HILLSBORO INDEPENDENT.

FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1898

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Spring capes at Schulmerich & Son.

Mrs. John Beagle started for Alaska this week.

Mr. Runyon, circuit court reporter was in town yesterday professionally engaged.

Hon. Wm. Jolly was a visitor in Hillsboro yesterday. Business in court called him here.

The rain of Tuesday night was heavy and not calculated to cure clover hay very rapidly.

Ice cream will be served this Friday evening on Mrs. Cota's lawn. The ladies of the Evangelical church will have the management and proceeds.

The county rock crusher is now set up at Forest Grove and workmen have commenced crushing rock to be used on the county roads within reach of the present location of the crusher.

Dr. F. A. Bailey rides in a new top buggy this week. The doctor is rather hard on buggies, but then he has to go, and at times too when the buggy is not to be considered. Patients are very pleased to know that their physician's buggy is always in repair for emergencies.

The secretary of the W. R. C. remembered the INDEPENDENT force by sending a bucket of fine cherries, variety, Maj. Francis. The cherry was originated in Oregon and named for Maj. Francis, at one time a well known character in the state. He did much editorial work on the agricultural paper then publishing, and even did some writing for the Oregonian.

Mr. T. H. Allman formerly of this county but now on the lower Columbia was in Hillsboro on Tuesday last. He reports that there is great activity in the logging camps of the lower river. This is of importance to the farmers who have to furnish food for the men and hay for the teams. The demand for forage will be greater than for years, notwithstanding many of the logging camps are operated with steam.

Mr. E. J. Kuratli, of Bethany permitted a sample of green wheat to be brought from his farm to this office. The sample is well headed, the straw being five feet long. The sample is from a four acre lot that is volunteer, and it is estimated that it will yield 35 bushels to the acre. The remarkable thing is the character of land, it being only a few years ago a heavy forest of fire, and counted almost worthless for agricultural purposes.

The timothy hay crop in this county will not be as good as some had hoped and predicted while it was raining two weeks ago. A gentleman who is interested in growing hay made a trip from the eastern part of the county through the northern part. He reports that he saw no good meadows. Newly seeded fields are taken by noxious weeds and the same is true of old plats. Some of his own that was seeded last fall he has plowed up again. The reason he gives for this state of things is the long dry spring followed by rather cold rains. Clover hay however is very heavy and only needs fair weather for cutting and curing.

The exposition to be held in Portland this year, opening September 22nd and closing October 22nd, promises to be the largest, best and most successful ever held. In 1895 and 1896 it was given under the auspices of well known business men of Portland, as it will be this year. It is conducted, not for profit or gain on the part of the committee, but to display to the people of the Pacific Northwest and to many Eastern visitors who may be sojourning in our midst, the wonderful resources of this favored portion of our country. There will be given prizes, consisting of cups, medals and diplomas for all the best and most meritorious exhibits of grain, grasses, fruit, (fresh and preserved) vegetables, etc., and no doubt many persons in Washington county will desire to make exhibits. Exhibits from this section will certainly take some prizes. Space is free; exhibits will be transported without cost and there will be no expense to any exhibitor. Any one wishing to make exhibits or inquiries concerning the exposition will receive a prompt reply by adressing the secretary of the Oregon Industrial Exposition Portland, Oregon.

The deep interest in the condition and future of the Phillippine Islands now felt throughout the United States will make welcome to all readers the article on that subject in the June Magazine Number of The Outlook, written by Mr. Lam, a native of the islands, a man of education and the author of a book on the Phillippines which is to be published very soon. Illustrations are given of typical and picturesque scenes in and about Manila. This article is to be followed in the succeeding issue of the Outlook by an exhaustive account of the condition of the islands written by Colonel Winthrop of the United States Army. The Outlook company 287 4th ave., New York.

The conductors picnic will be an excursion to Seaside this year. Round-trip tickets are sold for $1.50. The train leaves the Hillsboro station at 7:10 a. m. Sunday June 19th and arrives at Seaside at 12 noon. The excursion starts on the return at 5 o'clock p m. If as good time is made returning as going Hillsboro station will be reached at 10:15 p m. The sale of tickets are limited to Friday, 4:00 p m.

The lecture given by Mrs R. E. Wands Tuesday evening in the emergency corps rooms was highly appreciated especially by those interested in fruit and vegetable canning. Mrs. Wands is a pleasant speaker and also thoroughly understands her subject. The attendance was good and the affair a financial success and the ladies of the corpse feel very grateful to all who helped to contribute to the same.

The order of services at the Congregational church next Sabbath will be: 11 a m, sermon on Mathew 16:19—"The power of the Keys." 8 p m, an address on Charles Wesley, the Epworth Singer. This service will be characterized by having the hymns of the noted hymnalogist sung during the service. The other services of the day will be conducted in the usual order.

There will be a special meeting of the emergency corps held in their rooms on Second street Friday at 2 p m. It is hoped that every member will be present as there is important business to come before the meeting. Mr. Hoyt has kindly offered to photograph the interior of the rooms during the meeting and we desire a good attendance.

The Southern Pacific company is gathering statistics of the number of acres of orchard planted to prunes and the distance from the railroad stations. Any help individuals can give to the station agents will be appreciated by these gentlemen who find it no easy task to get out of their offices for a personal canvass.

THE ROSE SHOW.

The ladies of the Congregational church managed one of the most entertaining and instructive exhibitions last Friday and Saturday that has been opened to the public this season. The fine hall on Main street near second was transformed into a bower of loveliness. The feature of the occasion was an exhibition of cut roses, though there were other flowers on the tables, just enough to break the monotony. Many of the exhibitors filled individual tables which were set around the sides of the hall while others, not enough to fill a single table had their contributions on sections of a long table through the center. The exhibit was instructive, in that visitors got a glimpse of the floral beauty of the town which they had not realized before. No one not a keen observer supposed so much attention is given, in Hillsboro, to the cultivation of rare roses.

The exhibition did not pretend to give distinctive marks for best specimens or best exhibits hence no record of entries was made. Because of this omission it has been quite difficult to make a list and it is not certain that all the names have been tabulated.

Mrs. J. W. Masters' exhibit occupied a table in a prominent place and consisted of thirteen varieties. The names of the varieties were not given though prominent in the collection was a vase of Marechal Neil that was beautiful.

Mrs. H. Wehrung and her daughter Mrs. D. Corwin exhibited together. Their table contained twenty-four varieties of roses, perfect beauties. With the roses were two vases of sweet peas and a vase of carnations.

Mrs. S. B Huston and Mrs. W. V. Wiley filled their table with twenty two rose boquets and a plate of forget-me-nots.

Mrs. R. E. Bryan made a display of Augusta Victoria roses that atracted much attention. No single vatiety was more noticed.

Mrs. Thos. Tucker besides cut flowers contributed four fuchias potted. One of these a magefficent shrub in full bloom was five feet tall.

The misses Warren's table of six varieties of roses with clusters of forget-me nots was a dainty exhibit and was always surrounded by visitors.

The table from Campbell & Cota's green house was a lovely picture alone in flowers, roses, geraniums, peonys, carnations and variagated foliage plants.

Misses Lura and Wilma Waggener had the most pepfectly arranged table in the building. The flowers were not only fresh and beautiful, but all were named. Their varieties of vases were Madam Francisco Kruger, Marechal Neil, Madam Dubrico, Jues Finger, Dr. Henry Maynardear, Dutches D'Braben, Marie Bowman, Mable Morris, Reve de Or solfataire, Lamark, Maiden's Blush, Rainbow Catherine Mermet, Lady Camille and Karserive Augusta Victoria.

In the east show window was an interesting exhibit of native blooming plants and old fashioned flowers that always had visitors before it both inside and out. One vase contained a delicate white flower very attractive till its name was mentioned, wild onions. By its side were asters, hardhack, margurites, St. Croix wild forget-me-nots and pond lilies. Of the so called old fashioned flowers was a vase of snapdragons one of Sweet Williams and one of pinks sent in by Mrs. Hassler. A young man lingering by the draggons said "what are those? They are the handsomest things here." They certainly were attractive. In the same window Mrs. Farnham had a potted fuschia that was greatly admired.

Mrs. H. V. Gates furnished an exhibit of sweet peas for the west window. The varieties were Splendid Lilac, Ramona, Grey Friar, Mrs Jos Chamberlain, Lady Penzance, Apple Blossom, New Lottie Ecford, and Stanley. Her roses were: Papa Gontier, Marechal Neil, Homer, Dutchess de Brabant, Sunset. Bonsilene, Celeve Forester, Pearl, Reina Marie Henrietta, and Catherine Mermet.

Mrs. W. D. Wood showed two varieties of sweet peas and roses.

Mrs. Bridges had three varities of sweet peas, choice.

Mrs. W. A. Finney contributed two varieties of sweet peas.

Mrs. J. D. Merrymans table had roses. Pearl, Marie Vans Houte, Madam Camille, Papa Gontier, Sunrise, Douglas, Brabant Catherine, Mermet, Gen Jacquemenot, and Queen.

Mrs. C. Blazer exhibited a fine lot of roses: Madam Joseph Schwartz, Utrich Brummer Lapaztole, Dutchess de Brabaz, Madam Alfred Carrure, Vicks Caprice, Marechal Niel, Papa Gontier, White LaFranz with eleven varieties not named.

One table was devoted to pansies alone. The contributors to this interesting display were Mrs. H. Wehrung, Mrs. John Dennis, Mrs. H. V. Gates, and Miss Eisenhaur' Mrs R. B Collins had a rich display of 21 varieties of roses whose beauties invited the admiration of all visitors. The tasty arrangment was very attractive.

Mrs. D. M. C. Gault had 13 varieties of roses, three cups of sweet peas and a bowl of Verbenias.

Mrs. L. W. House exhibited a collection of potted plants chief of which were Begonies very showy. She had 8 varieties of roses, a nosegay of carnations and a dish of verbenias.

Mrs. T. S. Weathered had four varieties of roses but the most interesting part of her exhibit was a Shamrock.

Mrs. R. Cave brought to the hall four choice roses, a collection of Pansies, another of forget-me-nots with snapdragons.

Mrs. C. W. Redmond put on the tables fifteen roses.

Mrs. Geo. Wilcox contributed 9 roses from her choice collection.

A bouquet of mixed roses from the garden of Mrs. Thos. Tucker was much admired.

Mrs. Dr. F. A. Bailey had fine roses for exhibition but the most interesting was her little fairy rose from seed planted in April. The baby was only four inches high yet it had a perfect white rose and buds for two more.

Mrs. Dr. W. D. Wood had a collection of five roses that were beauties.

Mrs. Porter showed a vase of Peony's and another was contributed by Mrs. W. D. Hare.

Mrs. Calvin Adams sent in a basket of roses that were much admired.

Mrs. J. A. Imbrie's roses were beauties and caused admirers to linger.

Mrs. G. A. Wehrung had some of her choicest collection on exhibition.

Mrs. W. D. Bradford's roses were well chosen and well arranged. No more enthusiastic grower patronized the exhibition.

Mrs. C. W. Williams contributed a basket of Marechal Neil that would have been winners in a contest.

Mrs. J. W. Morgan displayed a bowl of Marechal Neil roses and forget-me-nots; Mrs. E. D. Thorne had a collection of roses as did also Capt. A. M. Collins.

Mrs. M. M. Bridges contributed Marechal Neil, Kaiserin Augusta Victoria and a further collection of five roses.

Mrs. Dr. J. P. Tamelsie had ten varieties of roses from her garden among which were Madam Kruger.

Mrs. R. B. Goodin had roses in vases and a basket.

Mrs. B. L. Greer had a beautiful lot of roses that were choice.

Mrs. W. N. Barrett was a contributor whose bouquets were eagerly sought.

Mrs. E. M. H. Thorne, pointed with pardonable vanity to her Polyanthus, Monsieur Fertavo, Lucide and Neteor.

Mrs. S. H. George had a bunch of Canterbury bells that held the attention of visitors. She also had rare roses.

Mrs. Robert Waggener exhibited a nice lot of roses.

Mrs. F. Haines did not forget to contributd to the pleasure of visitors by with holding roses from her garden.

Mrs. Peter Boscow and her daughter Mrs. W. H. Wehrung had a well arranged exhibit that ornamented a part of the exhibition hall. Among Mrs. Boscow's roses were the Malmaison, and Red La Franz.

Besides the wild flowers gathered and arranged by Mrs. Luce, she had a vase of Nemoflalus, delicate and beautifully marked.

The exhibition was very attractive and a great success. For this much credit is due to Mrs. W. H. Wehrung who was chairwoman of the committee on arrangements. But the whole committee faithfully worked to entertain the public in which they succeeded. The Christian Endeavor society never allowed anyone to go hungry as an ice cream booth at the rear of the hall was maintained by them. Another show next year will tell how much progress is making.

Dr. Withycomb state vetinary surgeon has just returned from a hard trip to the country on the California boundary. Word came that drought stricken California is driving great herds of cattle into Oregon for grazing purposes. It was feared that the herds are affected with a contagious fever hence the inspection. Dr. Withycomb found that such is the case wherefore he has that drove of 2000 quaranteened for 90 days. Another lot of 5000 is known to be coming. These will also be quarantined together with any other small droves. This example shows the value of at least one of the "useless" commissions against which populists have been railing. Had these California cattle been permitted to graze over the pastures of our own stock, a plague would have been introduced costing the state thousands of dollars. This is one time when we were prepared to grapple with a great danger. Dr. Withycomb heard of the coming and hastened south to meet the immigrants. He rushed traveling five days taking but ten hours sleep. A part of the journey was by rail. The remainder by stage, in a buggy, and on horseback. The hurry was necessary because it was probable that a proclamation by the governmeat be required to stop driving cattle into the state, but when he saw the stock, he found the disease so well marked that he could make use of the general quarantine law.
