OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

FRIDAY, DECEMBER, 1, 1899.

Expansion of American commerce has been the guiding star of President McKinley's foreign policy. He has already accomplished much in that line, but he expects to accomplish much more.—Dayton, Or. Journal.

That was an unusual sight presentedat the royal reception of Emperor William of Germany at Windsor castle this week. By the side of the British and German royal standards was placed the Stars and Stripes. There was a time when this was not the.

Aguinaldo divides his followers into small bands for guerrilla warfare. Political notions have another name in these parts. They are called bandits, robbers and when caught are generally hanged by the neck. Aguinaldo is making the solution of the Tagal insurrection very simple.

The Dallas Monitainear urges the construction of the Nicaragua canal in the interest of the Pacific coast because it would bring us nearer the markets of the world. It is probably true that the construction of the canal would be of advantage but the profitable Pacific coast market is Asia and near at hand.

It might be in the interest of modesty and good taste for the democratic press not to say too much about admitting Roberts of Utah to a seat in the house of representatives or to try and throw odium on the republicans in connection with that individual. Roberts was a democratic candidate elected by democrats on a free silver platform. He belongs to the democrats, wives and all.

The English have had a hard fight with the Boers on Modder River in South Africa. The force of good Boers entrenched was attaked by the British who fought for 10 hours, but it is not certain that a victory was gained. The engagement is called the bloodiest the English have participated in for a hundred years, but this is like some other reports that have been sent out from South Africa. A retreat may follow.

The American Military man is the best in the world. It makes no difference to what arm he may be attached. He does his duty efficient ly wherever he may be. Our Cavalry dismounted is trained to fight as infantry and have been known to assault and capture fortified places. Our marines do equal good work whether on land or sea. Only this week a squad of two hundred marines landed from the Oregon captured a fortified place on the island of Luzon and are holding it till infantry comes over the mountain fo a permanent garrison.

Aguinaldo has again escaped capture just at the time when Generals Young and Wheaton had him where they were sure they could soon put their hands on him. Better send Miles over there; his experience with Gen. Sittingbull of the Sioux insurrection in 1878 might yet be recalled to memory, and aid him in the capture of the slippery Tagal chieftain —Yamhill Reporter. Lawton is there and Young has not returned from persuing after this modern Jeff Davis. If they fail to get him there is no use in sending Miles. By the way this same menory invoked above is to the effect that Miles did not get Sittingbull. The old man died a natural death,

WHO BLEW UP THE MAINE.

The New York World publishes a letter from Havana stating that the United States officials, after months of secret investigation, have discovered that the battle ship Maine was blown up by guncotton torpedoes placed in the bay for that purpose. The guncotton, 700 pounds of which was used, was sent from Barcelona to Admiral Manterola, commanding the port of Havana. It was either stolen from the magazine where the stuff was stored, or taken away with the knowledge of the officials in charge.

Admiral Manterola's record will undoubtedly show the names of his subordinates who had direct control of the explosives, and in that way the identity of the authors and the executioners of the plot to destroy the Maine may be discovered. Two or three men were engaged in the destruction of the Maine. A steam launch of Spanish make, now used by the United States government in Havana harbor, conveyed the two torpedoes, according to the new evidence, to a point within a few feet of the berth of the Maine, and anchored them. The torpedoes were kept in position by means of buoys floated 11 feet under water, 10 feet above the anchors used to prevent them from being swept away. The torpedoes were exploded by contact with the keel of the Maine as she swung at anchor.

THE END IS SIGHT

After a campaign of only three weeks our army in the Luzon finds there is no insurgent army to stand against us. That was probably the condition last June only we did not know it and was prevented from finding out the condition by the rainy season which stopped all military operations. In several of the islands the sovereignity of the United States is acknowledged and the people are lastly turning to their suspended industries.

The situation on Luzon the place of the great disturbance is thus summarized by Gen Otis in a message to the department dated Nov. 27.

Steamer from San Fabian yesterday brought 115 Spanish prisoners, $75,000 insurgent government money, and other property captured by Lawton's troops near Yayud on the 25th.

"Wheaton's troops and Fowler's company of the Thirty-third drove the enemy westward from Mangualaren, a few miles southwest from Dagupan and captured five 3-in muzzle loading guns, 12 rifles, 20,000 rounds of Maxim cartridges, 1000 shrapnel, 800 pounds of powder and other property; also 94 Spanish and seven American prisoners.

"Bell, with the Thirty-sixth infantry, is in pursuit, and will march down the western Luzon coast. Indications are that two or three bodies of insurgent troops numbering probably 500 or more men each, are in the mountains west of the railroad, can be readily handled by MacArthur. They have the bulk of the insurgent artillery, all of which will be captured, unless burned.

"Young is still in pursuit of Aguinaldo, who is headed for Bangued, a few miles east of Vigan; Young, with cavalry and scouts, is followed by a battalion of the Thirty-third and the rest of the battalion of the Twenty-second, and two battalions of the Thirty-third are en route for Vigan by the military postroad. Young's reception by the inhabitants is enthusiastic, they giving all the assistance possible. Aguinaldo has collected more than 1000 of his troops at the north. Probably most of them will desert him.

"A number of small detachments of insurgent troops throughout the country north of Manila have been captured, and the inhabitants manifest gratitude for their deliverence. Indications are that the insurgent forces south of Manila are disintegrating, and the troops are going to their homes.

"Reports from the southern islands are favorable. Zamboanga insurgents surrendered to our troops, and no trouble is anticipated there."

AN ACCUSER'S MENDACITY.

A person named Plummer, of Polk county, is out in an assault on Gov. Geer. Plummer says that in the state campaign he paid Mr. Geer $1,000; that Mr. Geer if elected, governor, was to appoint him superintendent of the penitentiary; that when, after electi n, Gov. Geer failed to make the appointment as agreed, the $1,000 was returned to Plummer together with an additional $1,000, as hush money. Plummer claims to have Gov. Geer's receipt for the $1,000, and the Salem Sentinel makes much ado about the matter.

The story has all the ear-marks of an untruth. A man who shamelessly boasts that he bought the superintendency of the penitentiary for $1,000, has little respect for his own name and fame. Men coarse enough to besmear their own reputation in an attempt to asperse the character of another, have no conception of truth, honesty or kindred traits of character. Since Plummer makes a brazen confession that he offered money, and not merit, for a public office, the fair minded man will at once guess that his word is not reliable.

Still another feature condemns the story. Even though he be a governor, Mr. Geer is not a born fool. Had he dealt with Plummer as alleged, he would have known enough not to have given a buyer of public offices a written receipt for funds received Only silly old women, whom the fool-killer fails to find, are foolish enough to do that sort of business, and the statement that a man as intelligent and keen witted as Gov. Geer figured in any such a piece of lunacy, is in the very nature of things, not only unlikely, but unworthy of respect.—Corvallis Times.

GOLD STANDARD BILLS.

The full text of the gold standard bill to be introduced in the house next week has been published. It was prepared by the republican caucus committee last spring at Atlantic City.

Section 1 provides that the standard unit of value shall be the dollar and shall contain 25.8 grains gold nine tenths fine.

Section 2 provides that all the paper currency issued by the government shall be payable in gold, but the legal tender quality of silver is not disturbed.

Section 3 creates two departments in the U. S. treasury one for issue and redemption of currency and the other for the transaction of ordinary financial business of the government.

Section 4 provides for a gold reserve. All U. S. notes and treasury notes issued under act July 14, 1899, preceded shall be redeemed in gold though silver certificates shall be redeemed as now provided by law. None of the currency thus redeemed is to be paid out unless gold is received in exchange.

Section 5 provides for the coinage of the silver bullion now in the treasury into subsidiary coinage, but the silver notes represented by this bullion are to be cancelled.

Section 6 provides for the recoinage of worn subsidiary silver coins.

Section 7 provides that the denominations of paper money shall not be less than $1.00.

Section 8 amends the present banking law so as to allow national banks to issue bills to the par value of the bonds deposited to secure such circulation. Under the law as it now is national banks can issue only up to 90 per cent of the bonds deposited.

Section 9 imposes a tax of one-fifth of one per cent upon the capital stock, surplus and undivided profits of every national bank.

Section 10 allows national banks to be organized with a capital of $50,000 in cities of not more than 5,000 inhabitants, and in cities of 2,000 inhabitants banks may be organized with a capital of $25,000.

It will be seen that this bill is drawn upon the lines of the president's financial recommendations and in accordance with the pledges of the republican national platform of 1896.

STATE PRESS.

The recommendation of the government engineers in charge of the work at the mouth of the Columbia, to the effect that the jetty be extended, so as to make a forty-foot channel over the bar, is one that is likely to bring good results to the whole northwest. The one and safety, with which a vessel can enter and come up the Columbia river will gauge the prosperity of the people in the territory tributary to that stream. Nothing is more valuable to a country and the people in it than a great water highway, open and free to navigation.—East Oregonian.

Aguinaldo is still at the head of his troops. No one should allow his prejudices to deny this fact, in the light of recent reports from the Philippines. The report is that Aguinaldo is at the head of his troops and they are retreating. This fact makes it evident that he is at the head of them.—East Oregonian.

Old Willamette ought to be proud of its foot ball team, that has come to the point where it can give some of the best of them "cold feet."—Salem Statesman. If the Statesman were onto itself it would never have published a squib like the above. If it really means half its gushy patriotism for "Old Willamette," it would never mention her foot ball team or rather the team which she has "grafted." It is a notable fact that for years no team in the state, not even a club team to say nothing of college, has had the reputation which the above named one has had, for professionalism and dirty athletics in general. For just such scaly work, the Salem team has recently been thrown out of the intercollegiate league, and no decent college team will have anything to do with it. The Statesman seems in danger of being even too good a friend to Old Willamette.—Newberg Graphic.

Independence should encourage more manufacturing institutions in her midst. A big pay roll is what counts when it comes to make a town go. Our country is all right, if we only get the right move on ourselves.—West Side.

When any one farm product commands a high price our democratic friends at once attribute it to scarcity of the commodity, but when the price of the product is low the fault is laid at once at the door of the tariff. They are willing that supply and demand shall figure with relation to high prices but are ever ready to shift the fault of low prices onto the shoulders of protective tariff.—Eugene Register.

Bro. B. F. Alley of the Baker City Republican, is determined that Harvey Scott must go to the United States senate. That might do if Harvey weren't such a confounded free trader. This country has just recovered from a bad case of that disease and does not care to have the dose repeated.—Valley Transcript.

A Michigan Miracle

Speech Restored after Nearly 13 Years.

The Michigan Commercial, Portland, Mich.

Many things appear miraculous that are really the result of natural laws, the workings of which can be accurately predicted. A striking example of this occurred in a prominent Michigan family recently, and there can be no question as to the truthfulness of the narrative since it is attested by Mrs. Harriet Begole, of Ypsilanti, Mich., a sister-in-law of Mr. Joshua Begole, who was Governor of Michigan in 1883-4. Mrs. Begole said:

"In 1886 I suffered from a severe illness, during which my voice left me and I did not speak above a whisper for nearly 13 years.

"I was treated by five local physicians and afterward consulted leading specialists of New York. They diagnosed my case as partial paralysis, stating that the left side of my throat was entirely paralyzed, the right side partially so. For nearly eight years I have suffered from a severe stomach disorder and about a year ago I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"My stomach trouble was relieved, my general health became greatly improved and to my surprise I regained control of my vocal organs. I have used five boxes of the pills and last November I spoke aloud for the first time in almost 13 years. I am now 71 years of age and have full control of my voice. (Signed) MRS. HARRIET A. BEGOLE."

Mrs. Pinkham's Medicine Made a New Woman of Mrs. Kuhn.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM CO. 4.00]

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I think it is my duty to write to you expressing my sincere gratitude for the wonderful relief I have experienced by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried different doctors, also different kinds of medicine. I would feel better at times, then would be as bad as ever.

"For eight years I was a great sufferer. I had falling of the womb and was in such misery at my monthly periods I could not work but a little before I would have to lie down. Your medicine has made a new woman of me. I can now work all day and not get tired. I thank you for what you have done for me. I shall always praise your medicine to all suffering women." —MRS. E. E. KUHN, GERMANO, OHIO.

"I have taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used two packages of your Sanative Wash, also some of the Liver Pills, and I can say that your remedies will do all that you claim for them. Before taking your remedies I was very bad with womb trouble, was nervous, had no ambition, could not sleep, and my food seemed to do me no good. Now I am well, and your medicine has cured me. I will gladly recommend your medicine to every one wherever I go."—MRS. M. L. SHEARS, GUN MARSH, MICH.
