DAILY MARKET REPORT

OREGON JOURNAL MARKET SERVICE

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 15.—Extreme demand continues to be reflected all through the market for eggs. There was no general change in price Wednesday; in fact error was made Tuesday when it was stated that the association had advanced its quotations 2 cents for all offerings except pullets. The fact was that the association changed its basis of selling, and, for the first time, quoted New York extras here, while former selects are now known as standards. The latter are quoted at the same price as selects formerly stood at.

While some of the smaller operators were quoting an advance of 1 cent a dozen in the selling price of eggs, larger sellers continued their selects at 37 cents, which was unchanged. The association made no change, and for similar offerings quoted 2 cents below the private firms with cash at the wareroom door.

With an acute shortage of offerings, and with bids at country points being advanced, there is a strong likelihood of a general further advance in the selling price here. Buying price of current receipts is shown as high as 29 cents, with henneries up to 31 cents.

BUTTER SITUATION IS FIRM

Very firm situation continues to be reflected for butter here with full maintenance of prices reported for both prints and cubes. No change in the general coast situation was shown for the day.

TOMATO SUPPLIES ARE SHORT

Extreme shortage of tomato offerings is shown here with sales generally at $1.75 for The Dalles stock, with occasional business as high as $2. Some of the stock being sold at No. 1 would not go into No. 2 class in normal seasons.

POTATO MARKET IS STRONGER

With a scarcity of offerings at the moment a somewhat stronger tone was shown for potatoes here during the day. Sales by growers continued in small volume as high as $1.50 per cental Portland delivery.

PEACH SITUATION IS ACTIVE

Considerable activity is shown for peaches here. Offerings of Crawfords from Columbia river sections are gaining with the bulk of the sales around $1.15@$1.25 per box. California Elbertas generally around $1.00@$1.15. Early local stock at 75c to $1 box.

PEAR MOVEMENT IS INCREASING

Increased movement of Bartlett Pears in this direction is shown with offerings from the Umpqua and Rogue river in Oregon, while Yakima and California are shooting stocks here. Most of the fruit is green but well matured. Sales mostly at $2.25@$2.50 per box.
