

THE POSTPONED WEDDING AND OTHER STORIES OF THE POLICE COURT.

Rosa Kosa, a comely, blue-eyed German girl, came all the way from the Fatherland to wed Julius Anderson, a Portland dressmaker employer. When she reached here Anderson said he had changed his mind about getting married.

"Heart-broken, the girl listened to him when he told her she would probably marry her later on. It was in July when she first came here at the solicitation of Anderson, who had been her girlhood lover in Germany. Being very much in love, she allowed herself to be put off from time to time. Finally, however, there came the usual fogs of awakening, and she announced to her lover that she would shift for herself and would wait for him no longer.

That was on Tuesday afternoon. They were strolling on Gilsan street at the time. Anderson listened to her, told her that she was a fool, and struck her in the face with his hand.

Rosa told a policeman. She said she no longer loved the man who had deceived her, and assaulted her, and she wanted him punished for what he had done. Anderson was taken into police court yesterday. He had little to say for himself. He admitted that he had promised to marry the girl.

"I am willing to let you have the marriage 'take place,' he said, with a condescending air.

"Never! I wouldn't marry him now if he was the last man in the world," declared Rosa, allowing herself to be taken away from him; that is all.

Anderson was informed by the court that the love affair was at an end. He was told that, should he visit or molest his girl in any way, he would probably find himself in police court.

"It's pretty tough on him. He'll want the girl the worst kind now that he knows he can't get her, whispered a policeman, who says he has had experience.

"Eddie Clark is an innocent-appearing youth with a two weeks' growth of beard and an ambitious cluster of hair on his upper lip that rivals his eyebrows. One might accuse Eddie of being a divinity student, but of being a crook—never—that is, from his appearance no one would.

But O'Connor, a veteran of the Civil War, says that Clark is a crook, and that appearances are deceptive. He says that Eddie went down into his pockets recently and took his purse, containing $4.

"He asked me for a dollar," said O'Connor. "I told him to the devil with him and his begging. He reached down in my pocket then and took my purse. Then before I could get Eddie out of the car, he contents into his hand and handed back to me."

ARRANGE FARM DISPLAY. Convention of Oregon and Washington Granges to Plan Fair Exhibit.

A meeting of delegates from all the Granges in Oregon and Washington has been called for November 4, at 1 o'clock, in the Portland Chamber of Commerce to decide whether a convention of husbandry will have headquarters in the city.

TO HAVE FIRE PROTECTION. Hydrants provided for East Twenty-eighth Street District.

TO BUILD NEW CAR LINE. Construction of Portland Railway's East Burnside Line Begins Today.

East Side Notes. A meeting of the Milwaukee City Council will be held this morning at the Woodmen of the World Hall when the question of a water plant will be considered.

Veterans Granted Pensions. ALBANK, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special.)—Two Indian War veterans, Isaac Froman and J. H. B. Helm, are granted pensions today. John Denny, a veteran of the Civil War, was also granted a pension of $16.

the empty purse. He told me he had a notion to give me a punch with my empty purse, and I called on an old stationer.

"Why didn't you call the police?" queried the court.

"Well, I did feel very much hurt about it, but as I had known him for five years through I would wait a few days, and see if he wouldn't return the money. He didn't."

"Eddie was engaged in looking very much horrified and hurt at this incriminating evidence when a continuance was taken until today.

"Bring on the drunks!" ordered the court severely.

There was a clanking of chains and locks and then the door at the rear of the room flew open.

"This is th' entire catch, yer 'necr," explained the foremost misin, giving James J. a call to prevent him from sinking in an exhausted heap on the floor.

"Is it true, that you were drunk?" inquired the court, severely.

"Love thy neighbor as thyself," says the Bible.

"That old devil of a neighbor, I'd like to kill her," said Mrs. Erickson.

"And then the police came. And then Mrs. Erickson was referring in her ungrateful manner to Mrs. Mary Elkerburg, her next-door neighbor, who was the complaining witness against Mrs. Erickson.

"My wife is very nervous, and I'm not sure she is just right in her head," he explained.

"These family quarrels must cease," declared the court. "If they don't, we will see what effect being neighbors in neighborhood will have. Go, and return no more."

Country Schools Open. Good Attendance in Eastern Multnomah—Changes Among Teachers.

GRESHAM, Or., Sept. 23.—(Special.)—All the public schools in this part of the county are now in session for the coming school year, except in No. 15, which will begin next Monday. The delay in that district was caused by the failure to get the teachers desired by the directors.

At Troutdale, Miss Eva Endcott is principal, with Miss Jennie McKay and Miss Wattle as intermediate and primary teachers.

At Powell Valley, Miss Birdine Merrill is again at work as principal. Miss Daisy E. Alloway is assistant teacher. Miss F. Stewart is principal of the Cedar School, with Miss M. Wittz as an assistant.

The following message sent over a wire connected with the DeLima case.

"Up in a Balloon, Washington, April 13, 1931.—To His Excellency President Lincoln: It affords me much pleasure at this elevation to call on you herewith the first telegraphic message ever transmitted from an aerial station. I desire to express my thanks to you for the encouragement you have given to the use of the balloon in the military service of the Government. Respectfully,

T. S. C. LOWE."

Atlanta, Ga., was selected as the next place of meeting and Charles C. Adams, Atlanta, Ga., was elected president. H. G. Corso, of Ogden, Utah, was elected a member of the executive committee.

The United States Military Telegraph Corps chose Atlanta, Ga., as the next place of meeting and elected Colonel W. B. Wilson, of Philadelphia, president.

OPPOSED TO RESERVE. Sheeps and Cattlemen of Grant County for Once United.

M. D. Clifford, of Canyon City, Circuit Judge of the Ninth Judicial District, comprising Grant, Malheur and Harney counties, is in the city. Judge Clifford says that all citizens of Grant County are unitedly opposed to the projected Blue Mountain forest reserve.

"The limits of the reserve," he remarked yesterday, "reach almost to Canyon City. Where the Government gets the land for the forest reserve in Grant County is really more than I can see. Large areas are taken up by road grants and by mineral and other locations."

The Judge suggested, however, that a great quantity of land would be created by the reserve from unoccupied strips and chunks.

"Are sheeps and cattlemen united against the reserve? Yes, they are. It's not often that they get together this way. The fact that they are standing together in his matter shows what a supreme issue the question is in our country. Their relations thus far have been unusually peaceful."
