FOR SALE—Real Estate

W. B. COOPER, REAL ESTATE
We have just listed a 10-acre place just outside of the city limits, with small buildings for only $2000, and what do you think, only $200 down and very easy terms on balance. You can not afford to miss this; a home with only $200 in it and you will save more than rent enough to pay the balance.
And here is one more just as good. This is a 6-room plastered house with bath and toilet and it is sure a fine location on the east side with several $7000 and $8000 houses in the same block. The owner is leaving town and does not like to rent this property and he does not need the money; all he cares for is the interest. This property is listed at a low price of $3500, with $150 down and $50 a month including interest. We do not have this kind of a buy every day and this one will not last long, so you better call me at once and I will call and take you to look at the property and I know you will buy it when you see it.

DAILY MARKET REPORT

OREGON JOURNAL MARKET SERVICE
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 22.—Scarcity of eggs forced the buying price up during the day, with an indication that the selling price might follow within the next 24 hours. The egg market is very firm, and all the fresh stock offered has been taken up daily almost as fast as it was put on the market. The call has been so brisk that considerable storage stock has been disposed of. Cold storage holdings are less this season than at the same time last year, according to the latest government report, which shows 54,974 cases in storage here now against 59,181 on the same date a year ago. Some of the houses are out with a 34c buying price on selects and 30@31c on current receipts.

Butter market is about steady, with no change in sight.

The cheese market is in good shape since Tuesday's advance of 1 cent, although some local jobbers are reported not to have put the advance into effect as yet, being willing to sell their stock on hand at the old price. This condition, if it continues, cannot last but a few days, as supplies will soon give out.

CHICKEN PRICES WEAKENING
Receipts of heavy and light hens have been so heavy recently that prices are weakening a little. It was possible to purchase light hens Tuesday for 13c. Although the price was not actually lowered Wednesday, there was every indication that very little business would be done at the 14c mark. A similar condition was true in the heavy hen line, although not quite so marked. Heavy hens will not bring over 24c, and where a large lot is taken it is probable that they will go for even less.

NO CHANGE IN DRESSED MEAT
Dressed meat market remained unchanged. Demand and supply are about equal. Butchers are not clamoring for calves, owing to the low prices paid for hides. At the present time butchers are losing about 6 cents a pound on calf hides.

TOMATO PRICES ARE LOWER
Increased receipts caused a decline in tomato prices. Some extra fancy stock was held for $1.60, but most of the trading was done around the $1.50 mark for strictly No. 1 quality, with inferior goods going for less. No. 2 stock was offered as low as 50 cents per box.

BLACKBERRIES NEARLY GONE
The 1923 blackberry season will not last much longer. Prices are a little firmer, as receipts were lighter. Indications are that they will be much higher within a few days.

PEACH RECEIPTS ARE HEAVY
Peach receipts continue heavy, but as prices were already about as low as possible, no change was recorded. This will doubtless be the last week for early Crawfords. They are going all the way from 90c@$1.25. Elbertas from Yakima are held at $1.25, and Slappys from the same section are down to 75c, as are also the Carmen, Queen and some Oregon varieties.

WATERMELON PRICES LOWER
Watermelon prices appear to be weakening a little, apparently on account of the large amount of fruit which is arriving here. Today No. 1 melons could be purchased for 2 3-4c and probably even less in a large way. Persians were quoted at 5c; ice creams, 3 1-2c; casabas, 4c, and Honey Dew, 5 1-2c.
