

GALE KILLS MANY

Thirty-Seven Fatalities in Tornado.

COMES AT NIGHT

One Hundred People Are Injured.

ALABAMA TOWN WRECKED

Many at Tuscaloosa Are Blown From Their Beds.

FOREST IS MOWED DOWN

Articles Are Scattered Over a Distance of Ten Miles—Cars Are Torn to Splinters and Bales of Cotton to Atoms.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Jan. 22.—A disastrous tornado swept over Moundville, Ala., a town of 300 inhabitants, 15 miles south of Tuscaloosa, early today, and as a result 37 persons were killed, and more than 100 injured. Every business house, with the exception of a small store, was completely destroyed.

The tornado struck the city from the southwest, and mowed a path a quarter of a mile wide through the town. Following is a list of the white persons killed:

- E. BEYBOUT, of Nashville, Tenn., who occupied his position as operator at the railroad station last evening.
- A. P. WARREN, of Birmingham, employed by the Alabama Grocery Company.
- A. H. BRIDGEMAN, superintendent of the pumping station at Moundville.
- ROBERT S. POWERS, of Tuscaloosa.
- MISS NETTIE EARLEY.
- The negro dead are: W. N. MILLS, wife and six children.
- ALBERT HOLSTON, wife and three children.
- KEE HOLSTON, wife and three children.
- Fourteen other negroes, unidentified.

Many Blown From Their Beds.

Surgeons were rushed to Moundville from Greensboro and Tuscaloosa, and all possible was done to alleviate the sufferings of the injured. By the force of the storm persons were blown hundreds of feet from their beds in the blackness of the night. Through terror, a father, mother and three children fled from their home to seek refuge, and in their excitement left a 2-year-old boy in bed. Today he was pulled from beneath some timber, and thus far it is impossible to find any other member of the family.

Heading, carpets and wearing apparel are scattered over a distance of ten miles through what was a forest, but which is now as clear as if cut by the woodman's ax.

Freight cars were torn to splinters, the trucks from them being hurled hundreds of feet from the track. The depot, the hotel, warehouses, gas, 20 houses, seven storehouses, together with their stocks, were completely destroyed. Where they stood it is impossible to find even the pillars upon which these structures rested. Bales of cotton which were stored in warehouses were torn to atoms, the fragments of lint lodging in trees, making it appear as though that section had been visited by a snow storm. Heavy iron safes, the doors of which in some instances were torn from their hinges, were carried away by the force of the wind.

North Birmingham Also Suffers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 22.—A tornado struck the suburban town of North Birmingham today and demolished or damaged 26 houses, mostly negro cabins. A number of industrial plants also were damaged slightly, and the store of Posey Bros. was destroyed. No one was killed in the vicinity.

SCHWAB MUST CONCEDE MORE

He Offers Another Plan for Reorganization of the Ship Trust.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—An agreement on terms for the reorganization of the United States Shipbuilding Company and the abandonment of the Sheldon reorganization plan, it is understood, on good authority, has been substantially reached between Receiver Smith, of the company, and Charles M. Schwab and members of the Sheldon syndicate, but this plan is said to be acceptable neither to the bondholders' protective committee nor to the Commonwealth Trust Company, and the litigation is bound to continue, unless the Schwab interests make still further concessions.

The plan as outlined tentatively, provides for the retention of control by Mr. Schwab, giving him $3,000,000 preferred and $5,000,000 common out of a total of approximately $30,000,000 stock of the reorganized company, the remaining $6,000,000 preferred and $3,000,000 common going to the other interests.

Under the new plan, Mr. Schwab abandoned his contention that his mortgage on the Bethlehem plant should be given priority over the first mortgage bonds on shipbuilding company property, this being one of the features of the Sheldon plan.

MILK TRUST FOR CHICAGO.

Capitalists Form a $4,000,000 Company Under Laws of Maine.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Under the name of "The Chicago Dairy Company," Chicago capitalists are forming a corporation designed to control the milk supply of Chicago. Organized under the laws of the State of Maine, the company has an authorized capital of $4,000,000. Within a few weeks, according to A. F. Hatch, attorney-in-chief of the promoters, the company will proceed to close the options it now holds on the business of milk firms in Chicago.

The principal purpose of the new company, it is stated, is not to advance prices, but to raise the standard of milk in Chicago. All sold by the company through its distributors will be certified free from bacteria and all deleterious substances. For such milk a flat rate of seven cents a quart will be made, says Attorney Hatch, an advance of one-half cent in price in some parts of the city.

WOMEN WITH ROOSEVELT.

Florida Daughters of Confederacy Praise His Panama Policy.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 22.—The Texas Daughters of the Confederacy are in receipt of a letter from the Daughters of the Confederacy of Florida endorsing their action in passing resolutions complimenting President Roosevelt upon recognizing the spirit of secession in his recognition of Panama. The Florida organization says it has waited 40 years for this recognition, and for a man of President Roosevelt's strength of body and mind to give justice where due.

KRUGER NO SICK MAN.

Friends of ex-President Say His Health is Excellent.

MENTONE, France, Jan. 22.—The report circulated in the United States from The Hague yesterday that ex-President Kruger is so feeble that his friends are most anxious regarding him is incorrect. Mr. Kruger is enjoying excellent health.

Senator Hanna is Much Better.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Senator Hanna, who has had another attack of grip, is reported much better.

NO HARBOR BILL

House Committee Will Skip a Session.

NEW PROJECTS ARE DOOMED

Large Unexpended Appropriations Cause Action.

CONTINUING CONTRACTS SAFE

Oregon Delegation Hopes to Get The Dames Improvement Under This Head, but is None the Less Disappointed.

BALANCES AVAILABLE.
Balances available for Oregon and Washington rivers and harbors, July 1, 1903:
Willamette above Portland, and Columbia and Lewis Rivers	36,092.93
Columbia and Lower Willamette	168,340.05
Columbia below Tongue Point	23,949.41
South of Columbia River	1,520,905.02
Upper Columbia and Snake	48,643.42
Columbia at three-mile Rapids (Cello)	208,272.02
Casati at the Cascades	10,912.20
Columbia between Vancouver and Willamette	634.01
Clatskanie River	1,054.00
Cowlitz and Lewis Rivers	2,449.07
Coquille River	10,713.57
Emmets and Coquille and harbor	2,000.00
Coos River	2,000.00
Month of Douglas River	21,757.99
Tillamook Bay	4,957.48
Tillamook Bay and bar	17,054.15
Total	$1,920,633.33

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 22.—The river and harbor committee of the House today decided against submitting an appropriation bill for this session of Congress. The decision is a great surprise, and is regretted very much by the Oregon delegation.

At the beginning of Congress, there was some talk that no bill would be presented at this session, but for the past three or four weeks it has been generally understood that the demand for improvements was such that a bill must be passed. Delegations have come to Washington, and told of the injury that would result to their sections, and the committee has listened to them with a view of finding what was needed.

While the disappointment of the Oregon men is great, they hope to secure provision for The Dames improvement in the sundry civil appropriation act, as it can be construed as meaning that it is an authorized contract. Had a bill been passed, it was expected that ample provision would have been made for a deep-water channel from Portland to the sea.

Burton Explains the Action.

In explanation of the postponement of a bill until next session, Chairman Burton made the following statement:

"The main reason for this action was the very large balance appropriation for river and harbor improvements which is now lying in the treasury unexpended. This balance, at the end of last year, was in excess of $3,000,000. In addition to this, it is expected that $3,000,000 or thereabouts, will be appropriated at this session in the sundry civil bill for the continuance of work on rivers and harbors, where improvements are progressing under continuing contracts.

"A considerable number of complaints have been lodged with members of the committee because of slowness in prosecuting improvements. In some cases, appropriations were made several years ago, but nothing yet has been done. In others, which were provided for in the bill of June, 1902, the work is scarcely commenced. The inadequate number of Government engineers engaged in this branch of the service, the delay and difficulty in preparing plans and securing sites for Government works, and the high prices which have prevailed for several years past are all in different degrees, responsible for this delay.

"It is expected that the committee will present a bill at a very early date in the next session, certainly not later than when Congress reconvenes after the holiday recess. In the meantime, some legislation will be recommended by the committee for the necessary maintenance of existing public works, for such general legislation as may be desired, and perhaps also for the examination and survey of new projects.

"The committee decided to continue hearings during this session, and also to meet frequently for the consideration of river and harbor legislation and the demands of such localities as are requesting improvements. The necessity for giving undivided attention to the framing of the bill will prevent hearings at the next session.

PROHIBIT MISBRANDING SALMON

Fulton's Bill Protecting the Columbia Reported to the Senate.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 22.—Senator Fulton today was authorized to report favorably his bill prohibiting the shipment of misbranded salmon, and providing penalties for so doing. When he reported the bill some questions were raised in the Senate.

In answer to a question, by Senator Platt, of Connecticut, for an explanation of the bill, Senator Fulton said it was designed to prevent the practice of falsely branding packed salmon. He explained that the choicest salmon is the Columbia River spring run of that fish; that probably the next best fish is the Puget Sound sockeye; that there are many inferior species of salmon, and some packers make a practice of packing inferior fish under labels that describe them as Columbia River Spring salmon and Puget Sound sockeye salmon, and that Eastern buyers purchase oftentimes unlabeled inferior salmon and label them as Columbia or Puget Sound sockeye salmon. The Columbia River Fall salmon is an inferior fish, yet is oftentimes packed under a Columbia River Spring salmon label.

Klamath Indian Treaty Favored.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 22.—The Senate Committee on Indian affairs today favorably reported Senator Mitchell's bill to ratify the agreement with the Klamath Indians for acquisition of a portion of their lands, amounting to 62,534 acres, for which the Indians are to be paid $37,000.

Chief Joseph is in Washington and urging the Indian Bureau to allow him to return to Idaho.

President Scott Leaves for Home.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 22.—President Scott, of the Exposition Company, left for home today, having decided that the pending legislation for the Lewis and Clark celebration could not be forwarded by his presence. He left everything in good shape, with a very friendly feeling manifested everywhere in favor of the Exposition.

New Northwest Rural Carriers.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 22.—Rural carriers were appointed today as follows:

Oregon—La Grande, regular, James W. Allen; substitute, Mrs. Clara Allen.

Washington—Camas, regular, George H. Chappell; substitute, Andy Chappell.

Hermann Speaks for Tillamook.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 22.—Representative Hermann, was heard by the commerce committee today, when he urged that provision be made for a lifesaving station at Tillamook.

New Oregon Postmaster.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 22.—Walter T. Eakin was appointed postmaster at Rickreall, Or., vice Peter Cook, resigned.

GOOD QUEEN IS REMEMBERED.

Third Anniversary of the Death of Victoria is Observed.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The third anniversary of the death of Queen Victoria was observed today. There was the usual memorial service at Frogmore, which was attended by the King, Queen Alexandra and other members of the royal family. The anniversary of the King's accession to the throne was marked by salutes at the naval and military stations and the dressing of the windows.

Kaiser Attends Services.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—Emperor William today attended a memorial service in honor of Queen Victoria at the English Church here and unveiled tablets in memory of Queen Victoria and the late Empress Frederick.

CONTENTS OF TODAY'S PAPER

- Political.
- Henry Watterson says Bryan is a tool in the hands of the Republicans. Page 1.
- Talk of opposition to Roosevelt will result in delegates being instructed. Page 2.
- Roosevelt and Hanna discuss the Ohio situation. Page 3.
- Senator Hanna deems the growth of Socialism in the Senate of the day. Page 1.
- Congress.
- House committee decides there will be no river and harbor bill this session. Page 1.
- Fulton's bill protecting the Columbia against misbranded salmon is reported to the Senate. Page 1.
- Senate passes German resolution calling on President for Panama papers. Page 2.
- House passes 200 pension bills. Page 2.
- Far Eastern Situation.
- Japan lands troops at Maseampo, Corea. Page 4.
- Corans attack Japanese in many sections. Page 4.
- Russia will not deliver answer for another day. Page 4.
- Domestic.
- Tornado at Tuscaloosa, Ala. kills 37 people, injures 100 and wrecks the town. Page 1.
- Thaw in the East is causing great floods, and many cities are greatly alarmed, particularly Pittsburg. Page 3.
- Chicago theater owners both shift the blame for the Iroquois disaster. Page 5.
- Pacific Coast.
- Insistent creditors try to force B. B. Wade, of Pendleton, into involuntary bankruptcy; Wade said to be about to go to Europe. Page 1.
- Pleasant Armstrong hanged at Baker City for the murder of Minnie Ensminger. Page 6.
- Drunken Willow Creek, Wash., farmer falls into horse trough and is drowned. Page 6.
- Plan to prevent plagiarism in intercollegiate oratorical contests. Page 7.
- Sports.
- Committee of big baseball leagues coming to get Pacific Coast League to join National Association. Page 14.
- Conflict of dates among Coast kennel clubs for dog shows. Page 14.
- San Nicholas, the favorite at Oakland, is badly beaten by Irida, never even getting place. Page 14.
- Benny Yanger and Herrera are matched to fight at Butte next month. Page 14.
- Commercial and Marine.
- Decline in wheat at Chicago. Page 15.
- Strong party manipulating New York stock market. Page 15.
- Review of trade by mercantile agencies. Page 15.
- San Francisco produce quotations. Page 15.
- Clallam wreck inquiry postponed. Page 14.
- Portland and Vicinity.
- Judge Carey replies to ex-Senator Simon. Page 16.
- Outside creamerymen fear a better war. Page 16.
- Lewis and Clark Fair will print 300,000 books. Page 12.
- City Hall clerks complain of civil service questions. Page 10.
- Wheat shipments of the season. Page 11.
- Women's Club discusses equal suffrage and needed reforms in the city jail. Page 12.
- People of Mt. Tabor oppose establishment of insane asylum in their midst. Page 11.
- Assessment of 1904 to be greatly increased. Page 16.
- Boatmen celebrate Burns' birthday. Page 7.

THREAT OF TODAY

Hanna So Deems Spread of Socialism.

VITAL ISSUE IS AT STAKE

Initiative and Personal Energy Would Receive Deathblow.

AMERICAN SPIRIT WILL RISE

People Will Never Consent to a Division of Goods to Insure Comfort to the Worthless—Labor Unions Praised.

HANNA ON SOCIALISM.

Fairness and prejudice will never agree to the confederation of the products of one man's toil in order to insure comfort to the idle and worthless. No "ism" is wanted by the American people that will take from any citizen the just and equitable reward of his labor. Both capital and labor must yield in time to the great law of fair dealing, man to man. I wish I could impress upon every American the individual responsibility that rests upon each one of us. Every year of experience, every dollar of accumulated capital, every talent we possess, should be regarded as a sacred charge for the good of the Nation to help in uplifting the interests of rich and poor, learned and unlearned.

Socialism the Menace of Today.

"The menace of today, as I view it, is the spread of a spirit of socialism, one of those things which is only half understood and is more or less used to inflame the popular mind against all individual initiative and personal energy, which have been the very essence of American progress."

"There is a split of co-operation, or community of interests, which some people may confound with socialism, that is making headway with us; but when any one attempts, for political or financial reasons, to advocate the whole programme of European socialism, he will find little prospect of the seeds taking root in American soil. This, I think, was demonstrated very conclusively in the Ohio campaign, where higher socialism was brought forth as an issue.

"Fairness and prejudice will never agree to the confederation of the products of one man's toil in order to insure comfort to the idle and worthless. No 'ism' is wanted by the American people that will take from any citizen the just and equitable reward of his labor. Both capital and labor must yield in time to the great law of fair dealing, man to man. I wish I could impress upon every American the individual responsibility that rests upon each one of us. Every year of experience, every dollar of accumulated capital, every talent we possess, should be regarded as a sacred charge for the good of the Nation to help in uplifting the interests of rich and poor, learned and unlearned."

"It is often asked what is to become of the nonorganized consumer if an amicable alliance is made between labor and capital. But every man belongs to the one or the other group; for that matter, he is likely to belong to both.

"I took some time to consider the work of the Civic Federation, and am firmly convinced that it is the object to which I desire to consecrate the remaining years of my life. I fully appreciate that it is a long struggle, but the progress already made under the motto of the Civic Federation—the golden rule—has surpassed even my most sanguine expectations, and I am sure the American people will sustain a policy based upon the highest moral and social impulse which will eliminate the passionate prejudices that now exist between capital and labor."

Discussing some of the objects of the Civic Federation, Senator Hanna writes:

"Until within a comparatively few years big capitalists, or the employing interest, have had the advantage because there were more workmen than there was work. But conditions have changed, and for every workman, on an average, there are two jobs now, in the byday of our prosperity, and it is expecting too much of human nature to suppose that workmen shall not desire a larger share of the profits. Has not this motive been the stimulating incentive of the men who are making business affairs? No one who is acquainted with union labor for the past few years can fail to recognize the wonderful advancement that has been made by conservative, cool-headed and thoroughly practical management of these matters by the workmen themselves.

"Probably the greatest task of the society will be the creation of economic alliances between nations with common interests. The society adopted as a cardinal principle the necessity for directing the attention of the peoples and governments of Central Europe to their common economic interests. The meeting was attended by 150 leading economists, politicians, manufacturers, merchants and landowners. It is intended to include in the scope of the operations of the society the powers forming the triple alliance—France, Switzerland, the Netherlands and Scandinavia.

"Labor organizations may be open to sharp criticism at times, but it cannot be fairly stated that they are always wrong. If every man is treated as a man and an appeal made to his heart as well as to his reason, it will establish a bond of confidence as a sure foundation to build upon. While labor unions may have been a curse to England, I believe they will prove a boon to our own country when a proper basis of confidence and respect is established.

BRYAN A TOOL?

Henry Watterson Says So Plainly.

IN HANDS OF ENEMY

Made Much of Abroad for an Object.

"A DEVIL OF A FELLOW"

Ambassadors "Instructed" to Create This Impression.

EDITOR SIZES UP NEBRASKAN

Accuses Him of Nothing Worse Than Being an Inconsiderate and Conceited Man—His Principles Termed "Faith Cure."

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 22.—(Special)—Republicans are accused of having used William Jennings Bryan as a tool on his recent foreign tour in an editorial which Henry Watterson will publish in the Courier-Journal tomorrow. The principles Mr. Bryan advocates are denominated the "Faith Cure." The editorial is as follows:

"Mr. Bryan's presence in the foreign capitals could only have been officially known through the American Embassies. It could only have been officially recognized through the interposition of the American Ambassadors. That they were 'under instructions' goes without saying. It being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell—for a sartin and in Yuba dam, the man from Nebraska is 'some punkin,' as the saying has it, and upon his return this without anachronism being to the immediate interest of the Republican party to magnify Mr. Bryan, and a chance to pack the newspapers believe him 'a devil of a fellow,' equally in Europe and America. So the word went forth in London, in Paris and in Rome—no less than in hell