MEDFORD PLEDGES SUPPORT FOR ASHLAND'S 4TH

A large delegation of Ashland business men went to Medford yesterday and attended the chamber of commerce forum uncheon at the Hotel Medford yesterday for the purpose of inviting the citizens of Medford to attend the Fourth of July celebration to be held in Ashland this year, and to assist and cooperate with the city of Ashland in making it the most successful ever.

Chairman C. C. Lemmon, of the local chamber, called upon Rev. C. A. Edwards as the first speaker from Ashland. He made a short address, telling something of the plans for the celebration and requesting Medford's co-operation at the same time, pledging Ashland's support in any project beneficial to southern Oregon. He pointed out that the Ashland attendance exceeded the Medford attendance and that while in Medford the Ashlanders were Medfordites.

E. V. Carter spoke following Mr. Edwards and extended a cordial invitation to attend the celebration. He also put in a boost for the county fair and said that he felt confident that Ashland would give the fair her whole hearted support. Mr. Carter stated that he believed that ultimately the Jackson county fair would equal the state fair at Salem, and possibly eclipse it.

A. C. Nininger was the next speaker on the program. He gave the audience a definite outline of the celebration program, which will will start Saturday, July 1, and will not terminate until Tuesday night. One of the largest open air dance pavilions is to be opened on the first day of the four days celebration, and the management states that a real orchestra will be employed. In Lithia park on Sunday afternoon a band concert will be given. Monday will be Ford day and a Ford parade will take place. This promises to be a unique sight as prizes will be awarded to the Ford coming the longest distance to participate, the Ford with the five shortest people, the Ford carrying the five tallest people, the Ford with the largest number of passengers, the Ford with the largest number of children, the Ford with the smallest number of children. A brand new Ford will be given away Monday.

On the Fourth there will be ball games between Leland and Grants Pass, and Ashland will probably challenge the winner. Arrangements are being made for a wrestling contest for the 3rd or 4th, between Hand and Miller, for the world's middleweight championship.

Following the speech by Mr. Nininger, Secretary Fuller of the Ashland chamber of commerce made a few brief remarks and urged Medford people to take part in the big Jackson county parade. The parade is to be one of the features of the celebration and every motorist in Jackson county should participate to make the thing a success. In the evening on the Fourth, there will be the usual display of fireworks.

Among those present from Ashland were:

George Dunn, C. F. Billings, H. T. Elmore, C. H. Pierce, F. E. French, E. V. Carter, H. C. Galey, J. H. Fuller, Rev. C. A. Edwards, A. C. Nininger and Fred Wagner.

HARLAN, Ky., June 8.—Robert Baker, 84 year old father of 33 children, today told American birth control advocates their "stuff was the bunk."

"I've heard tell of these people in the city who claim there ought to be a law against having all the kids you want" Baker, self-styled world champion papa, declared. "If a man has got a good herd of cows and a house, there's no sense in limiting the number of kids he can have."

Baker is the milkman of Harlan.

"No, I can't say when it's best to have your first child.

"But don't wait until you are certain you're able to support it."

BONUS BILL IS NOW UP TO VOTE OF THE SENATE

REPORT URGES ADOPTION DESPITE THREAT OF VETO BY PRESIDENT

McCumber Bill Is Favorably Reported and Passage Urged, Payments To Be Met from Interest on Loans To Our Late Allies.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Ignoring alike suggestions from opponents that the treasury cannot stand the bonus drain and strong hints from the administration spokesman that President Harding will veto the measure, Senator McCumber has reported the long delayed, much discussed bonus bill to the senate, with a lengthy report favoring its passage.

The bill puts squarely up to the administration the payment of the bonus from interest to be collected from British and other war debts. McCumber cited the funding operations of the treasury to show that the government's financial condition is steadily improving.

A parliamentary fight developed in the senate from the moment Senator McCumber brought in his report.

Senators Underwood and Williams (democrats) both objected to the senate's receiving the report. This led to a wordy wrangle in which McCumber gave notice that he would not take up the bill for the present, if the senate accepted the report.

The report of the federal trade committee on the gasoline inquiry, which shows a record breaking gasoline reserve, is being made the basis for both probes.

The senate investigation was authorized in a resolution introduced by La Follette and unanimously passed.
