Rev. James Vernon will preach at C. P. Church next Sunday, July 24. All are cordially invited.

Rev. Dr. Warner of Denver, delivered a sermon at the Bohemia mines on Sunday last to a good sized congregation.

A new galvanized iron letter sign is displayed by the Wynne Hardware Company. It is well made and lettered, the work of Armond Wynne.

Joseph Hallem and wife of Iowa are visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Hunt. They have been favorably impressed with the Willamette valley and like Cottage Grove very much. An invitation is extended them to make their home here.

Officer Ed Underwood's face is wreathed in smiles because Mrs. Underwood returned Wednesday from a visit to Illinois and the St. Louis Fair. Mrs. Underwood appears in excellent health and is glad to be back in Cottage Grove.

Frank Crabtree brought in some black Tartarian cherries from his Row river ranch that are full flavored, firm and evenly matured. He picked 50 gallons from one tree. A branch left at the Leader office was thickly set with the luscious ripe fruit—as fine a quality as the editor ever saw, and he has seen many fine cherries during a residence of 30 years in California.

Chas. Driscoll, who lives in the Long & Bingham addition, reports that miscreants have pulled up twenty hills of fine potatoes from his Early Rose patch. The rains have started the potatoes nicely and proably a sack full of them were stolen. Whoever took the tubers left hundreds of small ones hanging to the vines. Mr. Driscoll requests that the thieves return and get the tops for greens.

The party of ten camping on Mosby creek are reported having a fine experience and good luck hunting and fishing. H. F. Wynne and wife, J. S. Benson and family, Mrs. Herbert Eakin, Misses Ethel Eakin, Mabel Rosenburg, Lula Currin and Neva Perkins, compose the party. Jim Benson had his buck soon after they made camp. Rain from Thursday to Sunday did not seriously bother the party, for they have four tents and have chosen a spot well protected by a thick growth of maple which partly shed the rain. Armond Wynne and his mother drove to the camp Thursday and returned Friday. The party will return home Saturday.

War on the Waterfront.

Eva Larkin and Frankie Rice mixed up on River street Tuesday. Hat pins, violent kicks and closed fists were the weapons used. Some beautiful language, soft and sweet, was mingled in the fracas. Eva Larkin swore out a warrant for Frankie Rice, who on Wednesday pleaded guilty before Police Judge F. D. Wheeler, and was fined $5 and $1.50 costs.

Tuesday before Justice Vaughn, Tom Miller was tried for battery on John Haskins, before a jury. The trouble occurred Saturday morning. Miller was discharged. The officers would do well to impose some heavy fines and stop this neighborhood quarreling, which is an annoyance to people in the vicinity.

SHORT STORIES.

Baltimore has a man who is earning an excellent living tattooing dogs.

The United States has three cities of more than a million inhabitants, but the fourth, St. Louis, has about 600,000.

A girl was married at Dover, Del., recently and was obliged to ask for police protection to keep a rejected lover from kidnaping her.

A Pittsburg man whose old home had to be moved to make way for a railroad line has undertaken the unusual task of raising the house bodily to the top of a steep hill 150 feet high.

A South McAlester man advertises himself as "the champion horseshoer of the Indian Territory, a double, back action, stem wind, cable screwed, Roman nosed, dish faced, knockkneed, ham legged, all round horseshoer."

Large numbers of sea robins have been taken in a Nantucket fish trap and until recently were thrown away, as the fishermen were unaware of the prices the homely creatures brought in city markets. Eight dollars a barrel is a usual figure for them.

According to the report of Chief Wilkie of the United States secret service, there were 424 persons arrested last year for passing counterfeit money. Half of them were sent to penitentiaries. Paper money captured amounted to $16,211, while gold and silver coins totaled $15,000.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Gertrude Elliot shows a marked resemblance to her sister, Maxine Elliot.

Duse is to come to America next spring under the management of Liebler & Co.

Mrs. Irwin Chapman is in New York rehearsing for Mr. Belasco's new piece, "Sweet Kitty Bellaire."

John Hare, when he comes to America again, may appear in an adaptation of Thackeray's "Pendennis" by Paul Potter.

Annie Russell is to have a new play by Hadden Chambers called "The Bypath," which he dramatized from the French.

Germany seems to have just discovered Oscar Wilde. His "Salome" has made a pronounced success in Berlin and has been accepted for production at Vienna.

More real typewriters are used by the chorus girls in the first act of "The Office Boy" than in any play that has ever been seen. They are the genuine thing and click away realistically.

Frank Losee, who is well remembered from his work with Bertha Galland in "Notre Dame" last season, portrays another strong character with her in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall."
