COMMERCIAL BULLETIN

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The wool market is moderately active. Wools grading half-blood and below are very firm, while finer wools are slightly easier, in sympathy with London and the foreign primary markets which are off fully five per cent compared with December, on fine wools. Cross-breds in the primary markets are firm.

"Contracting in the west is negligible this week.

"There is no pronounced or definite trend perceptible in the goods markets as yet in consequence of recent openings and there is no reflection of such a trend in the demand for raw wool.

"Mohair is steady with trading at a minimum."

The Commercial Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow:

Domestic, Oregon: Fine and F. M. staple $1.08@1.10; fine and F. M. Fr. combing $1@1.05; fine and F. M. clothing 97c@$1.02; valley No. 1, $1.02@1.07.

YALE SCHOLARSHIP OPEN TO BOYS HERE

A chance at $5000—four years at Yale—that's the opportunity knocking at the door of some Oregon boy, perhaps a June graduate of Eugene or University high school.

The Oregon Yale Alumni association's scholarship committee, Robert Treat Platt, chairman, Platt building, Portland, offers to the most worthy Oregon boy, a graduate of a high school, or its equivalent, who wishes to attend the famous university at New Haven, Conn., but is otherwise unable to do so, $500 a year for four years toward his expenses, with the expectation that, with probable tuition scholarships and the cooperation of the university bureau of self-help, he will be able to earn the rest while a student. The boy who passes the Yale college entrance board examinations, and has the best high school record in studies, extra-curriculum achievements and leadership, will be selected, regardless of whether from Portland or elsewhere.

In addition, the same boy might win the Pacific coast (the eleven western states) scholarship of $750 per year for four years, recently announced by the secretary of the university. For that, of course, he's "got to be a mighty good man."

The university's "Plan B" alternate admission plan, a psychological test, samples the applicant's senior year high work for the principal item, its quality.

Boys are urged by Principal Hopkin Jenkins, of Jefferson high school, Portland, to arrange their course with this opportunity in view early in their high school career, so as to assure their taking during their first three years the basic subjects required, to be coordinated senior year.

Already four Oregon boys have been sent to Yale by this scholarship, which until now, was awarded to a different boy annually for freshman year only.

Selection of the winner takes place this coming June, with announcement in July or August. The money is granted in the form of a ten-year, non interest bearing note, repayable to Yale university during the boy's earning years later, as a revolving fund to continue the scholarship permanently.

The scholarship boys still at Yale are a senior, Charles Edward Wright, 1925, a graduate of Lincoln high school, Portland; and a sophomore, Francis Lewis Lawyer, 1927, Jefferson high school, Portland, graduate. Other awards went to Donald T. Nelson, 1924, Jefferson high school graduate, and Gerald Norman Burk, 1926, Jefferson high school graduate. But Chairman Platt, to whom inquiries should be addressed, says: "The opportunity is wide open to boys in smaller cities, towns, country, not enough of whom are informed of their chance by high school principals, at least early enough to enable them to prepare themselves properly. We want parents to know of this opportunity, Yale, while necessarily restricting enrollment, is glad to admit picked men, selected and chosen by its alumni."

Personnel of Mr. Platt's committee includes Gerald E. Beebe, treasurer, Aubrey R. Watzek, Frederick H. Strong, Norman N. Rupp, Harvey N. Black, Burnett Goodwin, Charles Carver, Jr., S. Mason Ehrman, Robert H. Noyes, Rodney L. Glisan, and Ray W. Frohman.

Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 1.—(Special)—Clinton Trotter, of Walterville, spent Thursday in Springfield on business.

Asa Peddicord, who has been in the Eugene hospial with an injured hand for some time, was moved to his home for a few days.
