MAYOR STORY

the council wished time to investigate complaints as to the manner in which inspections have been made by the inspectors, before making appointment for the new administration.

Meeting Monday night for the last time, the old city council ordered the settlement of the damages suits against the city and L. P. Harmon, contractor, for damages done by the Polk street sewer; favored warning bells and sidewalks to be placed at the junctures of Agate and Columbia streets with the Southern Pacific at the railroad company's expense; and left the recently passed stop street ordinance to the new council after it was vetoed by Mayor A. L. Williamson.

Settlement out of court of the suits brought against the city and the contractor for the Polk street sewer for $1000, of which the city will pay $800 and the contractor $200, will dispose of an original claim for $15,000 damages. City Attorney S. M. Calkins told the council that the Potter Manufacturing company and A. Lombard, plaintiffs in the suits, were ready to settle for $1000 and the council agreed to his recommendation.

The complaint alleged that sewage had been permitted to fill a slough, damaging adjacent property, while work was under way on the outlet of the Polk street sewer.

The ordinance, passed at the December 26 meeting of the council, naming Willamette street and Nineteenth avenue east as stop streets with a 30 mile speed limit was vetoed by Mayor Williamson because of the high speed limit. With but five members of the old council present, the measure could not be passed over the mayor's veto and it was left to the incoming council for disposal. The new council ordered the speed limit changed to 20 miles per hour and the ordinance redrawn.

The Southern Pacific will be asked to put warning bells and sidewalks at the intersection of the company's right-of-way and Columbia and Agate streets by the city recorder acting under authority of the council.

The moving of the highway to Eleventh avenue and making stop streets of Charnelton and Pearl streets to connect with Sixth avenue was suggested as a traffic remedy in a communication from D. R. Hill.

Glenn L. Mack was granted a license to operate a skating rink at the Winter Garden dance hall. Attached to the license will be a statement that the rink may not be operated on Sundays.

City Recorder R. S. Bryson was authorized to sign ordinances signed by Mayor Williamson but lacking the signature of the city recorder because of the sudden death of the late Geo. A. Gilmore.

The bond for Fred Wentworth, city treasurer, was tabled while steps will be taken to have it written by a local firm.

Alleys between lots 1 and 2 in block 6 of Sladden's third addition were voted vacated by the retiring council. Warrants for the payment of damages caused by widening Railroad avenue were authorized. Ordinances for the construction of 24 sections of sidewalk as well as a number of sewer and sidewalk assessment ordinances were also passed by the council.

Street lights were asked by residents of Second avenue east and Mill street because of drunken men who congregate there, and by residents in Kincaid park near the south end of Sylvan street.

WORK PROGRESSES ON CAMPUS FILM

Work on preparation of a scenario for the University of Oregon moving picture production started this week under the direction of Leslie L. Lewis, instructor in English, and Myron Griffin, Portland, head of the student committee. Griffin has appointed several members on his committee who will work with him and Mr. Lewis on the script, which is expected to be ready within two weeks. Screen tests will start as soon as the number and type of characters can be determined.

Several persons interested in the production have been added to the advisory staff by George H. Godfrey, faculty chairman. These will assist with suggestions and criticism of the student work. The new appointees are Stanley Stevenson and Carl R. Baker, Eugene; Stanley Orne, theater editor of The Oregonian, Portland; Harold Hunt, theater editor of the Journal, Portland; and Dean Collins, Portland Telegram. Other members of this committee are Bert Bates, Roseburg, and Roy LeFevre, Portland.

The University picture staff has also voted to work with the cooperation of the Portland Cine club, of which Mr. LeFevre is president. The Portland club has offered assistance in various ways, and this offer has been accepted by the students.

Interest in the production is already campus-wide, and much interest is also noted throughout the state. It is planned to show the film first on the campus, then in Portland under the auspices of the Cine club, and then in any part of the state where people desire to see it.

Few Violations of Game Law in Lane

Lane county is showing the best cooperation with the game laws this year in its history, according to F. M. Brown of Salem, state game warden, who is spending a few days in this vicinity. Mr. Brown said that while there are always cases of violation, that for the most part local sportsmen are showing cooperation with the law.

Mr. Brown has been in the work for the past 12 years, and in capacity of warden has been constantly traveling from one end of the state to the other.

EAGLE SCOUT PLAN WILL BE OUTLINED

The newly formed Eagle Scout committee composed of E. O. Immel, chairman, T. A. Hill, Dr. O. F. Stafford, Roy Booth and Herald White, will meet shortly to outline the April procedure to be followed in handling all future applicants for the rank of Eagle scout.

"More is expected of the boy than his record in scout activities and progress," said C. R. Clark, Lane county executive. "His relationship as a citizen with other agencies is even more important. He should exemplify the tenets of the organization in the home more than any other place."

The scout to receive this, the highest rank in scouting, must be recommended by his parents, by his scoutmaster who passes on his sense of responsibility, increasing usefulness and general spirit of good will; by his Sunday school teacher; by the camp director who judges his fitness on ability to pack, construct shelter, cook, and otherwise conduct himself in the open; by the principal of his school, as to general scholarship, attendance and deportment; and by the special examiner who reviews with him all his first aid work.

BORAH STORY

Hoover have brought no definite word to the capital.

The situation was given emphasis during the morning when Mr. Hoover received the entire Iowa delegation in the house.

The delegation reported that the consensus of opinion in congress was that farm legislation could not be enacted at this session. Afterwards members of the delegation said that Mr. Hoover declared that President Coolidge still was chief executive and that his administration would have to decide its own problems.

Members of the delegation gave Mr. Hoover the name of D. Pierce, of Des Moines, as a candidate for secretary of agriculture in the next administration.

COULD NOT SLEEP NIGHTS

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fairhaven, Mass.—"I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during the Change of Life. When I feel nervous and run-down my husband gets me a bottle right away. It is a great help to me and I think that if other people would only take it when they feel all run-down and take it as the directions say, they would find it a great benefit. My worst symptoms were nervousness and tired feelings. I could not sleep nights and I was so nervous I would cry if anyone looked at me."—MRS. ADA BESSE, 196 Washington Street, Fairhaven, Mass.

Looks Like A Good Year

January is usually one of the dullest months of the year in the cleaning business. Last week was the busiest week in our plant for several weeks. There must be a reason for it. You can get cheaper cleaning done in town, but we have always contended that the people of Eugene, with few exceptions, want the work done right and are willing to pay a reasonable price for it. Cheapness and quality dry cleaning do not go together. Clothes are expensive—they must be carefully cleaned to make them last. Suits cleaned and pressed, $1.50. Silk dresses cleaned and pressed, $2.00.

More than 175,000 trees have been planted along the highways of the province of Quebec during the last two years.

You will see a complete new group of faces at the sheriff's office this week. Sheriff Bown and Lloyd Howe have been there before, however.

A new chain of 1,000 drug stores is being organized. Some of them, it is understood, will carry a few drugs.

Rufe Johnson's pet hound disappeared. Rufe put the following ad in the paper:

Lost or Run Away—One liver-colored bird dog called Jim. Will show signs of hydrofobby in about three days.

The dog came home the following day.

Don't forget our Cash Economy Service for old suits and overcoats — the garments you think aren't worth another cleaning. Costs only 75 cents cleaned and pressed.
