INSPECTING WEATHER STATIONS.—District Forecaster Beale, of the local Weather Bureau, returned yesterday from a tour of inspection in the Puget Sound district. He visited the various signal stations and found nearly all of them in good condition. Some changes are to be made at one or two places as soon as possible. A signal tower is to be erected at Anacortes, and it is now on the way from the steel works in Indiana. From this new tower the signals will be visible for long distances at sea. The tower will be erected in a site that had been donated by the citizens of Anacortes. Mr. Beale was on the Sound during the recent wind storm and experienced some rough weather. His woman and two dogs previous served to give the boats ample time to prepare for a gale and little damage resulted. The Oregon fish hatcheries on the Lower Columbia were visited by Mr. Beale. He thinks that they have done much toward the propagation of salmon. On Puget Sound the run of fish has been lighter than on the Columbia, owing to the fact that the hatcheries are not so extensively operated there as on the river.

DIVERSION AT THE BALL GAME.—It is not often that a man with a jag on waders goes to the ball game, but one did yesterday afternoon. Just before the game started, the load of liquor took a bad list to the port rail and there was a scattering of the fans who were seated near him. After he righted up, he dozed for a couple of innings, but the raw work of Umpire Levy reached his nostrils and he woke up. It took him several minutes to get a line on what was going on. When he got his course, he begged to see a knight of the indicator after the most approved fashion. In some remote corner of his whiskey-befuddled brain the idea occurred to him that Levy had stepped out to Lohman to him on an rhyed with "Tin can, ten, you said out for ten." He was still howling his head off when the game was finally over.

BANKRUPTCY CASES IN COURT.—There was a session of the United States District Court yesterday at which a number of minor cases, principally in matters of bankruptcy, were heard. The petition of George W. Landess and Amanda F. Landess was heard and they were adjudged bankrupts. The petition, which sets forth that the parties live upon a farm in Le Royette, Yamhill County, says they owe debts to the amount of $37,22, and own property to the value of $50, all of which is claimed as exempt. The petition of George B. Barrett, who styles himself "an attendant upon horse-racing," was also heard. Barrett set forth that he owes debts to the amount of $1000, the principal part of which is for attorney's fees and that his assets are $1000, was adjudged a bankrupt. Several other cases of the same nature were heard and sent to the referee in bankruptcy.

WIND COOLERS AT A YEAR.—A woman who was evidently insane, called at the Courthouse yesterday, and entering the office of County Judge Webster, informed the clerk, Jay Upton, that she had been sent for two years ago to the insane asylum. The clerk questioned her to ascertain if possible what was in her mind, but could only elicit from her that she was to come to the Courthouse to have her name and address placed in the newspaper. She seemed to be perfectly harmless and somewhat rational on other subjects. Mr. Upton told her to go and come back in a year next time instead of two, which she promised to do.

DROWNED IN THE COLUMBIA.—George S. Gilstrap, an employe of the United States Fish Commission at the Lewis and Clark River, on the afternoon of October 6, while returning from the postoffice at Viento in a sailboat. He was accompanied by H. M. Thomson, who was going to work in the Oregon Lumber Company's sawmill. The boat capsized in the middle of the stream and Thomas succeeded in holding the boat until rescued by a tug. The search was made for Gilstrap's body, but it could not be found. He was 32 years old and leaves a wife and one child.

HIGHLAND SCHOOL OPENED.—School was opened yesterday morning in the Highland building, as 11 of the rooms have been connected with the heater and made comfortable. Some of the pupils have been started at the other buildings, but may be transferred into the Highland. Principal J. H. Stanley said last night that in a short time the delay occasioned by the unfinished condition of the building will be made up. Fully 11 of the 14 rooms will be occupied, and perhaps another room may be required by the opening of the new term.

CHILDREN'S STORY HOUR.—The children who go regularly to the children's room at the library have their story hour with Miss Harsler to begin her Friday afternoon story hour, and tomorrow they are to have it from 2:30 until 4:30. Miss Harsler has been planning a series of interesting photographs of Turner and Raphael paintings from the Art Association rooms upstairs.

NEW CLUBS AND VINEGAR COMPANY.—Incorporation articles of the Oregon Older & Vinegar Company were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday by Charles G. Strube, Louise Strube, Mary C. E. Strube and W. T. Vaughtan, cashiers. The objects are to manufacture older and vinegar, soft drinks, essences, pickled and preserved fruits and vegetables.

MOVING PORTABLE SCHOOL.—The last of the portable schools is being taken to the Couch district, where the school is badly overcrowded. The structure is being moved from the mainland school, where the addition to accommodate the increased attendance has all but been completed, and will relieve the crowded condition of the Couch school.

BROOKLYN ALUMNI TO MEET.—The Brooklyn School Alumni Association will hold a meeting tomorrow evening in the schoolhouse to lay plans for work during the coming winter. The association was organized at the close of the term last year with a promising membership.

PORTLAND'S NEW PHYSICAL CULTURE SCHOOL, up to date, cozy, clean, convenient. No entrance fee, no red tape. Special rate $1 per month. Classes for men, women, girls. Private instruction. Call or write for catalogue. Professor Ringler, 309 Alder street, corner Fifth, Phone Main 268.

COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN.—The first meeting of the Council of Jewish Women for the year will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Bushong will be the soloist of the afternoon. The meeting will conclude with a reception to the retiring secretary, Miss Harriet Friendly.

HOUSE BUILT AT CITY VIEW PARK to suit purchasers' cash or installments. Sharkey & Morrow, 308 Alley building.

RETIRED (active) preacher can have temporary, remunerative position. Call Thursday, 433 Marquah building.

ALL STUDENTS ACCOMMODATED.—A satisfactory solution of the problem of seating and teaching the overflow of pupils at the Central and North Central Schools has been reached by Superintendent of Schools Rigler. Additional teachers have been secured from the teachers' training class and these are caring for classes in the corridors and offices of the two schools. Benches are placed in the corridors during class hours and thus the students, while not as comfortable as they might be, are able to keep up with their work. This system is looked upon as vastly superior to the half-day classes which, it was feared, would have to be installed, thus throwing many pupils behind in their work. The inconvenience of teaching in the corridors and offices will be obviated as soon as the work of constructing additions to the schools has been completed.

TOBIAS' INJURIES PROVE FATAL.—Henry Yager, 42 Russell street, the section hand run down by a switch engine under the steel bridge Tuesday afternoon, died at Good Samaritan Hospital last evening as a result of the injuries received. He was unable to recover from the shock attending the removal of the remainder of his thigh, and as he was internally injured when dragged by the switch engine, the physicians held out little hopes of his recovery. Every possible effort was made at the hospital to save his life, but it was all in vain. The body was at once taken to Corcorday's funeral establishment, and an investigation of the cause of death will be made today. If it is necessary, an inquest will be held.

HORSE WITHOUT AN OWNER.—The committee of the Mohawk Club which managed the recent Carnival has a horse on its hands, which the owner neglects to claim. It is a 6-year-old, half-bred sorrel, with mane a good record in the Seattle race and is not only good at jumping the hurdles but is good to drive, and is valued at $250. It was given to the club to raffie and has failed to turn up, but the lucky man has been to turn up. The horse takes his meals regularly and the club is acquiring a mortgage on it for board.

OPPORTUNITIES IN THE NORTHWEST.—As a result of immigration toward Oregon and Washington and the Northwest, the Northern Pacific has just issued an 80-page pamphlet giving a large list of openings for business locations in this section. The pamphlet gives a complete account of the resources and attractions of the Northwest and also a list of no less than 11 mercantile, industrial and professional occupations that are open to those who might desire to take advantage of them.

FALLS AND BREAKS HIS ARM.—Y. A. Dunning fell from a stepladder and broke his right arm at East Sixth and East Alder streets, and broke his right arm near the wrist. He was hanging some curtains.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING.—The first meeting of the Woman's Club, for the season of 1903-04, will be held at 3 P. M. on Friday, October 9, in the clubroom in the Selling-Hirsch building.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

James and Wardie Tonight. Tonight at the Marquam Grand Theatre the eminent actors, Louis James and Frederick Wardie, will begin an engagement of three nights with a special matinee Saturday at 2 o'clock, presenting the superb scenic production of "Alexander the Great." The play is founded upon the eventful career of Alexander the Great, the most famous warrior in his history. Mr. James appearing as Alexander and Mr. Wardie as Perdicas, his General and Minister of State. An absorbing story of love, intrigue and treachery serves to connect the many exciting incidents together, all of which are said to have the desirable element of surprise. The company will number 50 people, and includes Norman Hackett, Wadsworth Harris, John Cooke, J. H. Howland, Sterling Whitney, Harry McFayden, Margaret Bourne, Engel Sumner, Clara Hoffman, Aphis James, Elona Leonard and Margie Linton. Seats are now selling for the entire engagement.

Rare and Curious Books. Simplicity of design and unity of purpose lies at the root of a diversity of separate expressions. In the Perry lectures, which are to be given under the auspices of the City Press Club Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, this fact is interestingly shown in the books themselves and the common love for them. One example—a Singalese Sutra, a portion of the Buddhist Vedas, of great antiquity and valued now as a relic of the past. Another is the once the prized possession of Bishop Phillips Brooks, who felt it of sufficient importance to mention it in his will. It is a handmade with strings run through carved teak wood and is truly an interesting survival of primitive bookmaking. All who gain admission to the Perry exhibit to which a ticket entitles one, will have the pleasure of seeing this particular book and hundreds of others, less curious, perhaps, but even more beautiful, as fine specimens of the bookmaking art.

Two Hours of Amusement. It is not often that a wire-walker can keep a big audience in fits of laughter the way that Austin, the absurd performer, has done at all. He is at the Empire Theatre this week. His act is original and new from the start to finish, and it keeps the audience both amused and interested. Another extremely funny turn is presented by Spaulding, the "man with the cuff," who never speaks and never smiles, and who, nevertheless, succeeds to such a degree that the people out in front give him a cheer after each act, and finally retire only under protest. Many other entertaining acts are on the Empire bill this week and the hosts of patrons of this fashionable playhouse are enjoying a capital evening. Prices, 20, 30 and 10 cents.

Labor Question on the Stage. "Mrs. Dana's Defense" is proving a telling and dramatic lesson on the stage at the Baker Theatre. The present week, as given by the great Nell-Morocco Company, before crowded audiences of fashion.

One More Improvement. The programme for the coming week at the Empire Theatre is a decided improvement on some of the bills presented during the past summer, and is to be ranked among the best of the season. The grotesque Morisseys, the marvellous acrobats, Marah and Sartella, the sketch artists, will be two features of the new programme, while Belle Williams, the comedienne, and Lew Welles, the musician, will also be seen here for the first time.

"Over Niagara Falls." "Over Niagara Falls" is the title of the play which comes to Cordray's Theatre next Sunday. This is one of many attractions managed by Rowland & Clifford, who have made money with melodramatic scenic productions, and "Over Niagara Falls" is the most pretentious of any that have been seen at Cordray's Theatre this season. The play is produced by a strong company of actors, which carries all the scenery necessary.

Aracade Theater Opens Monday. Portland is to have a vaudeville house run on new lines. It is the Aracade, located at Seventh and Washington streets. M. Morton Cohn is building it and Edward Shields is to be manager and producer. It will be run on entirely different methods from any house yet operated in Portland. Five shows, consisting of six star acts, will be given each day—two in the afternoon and three in the evening. The show will run an hour and the price of admission will be 10 cents to any seat in the house. The theater is arranged with swell opera chairs and will seat over 500. The interior is very elaborately decorated and brilliantly lighted. The class of shows will compare favorably with the excellent programmes given by Manager Shields at Cordray's and Shields' Park. The big opening is next Monday night.

Cordray's Always Filled. Although Cordray's Theatre is now the largest theater in Portland, it has been more in demand for the past few weeks than ever. "Down Mobile" this week, and the patrons—old and new—all appeared to thoroughly enjoy the performance. It will continue to sell out every Saturday night and children who attend the Saturday matinee will be sure to enjoy the performance.

"In Old Kentucky." The advance sale of seats will open tomorrow (Friday) morning at 10 o'clock for the always welcome "In Old Kentucky," which comes to the Marquam Grand Theatre next Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday nights, October 12, 13 and 14, with a popular-price matinee Wednesday at 2:15 o'clock.

WILLAMETTE PRESBYTERY Large Attendance of Ministers and Elders at Independence. INDEPENDENCE, Or., Oct. 7.—(Special.)—The semiannual meeting of the Willamette presbytery met in the Calvary Presbyterian Church of this place October 6 at 3 P. M., with 26 ordained members present. Twelve new ministers have been added to the presbytery, Rev. George McKimley, of California, and Rev. T. B. Griswold, of Auburn, N. Y.

THE DELINEATOR FOR NOVEMBER. In the November issue, The Delineator sustains its recognized position as the foremost fashion publication and one of the high-class women's magazines. Excellent literary features and refined art supplement the display of Winter fashions, which are more charming than at any previous time. In fiction there is the second installment of "The Evolution of a Clubwoman," the bold narrative of a woman's experiences in clubdom, purporting to be a fact; a clever short story by French, a pathetic incident of a little Yorkshire terrier; and a Western story by Miss C. Smith. In the second of his remarkable photographic articles, J. C. Hemmen, the well-known illustrative photographer, relates the story of his adventures with the camera. N. Hudson Moore has a strikingly illustrated paper on "A House Small but Artistic" is pictured and described by Alice M. Kellogg, and in "Carriots and 11 Miles Bradford" tells the story of an old-fashioned Thanksgiving. For the children, there is a "Fire-light Story," entertaining pastimes, an amusing story by G. V. C. Matthews, and a "Sewing Lesson." In addition there are numerous articles by experts treating problems of the home and household.
