CORONER'S JURY INVESTIGATING

Death of John R. Goldson Being Inquired Into

Many Believe That Bullet Which Killed Him Came From Rifle in Hands of Someone Else

There is doubt in the minds of many people as to the manner in which John R. Goldson met his death while struggling with a wounded cougar in the mountains west of Goldson Sunday, and to determine, if possible, whether death resulted from a bullet from his own rifle or from one from a rifle in the hands of some one else, a coroner's jury is investigating the matter.

After carefully examining the location of the wound which caused death a number of Goldson's companions who reached him just before he expired came to the conclusion that while death was no doubt accidental, the shot came from the rifle which dispatched the cougar. It is thought that as Goldson was fighting the cougar one of the shots fired at the animal went wide of its mark and entered Goldson's body. The bullet entered at the shoulder and ranged downward, lodging somewhere in the body.

On the other hand there are others who think it impossible that one of the party could have killed the man, owing to the lay of the land thereabouts and to the position which he was in.

THE CORONER'S JURY.

The coroner's jury, under the direction of Justice of the Peace J. P. Harpole, began the inquest at Franklin yesterday and examined the body. They drove out to the scene of death today and will return late this afternoon. A verdict will not be rendered before tomorrow. The jury consists of the following: Jason Richardson, Heck Kennedy, Lee Mounts, Dow Lingo, Wm. Cook, and Chas. Brown.

BODY BURIED.

The body of the unfortunate man was buried yesterday afternoon in Franklin cemetery. The funeral was largely attended. The services were under the auspices of the Woodmen of the World, of which order the deceased was a member. The following members of Eugene camp attended the funeral: J. J. Hinton, Virgil Rowland, J. W. Pollock, F. G. Woodcock, P. E. Snodgrass, Glenn Chessman, Geo. Norris, W. B. Dillard, J. J. Ellwood and M. O. Fuller.

WILL FIGHT THE FRUIT PEST

Dr. H F McCornack, deputy fruit inspector for Lane county, has issued an order requiring persons who have fruit trees infested with the San Jose scale to spray those trees or destroy them. This pest has made its appearance to an alarming extent since its introduction, four or five years ago. Few fruit trees in this vicinity are free from it. Some orchards have already been sprayed and others will be before the buds burst in spring.

The scale is especially bad on cherry trees, but is also found on apple, pear and other kinds of fruit trees. It can also be found on maple trees, willows and shrubs of various kinds.

Fruitgrowers are generally complying with the order without complaint.

Furious Fighting

"For seven years," writes Geo. W. Hoffman, of Harper Wash., "I had a bitter battle with chronic stomach and liver trouble, but at last I won and cured my diseases by the use of Electric Bitters. I unhesitatingly recommend them to all and don't intend in the future to be without them in the house. They are certainly a wonderful medicine to have cured such a bad case as mine." Sold under guarantee to do the same for you by W. L. DeLano, druggist, at 50c a bottle. Try them today.

MEETING OF FIRE DEPARTMENT

Papers Will Be Read and Discussed by Firemen This Evening

A meeting of the Eugene fire department will be held in Firemens' hall in the city building tonight to discuss matters pertaining to the welfare of the department and the best manner in which to combat with fires.

A paper on "Discipline in the volunteer fire department and how it should be observed and enforced in Eugene," will be read by C. F. Smith and one on "Eugene and her fire department, present and future," by J. M. Williams. The papers will be followed by a general discussion.

The members of the city council and the past chief engineers of the department have been invited to attend and all others interested in the department will be made welcome.

Mound Items

Mound, Jan. 24.—About 3 inches of snow fell in the mountains during the week, and it still continues to be equally

The river has been quite high during the week. The river pigs have been busily engaged in driving the logs. They have got below the mouth of Wolf Creek.

Chas. Layne returned Friday from the Noti, where he has been driving logs for Walters & Sons.

There has been considerable trouble experienced in keeping the telephone line in order for the past two weeks. It seems as if some one has been using the insulators as targets.

Miss Nellie Gates has been visiting with her sister, Nettie Fleck, who is teaching the prairie school.

C. Hinkson, commonly known as "Sunday," still continues to make his regular trips up and down the river.

Jackrabbits have begun to come into this country. There was one killed in a wheat field the other day.

Mrs. H. D. Johnson visited with relatives at Mound last week.

Roy Bierce is among the log drivers this year.

There has been quite a scare around Crow about the measles, but none of the Moundites have been afflicted yet.

Henry Tripp made a flying trip to town this week.

M. D. Johnson is laid up with a lame back at present.

THE LITTLE BIJOU HAS QUIT BUSINESS

But the Palace of Sweets still leads them all in the manufacture of fine candy and ice cream. Don't forget we are serving the famous Eagle Brand boneless chicken tamale at 15 cents apiece. You all understand the Eagle Brand tamale is far the best tamale made and the Palace of Sweets is the place to get them.

Elks Attention

Work tonight. A fine, frisky fawn has been captured and he will receive his antlers tonight. A full attendance is requested. Social session after the meeting. No fines.

EYESORE SHOULD BE REMOVED

Shack With Junkshop in Midst of Best Residence District

Building Black With Age and Ready to Tumble Down—People May Petition to Remove Nuisance

In the old shack of a residence at the corner of East Eleventh and Mill streets, which should have been torn down fifteen or twenty years ago, is conducted a junk shop. Ill-smelling hides and all kinds of trash are kept there much to the disgust and annoyance of the people residing in that vicinity.

The old building, black with age, is in the centre of the most fashionable residence district in the city and dwellings costing from $2500 to $6000 surround it on all sides. For several years past there has been a desire that the owner of the shack, a prominent resident of Eugene, should tear it down, but now that it has been rented for a junk shop the people living in that vicinity are greatly incensed, and there is talk of circulating a petition asking that the business be discontinued there.

It seems that civic pride would impel the owner of the property to clear the lot of the eyesore, and even if he does not intend to build there soon, clean up the premises and give them a respectable appearance to conform with the surroundings.

SIMMONS-TINGLEY MARRIAGE

Took Place at Residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Tingley This Forenoon

The marriage of Miss Alice Tingley to Allen A. Simmons took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Tingley, 65 East Ninth street, at 10:30 o'clock this forenoon in the presence of only a few relatives and intimate friends. Rev J. S. McCallum, pastor of the First Christian church, performed the ceremony, which was brief but impressive. After the ceremony and congratulations the bridal party partook of a wedding breakfast, after which they drove to the 12:42 train and the happy couple left amid showers of rice and good wishes for Portland and other points north on a honeymoon tour.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tingley and is prominent in church and lodge circles. The groom is a well-known photographer. They will soon return to Eugene and take up their permanent residence here.

At Cripple Creek

"At Cripple Creek," a new and spirited drama produced by E. J. Carpenter, will be produced at the Eugene theatre next Tuesday evening. This latest success of Mr. Reid is a drama of startling and absorbing interest. The four acts move on to an exciting finish with the dash and briskness possible only to a play dealing with life in the great West. The elaborate stage sets are a marvel of ingenuity and realism and give picturesque views of surpassing beauty in the heart of the Rockies.

TWO WILLS FILED FOR PROBATE

Alfred Brattain and Aaron Kelsay Leave Property to Their Wives

Two wills have been filed for probate by Geo. E. Dorris, attorney for both estates.

The will of Alfred Brattain, who died at his home near Springfield October 4, 1905, was executed July 3, 1898, in the presence of George B. Dorris and J. F. Robinson. The property of the estate is valued at $2500. All the property is bequeathed to the wife of the deceased, Mrs. Ruth M. Brattain, who is also named as executrix without bonds.

The will of Aaron Kelsay, who died near Lorane Dec. 22, 1905, was executed Dec. 4, 1905, in the presence of R. J. Farman and M. B. Stone. The property is valued at $900 and is left to the wife of the deceased, Mrs. Phoebe Helen Kelsay, and at her death to be divided between their children, J. D. and E. F. Kelsay, M. E. Damewood and H. L. Richardson.
