Our old friend Wm. Altnow was quite severely burned one day this week while robbing bees at his home on Otis creek. He had covered his head and hands with mosquito netting and his blower used to smoke the bees begun to burn too freely. Mr. Altnow raised it to his face to blow it out and in doing so it caught the wrappings he had about his face for protection, in attempting to smother the blaze out with his hands the coverings on the latter caught fire. Mrs. Voegtly came to his rescue, but he had a very narrow escape, his face and hands being quite badly burned. He fears it has injured his eye sight.

James Mahon arrived here from Ontario Wednesday evening. While out there he succeeded in getting a settlement in the Grundike estate with Attorney W. R. King and the matter is now practically wound up outside of some probating. Jim left his wool in C. E. Kenyon's hands to dispose of the stipulation being that should Charley sell for 20 cents Jim was to buy two Panama hats. He had to buy the hats before he left Ontario, the wool having brought 20¾ cents per pound. This is one of the top notch prices and Jim is to be congratulated. It pays to run good stock. This is Mr. Reinholz's third trip here and he is most favorably impressed. He desired to see conditions at various seasons, coming first in February, then in May. His trip this month has convinced him of the adaptability of our county for agricultural pursuits. These gentlemen represent about twenty families of Germans all of whom will likely come as they find land so situated that all may settle on adjoining claims. They state that we will see many people coming to our valley to locate as soon as the harvesting season is over.
