Free publicity is to cost somthing up in Washington. The Snohomish Editorial association has passed a resolution against free writeups to candidates and will charge for announcements, until after primaries, $10 for notices not exceeding two inches. Political writeups are to cost 50 cents an inch for first insertion and 25 cents for subsequent insertions. The Oregon State Editorial association is contemplating like action.

Characteristic of the adamant nerve which kept him fighting to the last ditch, Ex-Senator Lorimer of Illinois, now wants the United States to reimburse him for the expense of his defense in trying to retain his seat, secured by corruption. The Blond Boss asks for $125,000 and dispatches say the senate may allow him $30,000. This is certainly a new idea in politics, to say nothing of law. In other words if you have a crooked employe and after a trial find him guilty he has the right to make you pay for his defense.

At Portland there is a mad-dog scare and some of the people who haven't any experience with the disease are protesting because the council wants to muzzle the dogs. If one of these protesters happens to be bitten by a dog with the rabies it will likely result in death and a muzzling of the sentimental and foolish kickers. Anybody who has been in a community where rabies were prevalent and has seen animals and people die of the poisonous bite have no patience with the sentimentalists. It, therefore, is poor policy on the part of The Telegram to advise the city council not to become ridiculous by passing a muzzling ordinance.

"Kathleen Mavourneen" an Irish drama by the Wright Co. will be the headliner at Boner's Theater, Saturday night. In addition Manager Heylman has provided 3,000 feet of first class film, one new reel showing how the ancients farmed.

TO TALK ORCHARD AND POULTRY

Experts Gardner and Lund of Oregon Agricultural College to demonstrate Saturday at Garfield state orchard.

Fruit growers and poultry raisers Saturday afternoon at 1.30 at the O. A. C. experimental orchards at Garfield, will have the opportunity to secure the advice of two experts, who are coming to give the industries the benefit of experiments and practical work. Everybody is invited and it is earnestly hoped there will be a big turnout.

Professor V. R. Gardner will give a practical demonstration of pruning and general orchard practice and Assistant Alfred Lund, will give a lecture and demonstration on poultry raising. Both experts solicit questions and will be ready to give advice to all.

There will be several coops of prize chickens on exhibit at the orchards and Mr. Lund will illustrate his talk. The hundreds of fruit raisers and poultry men in this vicinity now have an opportunity to secure a helping hand in making their business more profitable.

Cows given another hour to roam through the city.

Without a dissenting voice, the tinkle-tinkle ordinance was amended Tuesday allowing live stock to roam the streets until 8 o'clock at night instead of 7 o'clock. Alderman Hawkins said that it hustled owners to get supper and take up their live stock, by 7. So 30 days hence, live stock must be tucked in their little beds from 8 p. m. to 6 a. m.

Two incidents enlivened an otherwise tame session. Alderman Jones flipped a cigar butt into the pocket of a newspaper man setting fire to a bunch of copy paper and Marshal Ames, sweating and breathless, related a thrilling story of how he had chased a Jersey bull trying to land him in the city pound. Darkness came and the bull escaped. Ames objected to the 8 o'clock extention, saying darkness would balk him.

By a vote of 2 to 1, Hawkins and Jones yes and Mills no, the city decided to fight Cross & Hammonds suit of $125 for legal services two years ago. Bills of $83.40 were allowed and a warrant for $60 drawn for right of way for a road arranged by the old council.

Seeley, formerly forman of The Progress office, is associated with a printer named Monteith at Salem and is conducting a job office and issuing two newspapers, the Buyers Guide and the Turner Tidings. The Buyers Guide is delivered free only the advertising being depended upon for profit. The Guide has 25,000 circulation.

The Estacada car on the P. R. L. & P. Thursday evening was struck by a bolt of lightning during the electrical storm. The motor was burned out and the car disabled between Wichita and the next station. The outbound Gresham car backed the damaged car to the Wichita sidetrack and the latter was towed into Portland. A number of Estacada passengers were badly scared but no one was injured.

The Progress is in receipt of an invitation to attend the State Editorial association which will meet at Pendleton during the Roundup, September 29. The session is for two days, one to be spent at Hot Lake. A special train of Pullman cars has been engaged to leave Portland September 28 and a fare of one and one third for the round trip arranged.

Ed. Hunt has nearly completed the erection of a building in which he will install a shooting gallery on his property next to the Hunt building, on Main street. The passage of an ordinance recently licensing galleries, prompted Mr. Hunt to put up the building. A good sidewalk also improves his property.

A letter, received by Harry Snyder of Cazadero, from J. S. Reagan, formerly in charge of the stone crusher, states that he doesn't like climatic conditions around Cornell, Wis. where he is employed by Superintendent Fletcher, who is building a power plant. Mr. Reagan writes his property at Portland is worth $1,000 more to him than it was when he started east.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy O. Dieterick of Portland returned home after a week spent here, the guests, part of the time, of Paul Shroat who is camping across the Clackamas. Mr. and Mrs. Dieterick are well known singers, and entertainers. Mr. Dieterick having been on the Orpheum circuit for some time. He opens a return engagement at the Majestic, Monday.

E. W. Bartlett, last Saturday received a telegram notifying him of the death at Eau Claire Wis, of his mother, early Saturday morning. Mr. Bartlett not long ago returned from a visit to his parants. His mother was in feeble health at the time. Mr. Bartlett's father plans to spend the winter at Estacada.

R. D. Thomas brought to town last week a box of silver prunes, which were quickly disposed of on the local market. Mr. Thomas' orchard has about 600 prune trees, two species of which are heavily loaded—the silver and the Petite prune. The Italian commercial prune crop is short this year, but Mr. Thomas' trees have a fairly good yield. His apples are also bearing well. Mr. Thomas recently purchased his sixty acre ranch in the Springwater district and is well satisfied with his bargen.

The picnic of the Foresters last Sunday at Estacada park, was attended by about 1,000 people, who enjoyed a basket lunch and a dance and the boating on the Clackamas.

The editor of The Progress spent an hour at the Gresham Outlook office, Tuesday. Editor StClair has a fine plant, including a linotype. He employes five people and has a good business. The Outlook is published semi-weekly and is all home print.

Christian church elects Elders and eight deacons.

With a membership increased by 44 as a result of the revivals recently held, the Christian church at a meeting elected five elders and eight deacons and organized a Christian Endeavor society. This gives the church an official board equal to many of the large city churches.

Plans are making for carrying forward the work of the church in a vigorous fashion, much attention to be paid to the Sunday school and mission work. It is the intention to place the organization on a firm business foundation.

The elders elected were; S. P. Waterbury, J. W. Emmet, C. L. Allen, L. U. Ingram and W. Givens.

The following were chosen as deacons: Lee Hanson, L. S. Fleming, Earl Jones, Chester Dean, Otto Paulsen, A. T. Sarver, Fred North and C. W. Seymour.
