ARTILLERYMEN TO MEET

MEMBERS OF 65TH WILL HOLD REUNION MAY 27

Program and Banquet to Be Given in Hotel Benson — First Meeting Since Organization Disbanded

Members of the former 65th artillery, partly organized from the old Oregon coast artillery corps after the war was under way, will hold a reunion banquet at Portland in the Benson hotel on the night of May 27, starting at 6:30 p. m.

A group of Portlanders have taken it upon themselves to make arrangements for the program and banquet, which they promise will be a knockout. The group arranging the banquet comprises representatives from everyone of the units of the regiment made up of Oregon men. These were batteries C, D and E and the supply company.

The volunteer committee which has taken it upon itself to arrange the first meeting of the 65th since it disbanded February 28, 1919, proposes that at the meeting May 27 a president, secretary and treasurer be elected to make arrangements for next year's gathering. No other business is proposed, the rest of the evening being set aside for the biggest time the former artillerymen have ever had since returning from France.

The men who manned the big guns will be taken back to France for the evening, the committee promises. The 15 men arranging for the big night promise that the banquet will be worth three times the railroad fare and ten times the price of the dinner and trimmings.

In order that an idea may be obtained of the number that it will be necessary to care for at the banquet, those who can come are asked to write to any of the following four members of the committee: William Beveridge, battery E, 87 Front street; D. A. Roland, battery D, 313 Stanton street; Harold B. Say, battery C, Portland Telegram; R. E. Williams, Supply company, 430 Northwestern National bank building.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO DEBATE

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP TO BE DECIDED TONIGHT

Pendleton and Grants Pass Will Meet Tonight in Guild Hall at University of Oregon

With both coaches women, and one of the teams made up of girls, the final contest between Pendleton and Grants Pass for the Oregon high school debating championship, to be held at the University of Oregon tonight, will take on more or less the aspect of an exhibition of feminine forensic prowess. The debate, which will be held in Guild hall, in the administration building, will begin at 7 o'clock.

The Pendleton high school team, winner of the championship of Eastern Oregon, is made up of Corlyss Courtney and Lula Garrett with Mrs. Laura T. Grunnell coach. The representatives of Grants Pass high school, west side champions, coached by Miss Amanda Zabel, are Rex Kramer and Philip Fordyce.

The subject for debate is "Resolved, that a graduated form of income tax should be adopted in the state of Oregon."

Judges will be Professor Clarence D. Thorpe, University of Oregon debate coach; Robert W. Prescott, former coach of debate in the University of Oregon, and E. O. Immel, Eugene attorney, who in his college days debated at the University of Michigan. A. C. Strange, superintendent of school at Astoria, who is president of the Oregon High School Debating league, will preside. President Campbell of the University of Oregon will make a short address, and the trophy will be presented to the winner by Professor E. E. DeCou, head of the university department of mathematics.

Grants Pass is a one-time champion of the league, having won the honor several years ago. Pendleton has more than once reached the finals.

COL. DAVIS SCORES LIARS

SALVATION ARMY REVIVALIST DENOUNCES PREVARICATORS

Fakers of Four Classes, Political, Society, Business and Religious; All Consigned to "Torrid Bath"

Lieutenant Colonel George H. Davis, Salvation Army evangelistic "crusader" who is engaging in a revival campaign here, spoke last night on the subject of "Liars." The colonel grouped liars into four classes—political, business, society and religious, consigning them all to the eternal "torrid bath."

His text was from the book of revelation, "And all liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire." The colonel stated that it was impossible to classify lies themselves, for they were "all as black as pitch on the bottom of the floor of hell."

"First, there is the common, everyday, mean, ornery, lowdown liar who lies for the sake of convenience," he stated. "Then there is the polished liar who sits behind an extravagant mahogany desk and sells oil wells by the dozen." The society matron who spins "white yarns" under the guise of congeniality is another type of prevaricators, he added.

Captain L. W. Doctor directed the singing. The colonel was supported by Captain B. T. Stack of Baker, Oregon, who will assist in the week-end services.

A "free and easy" service will be held this evening.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE THEATRES TODAY

Rex—Gloria Swanson and Rodolph Valentino in Elinor Glyn's "Beyond the Rocks;" Charles W. Hawley playing "Jazzin' It;" Neal Burns in "A Rambling Romeo."

Castle—Raymond Hatton in "His Back Against the Wall;" Harold Lloyd in "A Sailor Made Man."

Coming offerings—Norma Talmadge in "Smilin' Through;" Bert Lytell in "The Face Between;" Viola Dana in "Seeing's Believing;" Harry Myers in "Robinson Crusoe;" Jackie Coogan in "My Boy;" Star cast in "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford;" Charles W. Hawley in Wurlitzer Concert.

Announcing the selections to be rendered in concert by Charles W. Hawley on the organ Monday at the Rex, special interest is attached to an original composition, "The Wurlitzer" written and arranged by Mr. Hawley. Thousands of music lovers have listened appreciatively to the melodious Rex instrument since its memorial installation, yet comparatively few, if any can name the instrumentation of the organ or, knowing the stop used can recognize its tone when combined with different accompaniments. In an amusing and musically entertaining manner, "The Wurlitzer" as played by Mr. Hawley and augmented by pictorial words should do much to familiarize Rex patrons with the organ. The other numbers on Mr. Hawley's concert program are: "Poet and Peasant Overture" and "Sparklets."

Bert Lytell, in "The Face Between," a Bayard Veiller production for Metro, will be seen Monday at the Castle. This picture is a screen version of a story by Justus Miles Forman.

"An ideally attractive heroine and hero!" Thus does Elinor Glyn, famous British novelist, characterize Gloria Swanson, the star and Rodolph Valentino, leading man in "Beyond the Rocks," now playing at the Rex.

Madam Glyn made a rush trip from Europe to Hollywood in 12 days, for the purpose of aiding and assisting Director Sam Wood in the making of the new picture, which was adapted from one of her most popular novels.

"His Back Against the Wall," which was shown at the Castle theatre last night, is a variation of the outworn western strong-man melodrama. Instead of a hero who can split a table with a punch, we find a little tailor's helper, driven from his own 'set' in the East, acclaimed a hero by his new western companions.

BAN IS LIFTED, KING OF SWAT, BABE RUTH TO PLAY

All Reserve Seats to the Polo Grounds Sold Out

BALTIMORE, Md., May 19.—When "Babe" Ruth goes to the plate at the Polo Grounds tomorrow afternoon for his first game after the lifting of his suspension, he will be presented with a large loving cup, the gift of his admirers in his home town of Baltimore. The cup will contain earth taken from around the home plate of the ball grounds at St. Mary's school where Babe learned to play ball. The earth was gathered by Brother Matthias, the man "who discovered" Babe.

NEW YORK, May 19. —Baseball fans all over the city—perhaps all over the country—were talking tonight about the scheduled return of Babe Ruth from exile to the Polo Grounds tomorrow.

All reserved seats for the game have been sold and some bleacher bugs are likely to line up outside the gates before dawn, as they do for the world's series.

There's one little formality that must be carried out overnight, since the Babe's suspension is not automatically lifted tomorrow. His bosses must send a polite agreement to Commissioner Landis, inquiring if it will be all right for their favorite to go back to work. A reply must come from the commissioner before Mr. Babe can take his place in the lineup.

JACK DEMPSEY TO WED BOULDER, COLORADO, GIRL

Miss Edith Rockwell, Bride-to-Be—Jack Has No Plans

NEW YORK, May 19. — Jack Dempsey tonight authorized the announcement of his impending marriage to Miss Edith Rockwell, of Boulder, Colorado.

NEW YORK, May 19.—With plans for the future idefinite, but asserting positively that he will not fight until Labor day, at least, Jack Dempsey, king of the heavyweights, returned on the Aquitania today, very glad to be home. Dempsey will remain here one or two days and then hustle to Los Angeles to visit his mother.

Before the ship docked both the champion and his manager, Jack Kearns spiked the bout with Harry Wills, negro challenger, proposed by Tex Rickard and Frank Flournoy, for July 1 at Montreal. Dempsey is not really out of condition, both he and his manager protested, but Jack said, "not so soon after a trip to Europe. Have you ever been in Paris?" If Dempsey is matched late in the summer the bout may be staged in Europe said Kearns, who is enthusiastic over the purse English promoters have proposed. He confirmed the report that Dempsey is to again meet Georges Carpentier next May somewhere in Europe. Should American promoters offer a satisfactory purse Labor day, with Wills, Willard or anyone, it will be accepted, but if a match doesn't materialize at home, the champion will return to the other side, Kearns explained.

that person. It is not a matter of principle.

"I know the revolutionary temper very well and the revolutionary temper never acknowledges anybody who has got principles, unless he is a revolutionary. But those prejudices are very deep rooted; they are rooted in the soil of the world; they are inherited from ages and you cannot tear it out. When you are writing a letter asking for more credits, let me give one word of advice to anybody who does it. Let him not in that letter enter into an eloquent exposition of the doctrines of repudiation of debts. It doesn't help you to get credits. It may be sound, very sound, but it isn't diplomatic.

Europe Anxious to Help Self

"Europe is anxious to help; Europe can help; Europe will help, but Russia must in her dealings with her accept the code of honor which is an inheritance, which has come to us from centuries of hard working, honest people and which has struck deep into the soil of the world. Not even the Russian tornado has split one fibre of a single root off these prejudices upon which our system depends, and, as a friend of Russian peace, as a friend of co-operation with Russia, as one who is in favor of going to the rescue of those great and gallant and brave people, I implore the Russian delegation when they come to The Hague not to go out of their way to trample upon those sentiments which are deeply rooted into the very life of Europe.

"At Cannes we threw out the life line and we have not yet drawn in; as I thought we might. Neither has it been snapped; neither has it been let go. It is still there. We would like to draw all the distressed, all the hungry, all the suffering in the east of Europe back to life, with all the health that the accumulated energy and skill in other lands can give them

Have Signed Peace Pact

"We have signed a pact of peace. "We have decided to give peace a trial upon our hearthstones, and when she has been there for several months we will not turn her out again. The psychological effect upon the peoples of the world will be electrical. The spirit of peace has gone through the veins of Europe. There has been nothing more striking at this conference as the deep and passionate desire not to have ruptures, not to have quarrels, but to have peace and amity all together. Believe me, peace is recovering her gentle sway over the hearts of men, and in this conference, by this pact we have adopted today, we have paid homage to her sceptre."

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had troubles that all women are apt to have, with pains in my back, weak, tired, nervous feelings and a weak stomach. I had been this way about a year and was unable to work or stand on my feet for any length of time. My husband's aunt told me how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done her and begged me to try it, so I did. All my pains and weakness are gone, my stomach is all right and I do my work at home and also work for Swift's Packing Company. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends and you may publish my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. LULU LUCAS, 719A Vandeventer St., St. Louis, Mo.

Again and again one woman tells another of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

You who work must keep yourself strong and well. You can't work if you are suffering from such troubles. Mrs. Lucas couldn't. She tried our Vegetable Compound and her letter tells you what it did for her. Give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial now.
