Local Presbytery May Oppose Open ing Lewis and Clark Fair on Sunday-Scarcity of Young Men for the Ministry.

At the meeting of the Portland Pres-bytery yesterday in the Mount Tabor Presbyterian Church. The pastoral rebetween the First Church of Astoria and Rev. Henry Marcotte were solved; Dr. J. R. Wilson submitted the report of the work of the general as-sembly in which he declared that too much politics was used in the election of the moderator, calling out a sharp re-joinder from Dr. Hill; the Presbytery voted to investigate the cause of the decrease in ministerial candidates; the Presbytery started a movement to prevent a Congressional appropriation for the 1905 fair unless the doors are Sunday; and closed the work of the day by ordaining and installing last night the Rev. David A. Thompson as pas-der of the Sellwood Church.

After the usual half hour devoted to re-lgious exercises Moderator Winfield T. cott took the chair and the regular ss was commenced. One of the first matters was the reference to a committee composed of Rev. E. P. Hill, Rev. W. S. Gilbert and William Wadhams of the application for the dissolution of the pastoral relation between Rev. Henry Marcotte and the First Church of Astoria, as he has accepted the call to Westminster Presbyterian Church of the

The Sunday school report showed the following: New schools organized 1987, three every day of the year; schools reorganized 363, almost one a day; number of children gathered, 43,623; teachers and officers, 4876; making a total of 49,439. Average number of Sunday schools brought into existence by missionary so-cieties, S. Last year & churches were organized. Since 1887, 704 churches have connected with the roll of the General Assembly. In the synod of Oregon there are six missionaries and a synodical missionary. Last year the missionaries organized and reorganized 84 schools. Two churches grew out of their labors, two buildings for worship were built at a cost of $1,454. Rev. Levi Johnson began work under the board of mis-sions July 1, 1908, and requests for his ne from all directions. The report set forth that some churches in Gregon had not made contributions for

Remarks were made by Rev. J. V. Milligan, who contended that the importance of the branch warranted giving it attention. He thought that some definite plan should be adopted to get a larger rollection, and on motion the report was adopted with the recommendation that committee should submit to Presbytery a plan for a definite incollections. Rev. Levi Johnson and Rev. W. S. Gilbert spoke for more extended plans. Rev. William Travis, formerly Sunday school missionary, sup-plemented the remarks of these speakers. Politics in General Assembly, At 11 A. M. commissioners to the gen eral assembly held at Los Angeles, Rev. Henry Marcotte and W. H. Markell, made brief reports, but the statements and ob servations of Dr. J. R. Wilson made a profound impression and called out some criticism from Dr. Hill and support from Dr. W. S. Holt. Dr. Wilson remarked that he had learned a great deal while attending the general assembly. It was a body of splendid mediocrity and full of business. So active was it that it finished its work in nine instead of 14 days. It worked rapidly, said Dr. Wilson, and he commended it highly. There was one thing Dr. Wilson very strongly disapproved and he warned the Presbytery that some important matters were cominup. He disapproved of the politics that had been used in the election of the moderator, intimating that the wires had been long and carefully laid that stretched clear across the continent to the Pacific Coast. Dr. Wilson condemned all politics in the election of the moderator. He said that an effort was now being made to takes much of the arbitrary power out of the hands of the moderator and places it with committees composed of men skilled and well able to exercise it for the good of the Presbyterian Church. Dr. Wilson then pointed out the elements that were now engaged in the effort to overthrow the noderator the power it took from him He detailed the modifications that had been made in the constitution so that no two chairmen of committees could come from the same electorate section, thus distributing the management and powers of the church. Dr. Wilson warned the Presbytery that it was proposed to overthrow this constitution with the modified plan. Passing on. Dr. Wilson said that educational issioners proposed to raise $12,000,000 for endowment of Presbyterian schools, but he said that unless the practical laymen of this commission, such as William M. Ladd, of Portland, took the matter in hand and laid plans and carried them out, he did not think the money would be raised, but, if they did, it would certainly come,

Color Question Will Come Up. Another mighty question, continued Dr. Wilson, that will engage the attention of the giants at the next General Aswas the matter of separating the colored and white Presbyteries of South. The question would then be decided should they be separated. The synods would take care of themselves. Dr. Wilson remarked that this was one of the most important and most difficult questions facing the Presbyterian Church. Men were divided on the prob

"Don't ask me, I am like the man who said he was either an aristocrat or a Democrat-in feeling the former, but in principle the latter."

Wilson gave a very fine outline of the work, and then spoke of the advantage of the General Assembly to the West. He said that from a business standpoint the effect was very great, but from the missionary standpoint noth-ing was gained by holding the General Assembly on this Coast. He said that when the delegates visted the fine cities of Los Angeles, with its magnificent street car service, and Portland with its beautiful scenery, the missionary au-thorities at once conclude that the people out West could sustain themselves. "I don't believe," declared Dr. Wilson, "that West as the result of the General As-sembly meeting in Los Angeles, but of course in a business way the advantages to the West are great. We must learn to help ourselves, build our own schools and our own churches." Dr. E. P. Hill took exception to Dr. Wilson's remarks about the methods used in the election of the present moderator of the General Assembly. He said that he had supported him and he had no apologies to make. He considered that the methods used were perfectly honor-able throughout. Dr. Holt was about to reply when the speakers were called to order, and what promised to be a lively debate was shut off by Moderator

Rev. H. Marcotte's Transfer. Rev. Henry Marcotte then addressed the Presbytery, announcing his resigna-tion from the pastorate of the First Church of Astoria, where he had served for seven years, and his acceptance of the call to Westminster Church of Port-land. He said that Sunday evening last the Astoria Church had released him, so he could accept the call. Commis sloners J. T. Ross and John Bryce were present from the Astoria Church, and both made statements to the effect that Astoria Church had released Marcotte with much regret, yet with the understanding that he would be enter-ing a larger work. They asked the Presbytery to dissolve the pastoral relations so he could enter on his Portland work the first Sunday in December, provided the new Astoria Church was finished and dedicated by that time.

Commissioner Ross, of the Astoria Church, then read the following resolu-tions, adopted Sunday evening last: Whereas, The Rev. Henry Marcotte, after seven years of a successful pastorate the First Presbyterian Church of Astoria, during which time he has endeared him-his church and congregation by earnest and devoted efforts to promote the welfare and prosperity of the church and the extension of the kingdom of the Lord, Jesus Christ, has tendered his resignation and now asks the members to join him in request to the Presbytery of Portland sever the pastoral relations now existing;

A report read by Rev. William Travis, chairman of the committee on Sabbath observance, set in motion a movement to have the Lewis and Clark Fair close its doors on Sundays. In the report was a resolution recommending the Presbytery to call to its aid the American Sunday School Union, the Bureau of Reform and the Women's Christian Tem-perance Union to ask Congress to stipulate in making appropriations in aid of all such expositions that the doors must be closed Sundays to make the appropriation available. After discussion the resolution was adopted.

Scarcity of New Ministers,

Rev. Dr. J. R. Wilson of the committee on education, reported on the alarming decrease in the number of young men preparing for the ministry, and also on the methods by which they obtain an education. The report recommended that the Presbytery appoint special committees to investigate the causes of the de-crease of candidates. Dr. Wilson urged the importance of the investigation. He said, however, that all the profes were suffering. Young men were shaping their courses in schools for some phase of engineering-electrical, mining, civil and few were preparing for the law, medi-cine or the ministry. The Presbytery adopted the recommendation, and placed the matter in the hands of the committee on education, which, with the aid of Dr. Wilson, will make a thorough investigation, of the subject from all points of

Rev. S. W. Gamble addressed the Presbytery in behalf of Sunday observ-ance. Rev. E. M. Sharp submitted the report on foreign missions, showing substantial progress. Rev. Dr. E. P. Hill made an extended report on home mission. Statistics were given to show the pro-gress made in Portland churches and elsewhere. William Wadhams, P. B., (prince of beggars, a title conferred on him by the home mission committee) spoke of the efforts made to build a new church at Springwater. Much progress had been made. Also it was reported that a new church was being finished at Eagle Creek. Ordination of Rev. D. A. Thompson

The Presbytery adjourned in the af-ternoon from the Mount Tabor to the Sellwood Presbyterian Church, where the women entertained the members at luncheon. Following came the ordination of Rev. David A. Thompson as a mini and his installation as pastor of the Sellwood Presbyterian Church. The auditor-ium was filled with a large congregation. Moderator Winfield T. Scott was in charge. Following music came reading of the scriptures by Rev. E. T. Allen, of the First Church. Rev. Jerome R. McGlade, of Mizpah, delivered the prayer. William Wadhams, who secured the lot on which the Sellwood Church stands, by request gave a touching solo in a clear and effective manner. Rev. W. S. Gilbert, of Calvary Church, preached the ordination

Then followed the ordination. Rev. W. S. Holt told how Mr. Thompson had been invited while a student in the Princeton minary, to take the Sellwood work. Mr. Thompson had passed a rigid examination by the Presbytery with credit. Moderator Scott propoun the constitutional questions both to the ngregation and the candidate. Member of the Presbytery then gathered on the platform and ordained Mr. Thompson into the ministery. His installation then followed. Dr. J. R. Wilson delivered the charge to the pastor and Dr. Holt the charge to the congregation, and cereionles were completed.

There will be a short session this morn-Ing to finish up some routine business. Members of the Presbytery will attend

North Pacific Passenger Agents Want National Convention to Come to Portland in 1904,

A large delegation of local railroad men will leave in special cars Friday evening to attend the convention of traffic men, to be held in Spokane on Saturday, for the purpose of taking formal action looking toward securing for Portland the naional convention in 1904 of the American tional convention in 1994 of the American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents. The Spokane convention will be a special meeting of the first district of the Pacific Coast Association of Traffic Agents. It is called for the special purpose of pushing the proposition to bring the national convention here, because of the benefits that will accrue to this district. A party of about 50 will attend trict. A party of about 50 will attend from this city and similar numbers of railroad men from other Oregon and Washington towns will be present. The onvention will hold one session on Saturday evening. Preparations have been made in Spokane to give the visiting traffic men a royal reception, and all the backing they may desire in securing the national convention.

Rev. Winfield T. Scatt, Moderator of the Portland Pres-

The parent body, the Pacific Coast Association, has aiready taken action on the matter and extended an invitation to the passenger agents to meet at Portland. In view of the fact that the first district will be particularly interested in the convention, it has been deemed wise that that district hold a meeting and take formal action expressing its desires. Six men from this district, most of whom are from Portland, have been selected to attend the coming national convention at New Orleans in December as delegates and they will go provided with invitations from their district association, the gen-eral body, and many other organiza-tions, all of which are anxious to see Portland win the fight. The delegates se-lected from this district are: W. E. Sea-chrest, of the New York Central lines; J. P. Jones, of the Southern Pacific; J. W. Casey, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; J. R. Nagle, of the O. R. & N.: George W. Andrews, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, and Robert Cunningham, of the Great Northern. It is certain that these men will attend the convention and it may be that others will go from here. Besides these delegates, about 35, selected from the Pacific Coast at large,

The majority, if not all, of the delegates already selected will attend the conven-tion in Spokane Saturday. M. J. Roche, of the Rfo Grande; Mr. Seachrest, and others were busy yesterday making up the Portland party. The list will probably be completed today. Two special sleepers have been secured and the railroad men and their wives to the number of not less than 50 will occupy them. The cars will leave this city over the O. R. & N. Friday evening at 6 o'clock, and will arrive in Spokane the next morning.

During the forenoon a trolley ride will be taken about the city and sightseeing will be indulged in. In the afternoon the visitors will see the races and the fruit fair. At 8 o'clock in the evening the women will visit the theaters and the railroad men will go into convention. commenced Sunday afoon at 4 o'clock. Aside from extending a formal invitation to the passenger agents to hold their next meeting in Portland, the convention is designed to serve the purpose of arous-ing enthusiasm among the people of Washington and especially the Sound district. It is planned that the passenger men after their convention, if it be held here, shall make a trip to Spokane, Seattle and other Washington points, and it is desired that they shall be met with an enthusiastic welcome in that country. All the railroads and apparently all the interests of the Pacific Coast will be united Protests spring up at every turn. The latest and, possibly, the most formidable against the present intention to sell the old ferry site and open up Randolph and Russell streets was filed with City Auditor Devlin yesterday afternoon by the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company.

The communication bears the signature of President A. L. Mohler and is couched in very positive terms, with the exception of one portion, in which a very subtle insinuation is made that, should the city insist upon opening up Randolph street

as a thoroughfare so as to interfere with the traffic of the railroad company, distressing results will ensue. The statement is thought by city officials to imply that the company's shops would be moved from their present site, which would be no small matter, inasmuch as the company has a large force of employes with a pay-roll of over $1,000,000 a year. All this is gravely set forth in the communication

M. E. CONFERENCE RETURNS POPULAR PASTORS TO THEIR CHARGES

Rev. J. R. T. Lathrop, Grace Rev. H. J. Talbott, Taylor-Street Rev. W. B. Hollingshead, Centen-

Church Rev. J. R. T. Lathrop, who has so satisfactorily and successfully filled the pulpit and administered the financial affairs of the Grace M. E. Church, at Twelfth and Taylor, has been reappointed, to the great satisfaction of his entire congregation. The Rev. Mr. Lathrop has had charge of this pastorate for the past three years, coming to this charge from Indianapolis, Ind. He is a most able man and an unusually fine preacher. Last year he succeeded in raising a debt of $20,000, and fully demonstrated his ability as a financier. The retention of Mr. Lathrop at his present post is considered a very wise move of the conference. At the First Methodist Church (Taylor street) there is rejoicing over the retention of Rev. H. J. Talbott, who will now enter the third year of his occupancy of First Church pulpit. The Rev. Mr. Talbott was, before coming to Portland, a presiding elder in Indiana and a pastor at Evansville, in that state. He is unusually popular and a strong Christian character, well fitted in every respect for his calling. Mr. Talbott is an indefatigable worker and his church is now undergoing repairs and improvements to the extent of $2000 as a result of his earnest labors.

Centenary Church is to be congratulated on the action of the conference in retaining the Rev. W. B. Hollings head, who has filled this pastorate with such signal success during the past two years. The Rev. Mr. Hollingshead is one of the younger men of the conference, having been in it only five or six years. He formerly occupied a Eugene pastorate, coming here from that city. At present Centenary is having $5000 expended upon it in repairs and remodeling, for all of which great credit is due its hard-working pastor. It will now be one of the handsome churches of the Mr. Hollingshead is a most fluent speaker and beloved by all his congregation, by whom greatest satisfaction over his retention is expressed.
