L. Zeiseness living near Progress in the eastern part of the county, was arrested on Tuesday last and taken before squire Morton on a charge of larceny of onions. The charge was established and a fine of $50 imposed. The defendant paid the fine and costs amounting to about $15 and was released.

What is arousing the curiosity of butcher C. Koch just now is "what becomes of all the lard buckets." He buys 800 five-pound, 200 ten pound and 300 three pound buckets per year. A few of these come back by second hand purchasers but the bulk of them disappear. The rest of us though give more attention to the contents of the buckets. Counting the old buckets Koch alone fills 1000 or more five pound buckets, 300 ten pound buckets as well as many packages containing 40 pounds of lard. Altogether he puts on the Hillsboro market 16,000 or 12,000 pounds of lard per year. This is a prime product and is in high favor with consumers who recognize it as a pure article and cheaper than the imported mixtures from eastern factories.

Frank Clemens who went from here to Alaska during the winter was shot and killed at Sheep's Camp beyond Skagway on the 14th day of March. It seems that Frank's partner who went from Portland, backed out. He sold his outfit to one Schneider from Baltimore Md. Schneider did not have money to pay for the outfit so it was arranged that he should pay Clemens when he earned it in the mines. The men commenced packing their goods over the mountains. They established a camp near Sheep's Camp. Schneider claims that Clemens developed a quarrelsome disposition. On the fatal night they quarreled and fought. Clemens drew a big knife, then Schneider got of his pistol and cocked it but keeping his thumb on the hammer Clemens struck out and knocked his thumb off the pistol. The lock would not stand before the gun was discharged the bullet taking effect. This is the German's story, for Frank never spoke after he was shot. Clemens owned a piece of land across the Tualatin adjoining J. N. Gratiot. Schneider is under arrest. Clemens was known here as a peaceable man, and perhaps if he could have talked he would have quite a different story to tell. He was an industrious and a saving man. He took away with him $1000 either in money or outfit and it is possible that Schneider owned this property.

The second number of the resurrected "Mite" a little leaflet published at Corvallis by one of the O. A. C. students has been received. It is more than an amateur publication for it dispenses news and indulges in editorial thrusts that may make the blood drip. Then there are other paragraphs that provoke hearty laughter. The advertising pages bring revenue to the publisher sufficient to keep down the expenses of school life.

New goods, new styles in endless variety. We are receiving our spring stock and can furnish our customers with the best class of staple goods at prices lower than ever offered in this market before. Call and examine our prices before purchasing elsewhere. No trouble to show goods. Remember we hold prices down. R. E. Bryan & Son, Cash Store.

FROM SKAGUAY.

His mother has received the following letter from Frank Mitchell dated March 15th, which, barring personal matters, will be interesting to the general reader:—

Skaguay, Alaska, Mar. 15, 1898.
Dearest Mamma.

I mailed you a pamphlet two or three days back but the mail is very uncertain here and the chances are you will receive this letter first which I send by Mr. Wilson who goes on the Oregon.

We arrived here last Wednesday morning, haven't done much of anything since but take in the country in general and catch colds. I have a quite severe one now; have been inside nearly all day and think it is getting better.

The weather here in general is not bad, the most disagreable feature is the wind which blows nearly all the time, at present it is blowing from the south which is not so bad as when from the north. One comes off the mountain and the other from the sea.

Wes and I went over to Dyea last Thursday it is pretty much the same kind of a place as Skaguay but a little drier and healthier.

Skaguay is a place of about 6000 inhabitants. It is built up mostly on the tide flats and partly on the higher ground in the timber, the houses are mostly small shaks and log cabins there being only a few good buildings in the place. Rents are away up in G. cabin with one room 10x12, a half mile from the business part of town and where you have to wade knee deep in mud bring from $30 to $50 a month. This is the greatest place in the world for saloons and liars. Every man tries to fool you or tell you the most unreasonable lies with a straight face. The idea here that the Portland papers have been telling about is the biggest lie imaginable, not more than 25 people have died here since the town was first started and the majority of these have either been killed, drowned or frozen to death. One man fell off the wharf and was drowned a few nights ago. One was shot in the trial and one was shot at Dyea by an unknown man night before last.

Our trip up was very pleasant, we had fine weather all the way, stopped at Victoria B. C., Jeneau, Wrangle and Douglas Island.

Well good bye and tell Charley to write as often as he can because this place is clear out of God's country and a letter is appreciated here very much.

Your loving son,
FRANK.

The discriptive circular above mentioned has this marginal message dated March 9th:

Dear Mamma,

We arrived in Skaguay this morning. Things are not as bad as pictured in the paper and perhaps not as good as this pamphlet gives it.

We have seen L. K. Adams, Mr. Jarquot and his partner and the Goodin boys who say that newspaper reports are nearly entirely false. This place is a typical shanty town—no order in the streets, buildings or any thing else, and mud knee deep and the wind blows your wind-shoes off.

I don't know how we are going to make it here, things do not look gilt edge, we may go some where else if nothing turns up soon. I wouldn't advise anyone to come here unless they have something definite.

Love to all.
FRANK.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
