hungarian virtuoso, Edward Remenzi. At his concert in Astoria Mr. Rice will be assisted by Mrs. Th. Olsen, pianiste. The program will embrace compositions by Grieg, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Schubert, Musla and others. The chef d'ouvre of the evening will be the Mendelssohn concert in E minor. Admission $1, no reserved seats. Program will commence at 8:30. It has been decided to hold the recital in the Methodist church instead of the Episcopal, as announced on cards.

A FOOLISH MAN.

There was once a man who thought what a dreadful thing it would be if he were blind, and closed his eyes as he walked along to see how it would be. In this way he walked over a purse of gold which another man picked up. There are people today just as foolish. They moan over their poor health thinking nothing will help them, when a trial of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will cure their ailments. It brings steady, vigorous nerves to nervous people. It purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, and brings back real health by making indigestion and constipation impossible. It is absolutely the greatest remedy known for all stomach troubles, and is to be found in every drug store.
