OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1898

Senator Hoar of Massachussetts has been appointed ambassador to England to succeed John Hay.

The Empress of Austria was assassinated in Switzerland last Saturday by an Italian anarchist who claims to be operating alone. His weapon of destruction was a long three cornered file. The victim's heart was reached. The assassin has been arrested.

We have not heard much from Manila since its surrender, but it is understood that the Oregon regiment while not permitted to go into the trenches did receive the surrender of the Spaniards and is now intrusted with the care of $10,000,000 worth of public property.

A fusion of the "reform forces" was effected in Washington last week with some difficulty. The fact augurs a republican victory in November. In a recent visit to Washington republicans were found to be exceedingly cheerful and were claiming a victory this fall for sound money.

The election last Monday in Maine resulted in the election of the republican ticket though by reduced majorities. There is no significance in this however as the republicans made no canvass and relied wholly upon the uninfluenced elector. The free silver element however did what work it could. The vote was a light one.

The INDEPENDENT thinks hop growers make a mistake when they contract to sell the 1898 crop at 8 to 9 cents. There is no old stock on hand, Germany has none to export. The picking season in England is bad, mildew is seriously interfering. Unless all indications are at fault there will be a shortage before spring and good prices.

The British ship Glenmark left Portland in ballast last Wednesday after having refused 32½ shillings to load with wheat. And it is these high freight rates that shaves down the price of wheat. For America it would be a splendid thing if we had ships that could refuse $7.86 per ton freight. This freight money lodging in the state would compensate mightily for low prices of exports.

The Portland Telegram gives currency to the report that J. H. Mitchell enters the senatorial campaign carrying a sack of $100,000—and backed by the administration and the S. P. Company. It is thought here that there is no truth in the story but that it is manufactured for the purpose of making it easier for lobbyists to bleed H. W. Corbet who is known to be a candidate and to possess money.

His friends say that Hon. H. W. Corbet should receive the support of the republicans for U. S. senator because he furnished money to run the state campaign. If there is no other reason for supporting Mr. Corbet than that, he should be beaten. The idea of corruption is associated with large sums of money furnished for campaign purposes, and if a man advances that reason for demanding support it is proper to with-hold it.

The politicians begin to talk of caucus and caucus nominations, but the people are becoming restive under the rule of this star chamber. The reason for holding a caucus is only found where the party in power has a bare majority and it is desirable to find a candidate who can command the most votes, or the candidate who is the favorite in the party, but where the majority is so great as in the legislature this year there is no need of this preliminary work. It is impossible for the free silver party to elect a senator before the republicans in the ordinary way find out the strong man. If however the senators and representatives determine to hold a conference then all votes taken should be by vivi voce the same as was done two years ago. No representative ought to hide his individual responsibility behind an arbitrary majority. Let there be no caucuses at Salem week after next.

A news report from Maurid published in the papers of yesterday states that Spanish politicians for the most part favor the entire renunciation of the islands in return for economic advantages. Our government has without doubt formulated a policy, but what it is, cannot be learned. We will keep the islands however not that we want them by conquest but our government will determine the fate and will dictate the condition under which a government will be established there. Force of circumstances may lead us to demand of Spain permanently all her possessions in that quarter. We attacked Spain there to prevent her descent on our Pacific coast cities. The natives were at war with Spain. They assisted us, for we at the same time fought a common enemy. We cannot make peace with that enemy and leave our friends still at war with them. It is of more importance just now that our honor be maintained than to contribute to maintaining Spanish honor, whatever that may be.

A YAMHILL VILLAGE.

Carlton Yamhill county is a station on the S. P. Co's road just beyond North Yamhill. It is about the size of Cornelius but it has a beginning that in the near future will make it larger and of more importance than its more pretentious neighbors. It is built in the middle of a prairie because there was a station located there when the road was built. The station was fixed there because two wagon roads crossed.

Ten years ago Hon. W. A. Howe, state senator elect from Yamhill, put in a stock of goods there and commenced buying wheat. He is a careful business man and he has prospered. His first warehouse soon became small wherefore he built a model elevator with a capacity of 100,000 bushels of wheat. Tuesday last the receiving clerk said he had in of this years crop 88,000 bushels. The car rate from there to Portland is $15.00 the same as from North Yamhill. The patrons of the warehouse draw from as far away as seven and eight miles. Indeed some pass North Yamhill. It is said that the reason is when they sell they get cash in hand where as at some other warehouses they may have to wait a few days.

But the biggest thing Mr. Howe has in hand is a mammouth fruit evaporator or rather two of them. His fruit driers are the largest in the state. The larger apparatus has a daily capacity of 1800 bushels of petite prunes and the smaller 1200 bushels total 3000.—The capacity for Italians is some what less say 2250. His dryer is the Beck Fruit and Vegetable evaporator. It requires a building of two stories to accomodate it. The furnace is on the ground floor and inclosed by a circular brick wall. The furnace room of the large dryer is about 30 feet in diameter. The drying closet is in the second story and of the same shape and dimension as the brick furnace room below. It is built on the brick wall but of wood. The big drier has 24 sections for trays and is 25 trays high. The drying closet is covered except a space of about four inches at the extreme outer edge of the circle. Each tray section is closed in by a door. Between this door and the outer edge of the trays is a four inch space under the opening at the top. The center of the drying closet is occupied by a great perpendicular fan. The dry hot air from the furnace below rises into the chamber and is caught by this rapidly revolving fan and forced over the trays of fruit. This device assures each tray its portion of dry air. No tray is bathed in moisture saturated air. The topmost trays dry as rapidly as the lower ones. The small dryer was built on a different plan. but when the advantages of the large dryer were seen. the little one was remoddled.

Last season 75,000 pounds of onions, dry product, were desiccated and 25,000 pounds of potatoes. The onions and potatoes were intended for the Klondyke trade but the war interfered. A market with the army was just arranging when peace was declared. Hence other buyers must be sought. On the way to Dawson at lake Bennett there are 40,000 pounds of onions nicely put up in 5 pound tins. Before frost flies these will be in camp for the miners. One ton of rhubarb has been evaporated, This rhubarb is watery stuff requiring 17 pounds of green stems to make one of dry product. The pie plant and onions came from Washington county. Two tons of parsnips have been desiccated as an experiment

To dry potatoes they are first washed, then steamed and pressed through a wire screen of small mesh on to the drying tray. Then without disturbing the starchy mass it is put in the hot air closet where the moisture is soon driven off. Although onions were dried raw last year, they will be steamed hereafter. That is the new way. A filling of onions was dried in two and one half hours and potatoes in even a shorter time. When onions were drying there were 90 employees on the pay-roll, but now in the fruit season the force is much reduced. In the busy season the pay-roll was $500 per week. Germany has put evaporated onions on the market which sells from 50 to 53 cents per pound, but the Carlton onion is much nicer. The German product is of a redish color and not at all enticing while ours is of a beautiful creamy white.

Power is require to operate the plant, but as the several industries are not under the same roof a central station is used. A forty horse power engine furnishes power for the elevator which is transmitted by a wire cable. A twenty five horse power runs a dynamo whose currents are transmitted to small electric motars situated in each dry house Electric lights are used where needed.

The large dryer cost $2500 exclusive of the building. The cost of the whole evaporating plant was between $4000 and $5000. The only thing lacking is an abundant supply of water. The prairie has water for domestic purposes but when factories are to be supplied water is shy during the fall. A deep well will supply the need.

The thoughts—Washington county furnishes the rhubarb and the onions and can furnish the potatoes and the fruit. Why not have an evaporator here? A half cent per pound to three fourths, according to size and a fourth cent is paid for apples. Ours have been known to rot on the ground. True we have dryers in the county and they do good work but they are not big enough. They do not furnish a product in car load lots. To succeed we must combine for it takes capital to do business. True this capital may somewhat bloat its possessors, but that is not so great an ill as to have laborers idle and our fields and orchards growing weeds.

THE CUBAN DEBT.

The Cuban debt at the present time consists of three classes of stocks and a floating debt.

The oldest Cuban loan dates from 1886, when $124,000,000 of 6 per cent redeemable bonds were issued with a treble guaranty, viz.: a lien on the revenues of the Cuban Customs, the additional guaranty of all the revenues of the island, and, finally, the subsidiary guaranty of the Spanish Treasury. On February 1, 1898, 1,179,700 bonds of this issue were outstanding, amounting to $117,970,000 and requiring $7,078,200 for their annual interest and $760,000 for the sinking fund.

In 1890 the Imperial Cortes authorized the issue of $175,000,000 of 6 per cent Cuban bonds, also redeemable in forty years, with the same treble guaranty as before. It was intended to devote $35,000,000 of this to the consolidation of the then existing floating debt of the Cuban Government, and the remaining $140,000,0000 was to be applied to the conversion of the 6 per cent bonds of 1886 then outstanding. The consolidation of the floating debt was carried out, but not the conversation of the 1886 bonds. It thus happened that $140,000,000 of these 5 per cent bonds were still in the hands of the Colonial Government in February 1895, when the Cuban insurrection broke out. The Cortes authorized the government to use these bonds to raise money for meeting the Cuban war expenses, by selling a portion, and giving the rest as a guaranty for advances by the Bank of Spain and other Spanish bankers. On February 1, 1898, there were outstanding 1,717,100 bonds of this issue, amounting to $171,710,000, and requiring $8,585,000 for annual interest and $1,120,000 for sinking funds.

Both the interest and sinking funds of the 1886 and 1890 issues are payable in gold. Both stocks are held chiefly by Spanish investors.

The third issue of bonds to assist the Cuban Treasury had to be floated in Spain. It consists of $160,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds, redeemable in eight years. It is guaranteed by a lien on the revenue of the Spanish customs in addition to the guaranty of the Imperial Treasury. The government did not attempt to say that Cuban revenues of any kind should be pledged for the payment of this loan, for it was manifest that all possible proceeds of Cuban taxation would not be sufficient to take care of interest and sinking fund charges on the two earlier issues, after meeting the necessary expenses of the Cuban Treasury. The interest and sinking fund of this stock, amounting to $26,300,000 annually, are made payable in pesetas, and not in gold, like the two previous Cuban loans.

In addition to these loans the Cuban Treasury was reported on Jan. 1 last to be in debt for arrears of pay to army, navy, officials, contractors, etc., to the extent of $70,000,000, while expenses were going on at the rate of $8,000,000 a month, according to Blanco's estimate.

A summary of the Cuban debt thus shows:

6 per ct. loan of 1886.....	$117,970,000
5 per ct. loan of 1890.....	171,710,000
5 per ct. loan of 1896-7....	160,000,000
Arrears of pay, at least...	70,000,000
	$519,680,000

The London Economist estimates that the total indebtedness incurred to meet expenditures of Spain on account of the Cuban war and Cuban government since February, 1, 1895, amounts to $550,000,000, and that there is still $80,000,000 due for arrears of pay, etc.

In addition to the Cuban debt, the Spanish government was obliged to borrow $40,000,000 in 1897 to meet the expenses incurred in endeavoring to put down the insurrection in the Philippines. This loan took the form of forty-year 6 per cent bonds, guaranteed by the customs revenue of the Philippine Islands. These bonds were issued at 82, from which must be deducted the commissions paid to the banks which assisted in floating the loan.

Mr. Corbett candidate for U. S. Senator will be opposed in Salem but the opposition of republicans will be on other grounds than the fact that he is a gold standard man No republican opposes a candidate because he espouses the gold standard.

MANY SUFFERERS.

What a Large Number of People are Enduring. A Distressing Condition in Which Many American People are Involved—The Only Way to Alleviate it.

From the Mountaineer, Walhalla, N. Dakota.

The remorse of a guilty stomach is what a very large majority of the people of this nation are suffering with today. It is a well known fact that dyspepsia is a characteristic American disease and it is frequently stated that "we are a nation of dyspeptics."

It is a distressing ailment and because of its many forms is difficult to treat. Sometimes it is the result of improper modes of eating, improper food or mental worry and exhaustion; then again it may be sort of a depressed condition of the body and treatment should be directed to the restoration of the health, without special attention to the stomach. In other instances, the disease is evidently the result of indammation of the stomach.

Anyone of these conditions produce a lack of vitality in the system, by causing the blood to lose its life-sustaining elements. The blood is the vital element in our lives and should be carefully nurtured. Restore the blood to its proper condition, dyspepsia will vanish and perfect health follow.

For example, in the county of Pembina, North Dakota, a few miles from Walhalla, resides Mr. Ernest Sobler; a man of sterling integrity, whose veracity cannot be doubted. He was formerly a resident of Lansdowne, Ont., but removed to the west and is now a prosperous farmer.

For three years he has been unable to do his work because he was ill with dyspepsia. "I became seriously ill about three years ago," he says, and consulted a doctor who gave me some medicine for indigestion. I continued to grow worse and several physicians were called at intervals who gave me temporary relief, but the disease returned with all its accustomed severity.

"The distress after eating made me dread meal time. At times I became so dizzy as to be unable to stand. I had sour stomach, heartburn, palpitation of heart, and weak nerves. The doctors disagreed as to the nature of my disease but all agreed that the stomach was affected. I suffered intensely and life was a misery.

"I tried several well known remedies but was not benefited.

"I read in the newspapers articles regarding the wonderful curative powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and finally after some urging on the part of a friend I concluded to try the pills. I purchased six boxes. This was five months ago.

"I had not taken all of the first box before I felt much relief, I continued taking the pills, and after using four boxes I was cured. I have none of those distressing symptoms now, and am completely restored to health, and can do as much work as any of the laborers on my farm. I owe my restoration to health to Dr Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and gladly give my testimonial, hoping it may prove beneficial to some persons similarly affected."

By restoring to the blood the requisite constituents of life, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People renew the nerve force and enable the stomach to promptly and properly assimilate the food, thus speedily and permanently curing the dyspeptic. These pills are a specific for all diseases having their origin in impoverished blood or disordered nerves. They contain every element requisite to general nutrition, to restore strength to the weak, good health to the ailing. Physicians prescribe them, druggists recommend them and everywhere the people use them.

To Cure Constipation Forever.

Take Cascarets Candy Cathartic. 10c or 25c. If C. C. C. fail to cure, druggists refund money.

THE DIETZ DRIVING LAMP

Is about as near perfection as 50 years of Lamp-Making can attain to. It burns kerosene, and gives a powerful clear, white light, and will neither blow nor jar out. When out driving with it the darkness easily keeps about two hundred feet ahead of your smart horse. When you want the very best Driving Lamp to be had, ask your dealer for the "Dietz."

We issue a special Catalogue of the Lamp, and, if you ever prowl around after night-fall, it will interest you. 'Tis mailed free.
