KILLED BY ACCIDENT

T. C. Keisur Met Death by Being Shot With Pistol

In Hands of Walter Foley, Who Was Drunk—Occured on Bohemia Railroad Last Evening

Cottage Grove, Jan. 31.—Yesterday afternoon on the train coming down from Wildwood there was a crowd of men together, and Walter Foley, a miner, was showing a .44 Colt automatic revolver. He was drunk, but had sense enough to withdraw the cylinder and lay it on the window sill of the coach. About 4 o'clock, when the train was about two miles above Dorena, at Bed Rock, the man turned the gun around the crowd of men, remarking that it wasn't loaded, and pulled the trigger as the gun was turned toward an old man by the name of T. C. Keizur, familiarly known as Cull, who has lived above Wildwood, keeping a stopping station for the teams going to the mines. Just as the gun was pointed toward him the old man threw up his hands, the bullet passing through his left hand and striking the ribs, passed down along the sixth and seventh ribs to the breast bone, where it was deflected downward, striking right through into the liver. Keizur and L. Johnson were sitting directly across from Foley in a double seat, and immediately after the shooting the old man exclaimed: "My God, Foley, what did you shoot me for?" and mumbled something for a minute and was unconscious. Just as soon as the train passed Dorena it made a hurried run for Cottage Grove, where Drs. Job and Ogelsby met the train, but the old man was unconscious from the first. He was moved to the home of his son, Geo. Keizur, who has recently purchased a home and moved down here from the hills. Mrs. Keizur was visiting with the son's family and the old man was on his way down to visit them.

Foley was warned repeatedly to put his gun away by Conductor London, as well as others, but refused, saying he was able to mind his own business.

Foley came to town on the train and went to the home of his cousin, Wm. George, at Latham, and about 7:30 was placed under arrest by Constable A. B. Atkins, on a warrant issued by Justice Vaughn. He was released on $500 bond, furnished by Wm. George and Chas. Burkholder.

The old man lived about one hour after getting to his son's home, but was unconscious from the first.

It is simply another instance of careless handling of a gun, and the luck of a drunken man in handling one.

DEFECTIVE LIGHT WIRING

Board of Fire Underwriters Have Begun to Stir Things up

The Pacific coast board of underwriters has notified some of the business men of this city that the old wiring of their buildings for electric lights is defective, and will have to be remedied in order to reduce the fire risk. The following notice has been received:

"Defects noted below have been reported as existing in electrical equipment of your property. Under certain circumstances an electrical defect must cause fire. The fact being well established it will be apparent to you that the following described defects should be remedied, and at once. May we rely upon you to notify us within thirty days from receipt of this letter that your insulation has been made to conform to the requirements of the national code.

Yours truly,

"J. C. STONE, Manager."

Then follows the defects, such as no main switch, porcelain fuse blocks, commercial cord circuits, unlined sockets, etc.

The national code of the underwriters requires porcelain blocks, insulated rubber cords, lined sockets and a switchboard for every place. The code is being observed in all new business, but it is said the old wiring was contrary to it.

MARRIED AT LEWISTON

John Davies, the former Eugene tailor, returned from Lewiston, Idaho, yesterday afternoon. He surprised his friends by the announcement that while there he was married to Ella A. R. Houghton, daughter of Mrs. D. M. Risdon and formerly of Eugene.

The marriage ceremony was performed by an Episcopal clergyman on the 27th inst. Mrs. Davies did not return with her husband, remaining at Lewiston to care for her mother, whose health is very poor, but will come to Eugene later to reside.

OBNOXIOUS PICTURE AGENT

Complaint has reached this office that a representative of a photo-enlarging concern has made himself very obnoxious to a number of ladies of this city. It is said that in soliciting for work one price was made and when the pictures are delivered a higher price is asked. The housewife naturally resents this, whereupon the agent becomes very insolent.

GETTING OUT LOGS WITH A DONKEY

C. L. Williams is down from the Row river country, where he has just installed a donkey engine with which to get out logs for the Eugene Lumber Co. The logs are hauled on cars to Eugene and dumped into the tail race in the factory district, then floated down the river to the sawmill. When the spur from the railroad to the mill is completed the logs will be hauled directly to the saws.

BURIED WRONG MAN

Mrs. Floyd Vaughn of Eugene Buries Stranger

Under the Belief That It Was Her Own Brother—Mistake of the Insane Asylum Authorities

A month ago Floyd G. Vaughn and wife, who reside adjoining Eugene, held a funeral over and buried the remains of a man supposedly Mrs. Vaughn's brother. It now transpires that they buried a man not of the same name, though the names had the same sound. Here is the story of the rather peculiar case of mistaken identity:

About ten years ago Louis A. Freeze, brother of Mrs. Vaughn, was committed to the Oregon insane asylum from Portland. On December 23 last Mrs. Vaughn received a telegram that her brother was dead. She instructed the asylum authorities to care for the remains in good manner and ship to Eugene, which they did. Interment was then made in the Mulkey cemetery, west of here. Mr. Vaughn took out letters of administration on property of the supposedly dead man, which had been under control of a guardian under appointment by the Multnomah probate court.

Jerry Bronaugh was engaged as attorney by Mr. Vaughn, and he quickly discovered that the asylum authorities had made a mistake as to the dead man or his relations. Louis A. Freeze was not dead—was still confined, an incurable case, in the asylum. The dead man, the body of whom was delivered to Mrs. Vaughn as that of her brother, was William Freeze, committed from this county December 4, 1899.

Should relatives fail to claim the body Mr. Vaughn will reinter it in another part of the cemetery.

It is probable that the state will reimburse Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn for the expense incurred in the burial of the man.

COMPLIMENTS FOR MR ALLEN

The Albany Herald, speaking of the address of Attorney S. D. Allen at the oratorical contest there Monday evening, says:

"Following the contest Hon. S. D. Allen, of Eugene, was introduced and delivered an address on 'Some Phases of the Life of Abraham Lincoln.' He took up the life of Lincoln when he first came into prominence and showed the deep religious nature of the man, his steadfastness of purpose and his absolute confidence in the final triumph of right and justice. The character of the great liberator, who had a work to perform greater than that of Washington, the speaker painted in glowing colors. The address was one of the best ever delivered in this city on the life and work of the great liberator, and the audience manifested its appreciation in no uncertain terms."

Eighth Grade Examinations

The final eighth grade examination for the public schools will be held on February 1 and 2, May 17 and 18, June 14 and 15, 1906.

Teachers who have pupils ready for the examination should notify the chairman of the school board, whose duty it is to conduct the examination in person or appoint some one other than the teacher, and notify me of the number of questions and who is to conduct said examination so the examiner may receive the questions in time.

COMPANY A WAS INSPECTED

Had One Hundred Per Cent Attendance—Gave Good Drill Exhibition

It was Company A's turn last night to be inspected by Colonel James Jackson, U. S. A., retired, and inspector-general of the O. N. G. The company made an excellent appearance, having an attendance of 100 per cent. This counts for a great deal in the general marking. The company also gave a fine exhibition at drill, eliciting expressions of admiration from the little colonel.

After the inspection a basketball game between the militia team and the high school team was played, resulting in a score of 23 to 5 in favor of the latter.

ENJOYABLE LODGE MEETING

The local lodge of Fraternal Brotherhood held a splendid meeting last night. After the initiation of a large class of candidates a banquet was served, one of the best ever enjoyed by the members of this popular and rapidly growing organization. State Deputy T. J. Buford was present and assisted in the initiatory work.

MRS. LOGAN GRANTED DIVORCE

Mrs. Maude Logan, formerly of Eugene, who recently sued her husband, L. S. Logan, for divorce on the ground of desertion, has secured her decree from the Multnomah county circuit court. It is understood that Mr. Logan divided his property equally with her.

You have the same right to [illegible] your druggist that you do your physician. Each should be chosen with care. Many people have the impression that prescriptions must be filled by the druggist upon whose sign they appear. But the blank has nothing whatever to do with it. The druggist is apt to pick up whatever one is handiest, and he has no choice in the matter except that the prescription is filled where the work will be properly done. We make a specialty of high grade prescription work and are equipped to give service of ideal character. No matter what physician you employ, he will be glad to have his prescriptions filled here.
