IN MANILA

Attempt to Conciliate the Catholic Interests With Army.

RESULTS NOT ENCOURAGING.

Special to the GUARD.

MANILA, Jan. 24. — Archbishop Chappelle, who is now in charge of affairs in the archipelago for the Catholic church, bent on a mission of peace, recently tendered a reception in the hope of being able to conciliate factions and create harmony between the church officers on the islands and the American military government. The friars were repeatedly hissed, while General Otis was cheered. While the friendship to America is growing stronger, it is not thought that any compromise can be effected, but that America will win on its own demands, and by consent of the natives.

Lieutenant Stickney, of the Nineteenth infantry, is missing, and his whereabouts are unknown at headquarters.

MURDER AT PORTLAND.

Special to the Guard.

PORTLAND, Jan. 24.—William Kirk, first mate of the American ship Collinbent, was murdered this morning in his cabin by the boatswain,

The "Squaring of the Circle."

For over 2000 years competent and incompetent minds have striven to solve the problem known as "squaring the circle." So many incorrect answers were presented that in the year 1775 a resolution was adopted by a prominent board not to accept any more. There is another problem as difficult, and for which people have been seeking the answer since the beginning of life, and this is the problem of health—how to get it and how to keep it. If you have lost yours through neglect or abuse of the stomach get Hostetter's Stomach Bitters instantly. It will restore health, and keep you healthy. For 50 years it has cured constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, fever and ague, malaria, inactive liver and weak kidneys.

On Trial.

The examination of J. H Martin, charged with indecent exposure, is being held before Justice Wintermeier as the GUARD goes to press. The evidence of witnesses is very positive. The penalty is from three months to 1 year in the county jail. Deputy District Attorney Harris appears for the state and Attorney G W Kinsey for defense.

STEAMER EUGENE.

Arrived Up Today With Freight and Leaves Down Tomorrow.

The steamer Eugene arrived up at noon today, having left Harrisburg at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Purser Isaac Gray states the high water tore out the government work at Curtis slough, and considerable difficulty was experienced at that point. He says further that the services of the snagboat will be necessary to insure safe navigation to this point. Sixteen tons of freight was brought up for Eugene merchants, and the boat leaves down at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning.

BOLD WORKER

Collins, the Forger, Is Brought to An Accounting.

ARRESTED IN JUNCTION YESTERDAY.

Ashland Tiding: "H. C. Collins, the dapper bar-tender, who worked at the Hotel Oregon a few weeks past, and whose exploits in the line of kiting checks and floating worthless drafts was ventilated in the Tidings of recent date, is still working along the same line. The latest victim of his is in Marshfield. On the 15th inst. Collins drew a draft in favor of John Curran, on the Bank of Ashland for $50, which was cashed by a banking firm in the Coos metropolis. It reached Ashland Saturday and was promptly posted and returned to Marshfield and when it reaches there Mr. Curran will no doubt have the amount to repay to the bank for his faith in Collins' financial worth. It develops that Collins is not the erstwhile Ashland bar-tender's proper name, he being the son of a prominent citizen of Williamsport, Penn., named Codder, from whom he a few years since inherited $17,000, which has been dissipated. When he came to the coast, for reasons best known to himself, Codder discharged his patronymic and assayed to be known as Harry C. Collins, which signature attaches to checks and drafts which he is turning into coin quite rapidly if his recent experiences in Hornbrook, Medford, Grants Pass and Marshfield are to be taken as a criterion. In all probability ere this Collins has made his way from Coos county to California."

Collins has continued his work with the utmost disregard for an accounting. The draft at Grant's Pass, which he cashed was in favor of J. Al Waddle, the well known traveling man. After that exploit Collins went to Harrisburg where he succeeded in working off another draft. This was too much and he was located at Junction last night, arrested by Marshal Curtis, of that city, and taken by him to Roseburg on the overland this morning, where he will be given a preliminary examination, with bright prospects ahead of being the guest of the state of Oregon for several years. Collins was in Eugene for short time a month or so ago.

SOCIAL.

AGREEABLE SURPRISE PARTY.

Mr. Wm G. Purkerson, well known as an Oregon pioneer, and going under the sobriquet of "Uncle Billy," and who indeed is, in truth, an uncle in name to a great many people, both young and old, was pleasantly surprised by a gathering of the same, and many nieces and nephews, at his home a few evenings ago.

At 8 o'clock a timid knock was heard at his door, and being invited by "Uncle Billy's cheery "come in," all filed in. To say that the old gentleman was surprised does not do justice to his actual feelings, and it must be confessed that he was considerably "rattled." However, he quickly gained his equinanimity and after making all feel more than welcome, he declared it was his treat, and it would be no small one, either. After a few jokes had been cracked at the old gentleman's expense, all hands adjourned to the residence of H. W. Hall, next door neighbor, where dainty refreshments were served, Mr. Purkerson being conspicuous as the guest of honor. The balance of the evening was spent in games and if the amount of uproarious laughter going on, could be taken as a criterion, everybody must have been successful in having a grand time. Mr. Purkerson being called upon for a speech, expressed himself as being somewhat out of voice, but declared that he was highly delighted with the honor of being surprised and added among other things, the wish that all might live long and happy lives with plenty of this world's goods for company.

During the hilarity "Uncle Billy" proved himself as nimble as some of the younger men present. The party in departing voted him many more years of life and many happy returns of the day, as his approaching marriage is currently reported.

THE MINSTRELS.

The Parker was well filled last night by those who enjoy the real minstrel performances. And they were not disappointed, for Richards & Pringle's aggregation of colored songsters and funmakers filled every requirement. The rag-time and camp-meeting songs, solos and quartets, buck and wing dancing and jokes, and every other feature of the show was received with pleasure. This is one of the largest and best minstrel companies on the road and attracts much favorable comment on their entire circuit.

At the close of the performance the managers and troupe were entertained at an informal stag party given by the Eugene lodge of Elks. It was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

READING LAST NIGHT.

The reading given at the Presbyterian church last night by Mrs. Meeke was well attended and all present speak in highest terms of the ability of the lady. The program was well selected, and the elocutionary powers of the reader were shown to the best advantage. Mrs. Meeke left on the afternoon train south-bound to meet her appointments in the southern part of the state.

LINKED WITH FOLLY

This is a story that belongs to the olden time. A certain lord, pleased with the sallies of his jester presented him with a new bauble saying "Keep this Archie until you find a greater fool than yourself to bestow it on." One day the nobleman lay a-dying, and with his household went Archie to look his last upon his master's face and hear his voice once more.

The jester stooped above his lord and said "Master, why do you say good-by? "I am going a journey Archie" was the feeble answer. "How long a journey?" the jester asked. "Nay Archie I do not know." "Whither then does the journey lead?" "Neither do I know that Archie." "What provision hast thou made for the journey?" "None at all" sighed the nobleman. Archie looked long and hard in his master's face, then he placed the bauble in his lord's hand. "Take it" he said "for I have found a greater fool than myself."

There is no greater folly than ignorance where knowledge is possible and within necessary to safety and happiness, and yet tens of thousands of people walk this way linked with folly. They are ignorant of the conditions of life, ignorant of the constitution of their own bodies. Children grow to manhood and womanhood ignorant of the conditions under which nature governs. They break her laws recklessly. They exhaust themselves in the mistaken effort to "have a good time" while they are young.

Some day comes the shock when nature presents her overdraft account and demands payment. Sometimes it's lung trouble, sometimes the stomach fails of its functions, sometime the liver refuses to do any longer at its load, or the kidneys give at their burden. Sometimes, very often indeed, a red spot begins to burn on the cheeks, a hacking cough develops, the breath grows short, the strength oozes away at night in dripping sweat, and every day the daily walk is shortened by a few steps as the strength fails. That's consumption.

The theory is that consumption cannot be cured, and it's a theory so deeply rooted that time is wasted in considering it. But what is a cure in such a case? Suppose a man (or woman) with all the symptoms of consumption takes, as thousands and thousands have taken, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and lives on to be healthy, happy, hearty old age as the same thousands and thousands have done and dies in the allotted time of a ripe old age. Two positions are possible. You may say "it was not really consumption I had." Or it can be said "I really did have consumption after all." But the undeniable fact is that the man lived out his three score years and ten. What is a cure if this is not one? Isn't it life? You don't care what way? Isn't it life? You don't care what disease you may be said to have if you are enjoying health and live out your long life in comfort and content. One fact at least is well established. That the "Golden Medical Discovery" does cure weak lungs, bleeding from lungs, obstinate, lingering coughs, laryngitis, bronchitis, throat disease, and kindred affections of the air passages, which if neglected or badly treated lead up to consumption, can no longer be doubted in view of the many thousands of well established cures of such cases reported by the most trustworthy citizens. Many of these cases have been pronounced consumption—and incurable—by the best local physicians before the sufferers commenced the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Whether the doctors have cured in their judgement in these numerous cases or not is not for us to decide.

"I had a very bad cough, also night-sweats and was almost in my grave with consumption," writes Mrs. Clara McIlvries, of Adams Center, Jefferson Co., Mass., Box 131. "A friend of mine who had died of consumption came to my bedside in a dream and told me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and thank God I did so. By the time I had taken half of the first bottle I felt much better. I kept on and I have taken three bottles. That was six years ago and I got well and strong again."

"I had the grip, which left me feeling very weak—no strength and a cough," writes Mrs. Maynard, of East Lynn, Lawrence Co., Conn. "As some of my friends died of consumption I feared that. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After taking the second bottle I felt much better, and am as well for one of my age (sixty-three years)."
