—Last Wednesday, as William Clark's little son was running to the open door, he fell and split his tongue.

—Geo. W. Hayes of Lake county will teach the school on the Island, near Robt. Terrell's place.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Garrett were in town from Silver Creek last Wednesday and Thursday, looking as bright and hearty as if that were a good country to live in.

—J. E. Joy of Burns received a letter this week written him in November last, telling of the death of his sister Edith in August, three years ago, by a stroke of lightning, which destroyed the house at the time, her remains burning with it. The baby was rescued, although it was sleeping with its unfortunate mother; the three children were saved. Among the friends that aided the broken family was the G. A. R. Post of their town.

—Stephen Lampshier's son arrived at his father's, near Burns, last week, from England. He is a fine lad of 17 years, and when Mr. L. left England he was but eleven months old.

—Wm. Buffington came in from Diamond Monday for Dr. McPheeters to go to that valley to attend Andy Lucas, who is very sick.

—D. H. Smythe's wife is very sick, we are sorry to learn. There is considerable illness among citizens resultant from debilitating weather changes.

—The Geo. Pope & Co. Wool Commission house of Portland, Oregon, is represented in Burns by Peter McIntyre, who is offering our woolgrowers the best market prices, as will be seen elsewhere in these columns.

—As we understand, the attornies for the Red-S settlers against whom suit was brought by Singletary, Hayes & Brooks, failed to appear in court on behalf of their clients, and their cause was lost. Deputy Marshal Harper ejected the settlers from their dwellings and locked the doors; the settlers are reported camping by their late habitations in their determination to hold to the land until some further rulings relating thereto reaches them. This Red-S land in dispute comprises the least number of acres of unsettled lands, therefore if immigrants passing through the Harney country are tempted to stop and make homes, and are averse to contention over titles, let them take claims not in dispute—there are thousands of acres of undisputed good lands open for entry.

B. BROWN, Burns, Or.

Pat. McGinnis' Doom.

CANYON CITY, Or., Feb. 3.

ED. HERALD: Last evening I received a telegram from Sheriff Gray who is now at Salem, which in substance reads as follows:

"The judgment of the Circuit Court of Grant county, in the case of the State of Oregon vs. Pat. McGinnis, is confirmed by the Supreme Court."

The fiend who committed the most brutal murder ever perpetrated in Grant county, and who has been looking forward for a new trial will meet his just deserts in due time. Respectfully yours,

J. J. MCCULLOUGH.

Better than Ever.

It did seem as though the seedsmen outdid themselves last year in the line of elaborate catalogues, but here comes Vick's Floral Guide for 1889, from Rochester, N. Y., better than all previous issues. "Better" hardly expresses it—rather, we should say, far superior. It has been changed in every respect: new illustrations, new type, enlarged in size (opening like an old-fashioned singing-book); contains three elegant lithographs (8x10½ inches), of roses, geraniums, melons, and tomatoes; besides a very fine plate of the late James Vick and his three sons, who now own and manage this large business. These features must make the Floral Guide valuable to their many thousands of customers in this country.

We also notice that Vick returns to the plan started by the founder of the business years ago of offering cash prizes at the State Fair. One would think they were a little out of their heads to offer to the public such a work as the Guide free, for that is what it amounts to, when they say it will be sent on receipt of fifteen cents and that a certificate good for 15 cents worth of seed will be returned with the Guide.

—Two stackyards of Red-S hay were totally destroyed by fire week before last. From the defiant tone of an incendiary letter published last week by the secretaries of the meadow-land settlers' Union, the belief has become current that this hay was purposely burned. If such be the fact, and if that letter correctly represents the feelings of the settlers on these hay lands, then this part of Harney valley is afflicted with a dangerous element among her people—dangerous because of setting protective law at defiance. The great majority of the settlers in this part of the valley, as elsewhere in the Harney country, we have found to be as good, law-abiding class of men as immigrants have met with in any part of the country, and in no wise endorse any act of lawlessness.

—If an industrious farmer wants to make money comfortably next season with which to set himself up in the Harney country, let him consider B. Brown's offer in this issue.

—P. F. Stenger arrived in town Tuesday evening, looking hale and hearty.

—The Vale-Burns stage got in Tuesday at 4:30 p. m. This is the best of time.

The Blacksmith of Lyons.

The hero of this remarkably vigorous and exciting romance is forced by adverse circumstances to become an humble workman, when by right he should be enjoying all the luxuries of affluence. Contact with the common people, the producers wealth, develops the nobility of his nature; he sees how they are ill-treated and despised by those whom the chances of fortune have placed above them, and he becomes their advocate and defender. His power is so dreaded by unscrupulous foes that he is made the victim of a startling accusation, and punished for a crime that he never committed. A pleasing love-story is artistically woven with the more exciting events of the work, and the plot is a marvel of ingenuity. Prof. Wm. Henry Peck is the author and Street & Smith the publishers of this well told tale, which is No. 4 of their "Sea and Shore Series."

—Lakeview Examiner: Judge Wilshire has gone to Jacksonville to argue on the Rehart divorce case before Judge Webster.

—Col. Elliott returned last evening with instructions to inspect the land in the new Warner survey.

—Canyon City News: Sheriff Gray accompanied by C. W. Parrish, started to Salem, Tuesday morning, having in charge the insane man, Frank Owens.

House Bill No. 69 for the creation of Harney county, is in some respects like the one introduced two years ago.

A Bird'seye View of the World.

There is a wide spread demand by all readers and students for a work that shall furnish compactly and attractively, all the essential facts and statistics of the different regions of the world and the races inhabiting it. All this information has been industriously sought, carefully tested and proved, and is brilliantly told in one handy and handsome volume by Onesime Reclus, the famous French geographer and savant.

The author has really succeeded to a surprising degree in accomplishing his purpose. It is a wonderful book and there is none like it. It is just what its title represents it to be—a book all around the world—but it is the world seen through eyes of the largest intelligence and described with inimitable vigor, freshness and picturesque grace, combined with studious and painstaking accuracy. The result is the story of the world. The more the volume is looked into the greater is the sense of its wide scope and its masterly preparation. Attractive reading for the family gathered around the evening lamp, it is also a handy book for immediate reference for the busy man who would illuminate his daily news with more accurate information.

In brief, a great deal of hard work, painstaking, and skill have gone into this work, which is no catch-penny concern, presenting a huddled mass of pitch-forked facts to the innocent reader under pretense of cyclopedic information. It is what it professes to be: a short view of all the peoples and countries under the sun, so arranged and digested that a great deal of useful and interesting knowledge is packed handily in a limited space. While a child would never tire of the fascination of the facts illuminated by 571 illustrations of which 69 are full-page, the most thoroughly read man will find on every page something, the importance of which he never fully realized until a geographical expert presents it with scientific effect in attractive phraseology. The man who prepared this work is a genius in such effort. There are no weak spots in it. The publishers have done their best for the mechanical part of the work and their enterprise leaves nothing to be desired in that respect.

The J. Dewing Company, 813 Market st., San Francisco, Cal. are the sole agents for the work this side of the Rocky Mountains, and all applications for agencies should be addressed them.
