Don't Make Your Car an Orphan Asylum

"I'VE waited in line for a Sale. I've come to regard the elbow as a deadly weapon, and I know the law of 'a toe for a rib' on bargain day.

"I've bought things without knowing the name of the maker—and sometimes I didn't get stung.

"But when it comes to a tire—give me a pedigree, the name of the man that made it and a standard warranty.

"That's the thing for me. I want a tire that is made by a firm that stands for that made to wear, that carries a warranty, a United States USCO, and it costs not one penny more.
