MAY MAKE NEW SURVEY

We will be prepared to start construction of our canals in Central Oregon one week after the government approves our survey plans," said Chief Engineer Boschke, of the Harriman lines in the Northwest, to an Oregonian reporter the other day.

Mr. Boschke admitted that the only question holding up the approval is the investigation now being made by Supervising Engineer E. C. Hopson, of the reclamation service, who has officially made the request for all information and data obtained over the various routes surveyed into Central Oregon by the Harriman lines. This information is considered essential by the government before it can pass on the Harriman application for right-of-way through public lands on the Deschutes. From the information the reclamation service officials expect to arrive at a decision as to whether the Deschutes river is more valuable for the conservation of water for power purposes than for railway purposes.

Should the reclamation service consider that the dam is paramount, it is practically decided that Mr. Harriman will not build Central Oregon over the Deschutes route but will be compelled to have entirely fresh surveys made over different routes.

RECORD OF SPECIAL SESSION.

Following is the record of the special session of the Oregon Legislature:

STILL ON PAPER.

The Boise to Coos Bay railroad is still on paper as yet, but it sounds good as one of the development slogans of the great Pacific Northwest region, and there are plenty of grounds and reasons for believing that it will some day be a reality. It would traverse a magnificent and mightily resourceful region, and make a short cut from eastern centers to a new and very important railroad terminus on the Pacific coast. That Coos Bay will eventually become such a terminal cannot be reasonably doubted, and that the basin and the intervening regions should look upon this terminal with favor and hope is natural. The Boise to Coos Bay railroad is no impractical and visionary dream. It is believed in by very practical and able business men, and influences are actively at work and will probably make it an important reality.—Portland Journal.

Do Not Trifle With a Cold

Is good advice for men and women. It may be taken in the case of a child. Long experience has proven that there is nothing like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds in children than any other medicine. It contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given with perfect confidence.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

Stiff Neck.

Stiff neck is caused by rheumatism of the muscles of the neck. It is usually confined to one side, or to the back of the neck and one side. While it is often quite painful, quick relief may be had by applying Chamberlains Liniment. No one case of rheumatism in to requires internal treatment. When there is no fever and no swelling as in muscular and chronic rheumatism Chamberlain's Liniment will accomplish more than any internal treatment. For sale by all good dealers.

NEW CLUBBING PROPOSITION

We have arranged to offer in connection with this paper, the new monthly farm magazine just started at Lincoln, Nebraska, by Prof. H. W. Campbell and devoted to the subject of how to farm in the dry country and how to get best results from soil tillage under normal conditions. This Paper is Campbell's Scientific Farmer and we offer it clubbed with The Times-Terald both for $2.50 per year cash. Prof. Campbells' new paper is a monthly, chock full of good things, the only paper of its kind in the world, and it embodies the results of the editor's many years of painstaking investigation of the soil tillage proposition.

An Ideal Cough Medicine.

"As an ideal cough medicine I regard Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in a class by itself," says Dr. R. A. Wiltshire, of Gwynneville, Ind. "I take great pleasure in testifying to the results of Chamberlain's Cough Medicine. In fact; I know of no other preparation that meets so fully the expectations of the most exacting in cases of croup and coughs of children. As it contains no opium, chloroform or morphine it certainly makes a most safe, pleasant and efficacious remedy for the ills it is intended. For sale by all good dealers.
