lumber in the Chinese market by a Russian vessel from Vlackvostock. This fact opens the question of future competition for the Oriental market between the American lumber interests on the Pacific Coast, on the one hand, and that of the Russians in Siberia and on the Yalu Coast, on the one hand, and that of the Russians in Siberia and on the Yain River, on the other. In both cases enormous resources are awalting development. The American industry of the Pacific Coast has the advantage of organization on a jarge scale and of mechanical equipment unequaled by that of any other field in the world. This is evidenced by the rate of annual production. Unofficial estimates put the annual cut of lumber and shingles of the three Pacific States at 4,600,000,000 feet, of which California supplies 80,000,000 feet, Oregon 760,000,000 feet and Washington 2,300,000,000 feet. At this rate it is calculated that the forests of the Pacific Coast will be exhausted in 40 years.

Shood is Taken by the Maracrous Burglars.

As it would naturally be expected, the Pacific lumbermen have been rapidly enlarging their area and volume of commercial distribution, both in the foreign and the domestic markets. According to faures gathered by the Bureau of Statistics, the redwood shipments from upper California, mostly to San Francisco and the Southern Coast, in 1962, amounted to others wounded by hold-up men at the barns of the Chicago City Rallway Company, Sixty-first and State streets, at an eos, 102,982 feet of pine and fir, in 1901, 462.

lumber trade is its increasing contril tion to the transcontinental tonnage tion to the transcontinental tonnage for railroads on the way back from the Pa-cific Coast eastward. The opening of the Mississippi Valley to the Pacific Coast iumbermen likewise brings the export trade from the coast into closer relations with the demands of the comestic con-sumer. The consumer in the Mississippi Valley is directly interested in the prog-ress of lumbering, both in the Northwest-ern states and in the Southern states as ern states and in the Southern states as ern states and in the Southern states as main sources of supply. The entire East is chiefly dependent on both of these sources. Consequently all domestic industries and interests, relying on the lumber supply of the future, are concerned with the prospective ability of any foreign competitor to share the foreign market, and thus to affect the rate of domestic output and its ratio to domestic demand. The relative importance of foreign to domestic demands, so far as the Pacific Coast is concerned, is not easily ascer-Coast is concerned, is not easily tained. There are, however, a few figures bearing on the subject. The principal milis of the state of Washington for 1852 reported that 386,172,288 feet were sent to coastwise destinations, and 15,115,554 feet to foreign destinations. If this ratio holds good for the Coast as a whole, it would appear that nearly 30 per cent of the output goes to foreign and 70 per cent to from present indications the United States has nothing to fear from her fivals in the lumber trade of the Pacific. Ulti-mately, the Philippine Islania will no foubt contribute materially to the supply. The trade from the Pacific Coast of the United States is now in a strong position.

During the facal year 1902 the United

Ambassador Choate Will Give & Banquet to Include All the British and American Representatives.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Secretary of War Eilhu Root, ex-Secretary of State John W. Fuster, Hannis Taylor and Judge John M. Dickinson arrived at Liverpoot on the Cetite today for the meetings of the Alaskan Boundary Commission, which will open in London September 2. They were received at Liverpool by Mr. Pethe-rick, assistant United States dispatch agent, on behalf of the American Ein-bassy.

The party came directly to London and on their errival here were met by Secretary Carter, of the United States Embassy. Mr. Root registered at the Hyde Park Hotel, while the other members of the party established themselves at the Carlton Hotel. The Canadian Commissioners also are here.

United States Ambassador Choate has arranged to give a dinner in honor of Secretary Root, at which all the American and British representatives will be present. The party came directly to London and

The commissioners are already famillar The commissioners are already familiar with the facts of the case, which were filed several months ago. At the first meeting of the commissioners next Thursday, the Americans and Canadians will submit their briefs, which will be a condensation of the facts and arguments regarding the interpretation of the treaty. The Commission will then announce the day on which the oral arguments will be heard.

The documents have not yet been made.

The documents have not yet been made public, but the Associated Press cor-respondent learns that the whole con-troversy centers upon Canada's efforts to acquire an outlet to the sea. It is known authoritatively that the Canadian agent asserts that under the Russo-British treaty of 1825 the line properly crosses numerous inlets, including the head-waters of the Lynn Canal. The conten-tion seems to be that the inlets less than tion seems to be that the inlets less than six miles wide situated in the disputed region belong to Canada.

United States Counsel Foster vigorously-opposes this view, holding that the treaty clearly places the line 30 miles inland, following the sinuosities of the coast, thus separating Canada from all the arms of the ocean and putting Porcupine Creek and the gold district under American jurisfiction. The American representatives are confident that their position is unassailable. assailable.

The Commissioners expect that the complete consideration of the entire case will take less than two months, and that even should the Commission fail to render a majority award the facts will be clearly cataltished. This will lead to an easier settlement in the future. Secretary Root intends to take advantage of the recess between the fillings of the briefs and the oral arguments to

Well Attended. ST. PAUL, Aug. 30.—Delegates are beginning to arrive for the annual reunion of the National Society of the Army of the Philippines, which will meet tomorrow. The flast is sending a large delegation and indications are that the Western and Southern states will be well represented, Fully 2000 are expected, St. Louis, Chicago, Chattanooga, Put-in-Bay Island, Buffalo and Cleveland are making a campaign for the next reunion.

Two questions of vital importance will be discussed. At present contract surgeons who served in the Army of the Phillippines are not eligible to the society. Many that have served in that capacity desire to become enrolled and the by-laws may be so amended that they may be-come members. The society also will consider the advisability of forming a ladies' auxiliary similar to the one in connection with the G. A. R. Wednesday will be the greatest day of the encampment, the military parade tak-ing place on that day. General Kobbe and staff, Generals Wheston, Sommers, Merritt, MacArthur, Funston, Metcalf and Brigadier-General Charles King are expected to be in line.
