SCHOOL OFFICIALS MEET

PROBLEMS OF EDUCATION ARE DISCUSSED HERE

E. P. Carleton, Eugene Superintendent, Elected President of State Body at Annual Conference

City school superintendents of the districts of the first class held a business session of their association combined with a very enjoyable banquet at Friendly hall Thursday evening. E. P. Carleton, city superintendent of Eugene, was elected president of the association and R. R. Turner city superintendent of Dallas, was elected secretary.

Modern methods of handling educational problems formed the themes for the evening's discussions. A complete syllabus in composition and grammar for the third to the eighth grades inclusive, which had been prepared by Mr. Carleton was read and discussed. A motion was carried requesting that copies of this syllabus be sent superintendents in all districts of the first class, and that committees of two be appointed to prepare a similar syllabus based on the state course of study, for each of the fundamental subjects taught in the elementary grades. The purpose will be to keep the work throughout the state more uniform and to bring to the attention of the teachers the latest methods in education. The socialized recitation, the project method, and measurements will be discussed in these syllabi. A resolution was adopted endorsing the changes made by State Superintendent J. A. Churchill in the state course of study and thanking him for his recent address at the University of Oregon summer school on the courses of study.

The association adjourned to meet in Portland in December one day before the meeting of the state teachers' association. The president and secretary were instructed to prepare a program for the December meeting featuring the teaching of the fundamental subjects in the elementary grades. Among the superintendents present were W. E. Wiley of The Dalles; O. H. Bittner, McMinnville; G. W. Ager, Bend; Aubrey G. Smith, Medford; A. C. Stanbrough, Newberg; M. S. Hamm, Roseburg, C. A. Howard, Marshfield; E. P. Carleton, Eugene; R. R. Turner, Dallas, and A. C. Strange, Astoria.

AMUSEMENTS

A Scene from "MISSING HUSBANDS"

AT THE THEATRE TODAY

Rex—Mary Miles Minter in "South of Suva;" Lee Morgan in "Henpecked" Charles W. Hawley playing "Marie."

Coming offerings—Special Cast in "Missing Husbands;" Charles W. Hawley in organ concert; Tom Moore and Betty Compson in "Over the Border;" Harry Myers in "The Adventures of Robinson Crusoe;" Tom Mix in "Up and Going;" Al St. John in "The Village Shiek."

• • •

"South of Suva," the latest release of Mary Miles Minter, now showing at the Rex, concerns a bride who comes to the South Seas to join her husband, only to find that he has fallen under baneful tropical influences. Before the girl works her way out to happiness there are some extremely gripping scenes, which include a native attack on a lagoon, their disposal by dynamite, a real Fiji island cannibalistic dance—which all worked into the warp and woof of a most colorful story. Miss Minter has as her leading man the popular John Bowers, while other players include Fred Kelsey, Walter Long, Winifred Bryson, Lawrence Steers and Roy Atwell.

The company of French actors and actresses who appear in "Missing Husbands," coming next week at the Rex, took scenes far south in the Sahara desert at the risk of their lives when their caravan came near to perishing in a sandstorm, whipped up by the hot harmattan. The land tempest came upon them suddenly like a great brown fog, blinding members of the company, as well as the camels, horses and other beasts which bore their equipment. For more than eight hours the troupe was separated and unable to gather itself together. Before their departure from Aussan, native dragomen had warned the French against venturing into the desert at this season.

GAME WARDEN IS CAUGHT

HAND ENCOUNTERS TRAP INSIDE FISH BASKET

Game wardens had better watch where they put their hands while investigating fish baskets, hunting bags, etc. This probably would be a rule that F. M. Brown, chief deputy warden, would no doubt like to add to the book of rules if he had a chance, for he knows by experience that it is practical.

Brown, while riding with Game Warden Hawker last Sunday, near Holley, saw a man whom he suspected of fishing without a license, so getting out of the car he rushed over to him and says, "How many did you catch?" "Not very many," the man answered, but Brown was in an investigative frame of mind, so grabbing the man's fish basket, he looked in. All he could see was a mass of ferns, so he shoved his hand in to see just how many fish there were.

"Yow," he yelled and drew his hand out with a rat trap clamped to his fingers. Everyone there, including Mr. Hawker, got a big laugh out of the affair especially the man with the fish basket, who had waited over an hour in hopes that one of the wardens would bite on his little trick.

WAR HERO LOCAL VISITOR

CAPTAIN McDONALD, FORMER AVIATOR IN EUGENE

Holding fourteen decorations and citations as marks of his achievements in the world war and having a record of bringing down many German planes in the conflict, Captain L. R. McDonald, of Eureka, California, was a local visitor yesterday on his way to Portland. The captain was in France engaged in bridge construction work when the war broke in 1914 and he joined the French Legion and later the Lafayette Escadrille and was also with the Royal flying corps.

Captain McDonald is also a veteran of the Spanish-American war, having held the rank of second-lieutenant with Roosevelt's rough riders. Following the close of the European war the captain returned in 1919 after spending a year in military hospitals in France.

DAILY MARKET REPORT

OREGON JOURNAL MARKET SERVICE

PORTLAND, Ore., July 28.—It is utterly impossible to interest buyers in off-grade butter at this time or anything lower than extras. While there is a fair demand for extras from the centralizing plants, other offerings show neglect.

Stocks of butter are increasing rapidly here and it has been necessary to force additional stocks into storage, much against the will and judgment of the trade.

The fact that butter prices in the Pacific Northwest and especially at Portland and Seattle are the biggest in the United States, creates a spirit of disorder locally. Buying therefore was never more limited or spiritless than at this time, indicating that the trade has no faith whatever in future values.

Seattle interests with considerable high-priced storage stock on hand are unwilling that the price drop where it should. For that reason they continue to demand that the public be squeezed of its last cent. This the public refused to allow. The result is the accumulation of supplies.

EGG MARKET AGAIN LOWERED

Market for eggs was again lowered 1c by the association to 29c for selects. This is still 1c above others. In the meantime the trade appears to be meeting on middle ground with indications that the slump is about over.

HIDE TRADE QUOTED STRONGER

Because of the small country kill of cattle, hide prices are not only firmer, but are higher in most instances, according to the latest report of the situation issued here.

WATERMELON WAR; LOW PRICE

War in the watermelon market here has sent prices so low in Portland that some of the leading firms are no longer offering supplies. In fact sales by the carload are being made at little above the freight charge.

DOCTOR ORDERED WOMAN OBEYED

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and is Now Well

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women one good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on the market. After I had my baby I was all run down and so nervous it kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. You are certainly doing good work in this world."—Mrs. ADRITH TOMSHECK, 10557 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomsheck to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

Women who are nervous, run down, and suffering from women's ailments should give this well-known root and herb medicine a trial. Mrs. Tomsheck's experience should guide you towards health.
