THE HERALD.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1889.

D. L. GRACE, NELLIE GRACE, } - - - Editors.

THE HERALD and Free Press, the best local and family papers, both for only $2.50 a year.

Throw Stones, Glass Houses and so on.

A. B. Webdell has demonstrated the fact that a man can visit the Harney country and return without encountering the risk of being murdered. He can't imagine why some of his friends in the Willamette valley should exhibit so much uneasiness for his safety because he happened to visit Harney valley to look after his stock interest out there. He insists that the Harney people are perfectly tame.—Prineville News.

THE HERALD thinks the News will do well to be silent on the subject of the Harney land troubles of the past haying season, that resulted in no blood-shed, while Crook county's stock inspector, Geo Nutting, was so mysteriously made way with while in the discarge of his official duty, and the bloody-prints left by Brose's vile deed against Shields Looney yet fresh on the ground.

American Newspaper Annual for 1889.

Contains a carefully prepared list of all Newspapers and Periodicals in the United States and Canada, arranged by States and Towns in alphabetical order. Under this head is given the name of the paper, the issue, general characteristics, year of establishment, size, subscription prices and circulation, also, the names of Editors and Publishers, and the street address (when known) in all cities of about 50,000 population.

It enumerates the various Press and Editorial Associations, throughout the United States and Canada together with list of officers.

It contains the list of all Newspapers inserting Advertisements, arranged in States by Counties, with the distinctive features and circulation of each paper.

Also complete list of all the Religious or Agricultural Periodicals, of Medical, Commercial, Scientific, Educational, or any other of the class publications, as well as all the publications printed in foreign languages, and a vast amount of general and statistical information of practical value to almost every business man.

One of its chief features is a carefully-prepared description of every County in the United States, setting forth its locations, area, adjoining navigable streams, the character of its surface, the nature of its soil, its leading crops and manufactures, its County-seat and population. A similar, but more elaborate descriptive heading, is appended to each State, Territory, and Canadian Province. The county headings also show, from the United States census of 1880, the number of manufacturing establishments of all kinds at that time; the amount of capital invested in them, the number of hands employed, and the value of annual products. The State heading show, in addition to the summary of the foregoing, the amount paid in wages, and value of the raw material used.

These headings are subject to constant and careful revision. The growth and development of the various sections is noted and embodied in them from year to year, thus forming a valuable compendium of the physical features and the agricultural and manufacturing resources of the country.

It gives the Population of every State, Territory, County and County-seat, of all the large Cities and Towns, and of almost every place in which a Newspaper is published, taken either from the United States census of 1880, or from the State census of 1885, in every instance where such census was taken, or from recent careful estimates.

It also gives the number of votes polled in each State, Territory and County by the Republican, Democratic, Greenback and Prohibition parties at the Presidential Election of 1888.

Among its exhaustive and interesting tables are those showing the cities, towns, and villages of the United States having a population of five thousand and upward, arranged in alphabetical order; how many counties there are in each State; in how many of these Newspapers are published; in how many towns of each State papers exist, and how many of these towns are county-seats, and how many Newspapers there are altogether in the country at large, or in any of its great sections, or in any State, Territory, or Canadian Province, how many there are of each issue, with a comparative statement of the increase in 1889 over 1888. Price, $5.00, carriage paid.

Our Canyon City Correspondent's Letter from Portland.

EDS. HERALD: Your valuable paper is to hand once again, and right pleased am I to hear, through its newsy columns, that "Burns still holds her own," against all competition; longmay she reign supreme!

Your correspondent is now on a tramp, having taken a spin over from Canyon City to Prairie, thence to Baker City, thence to the grand metropolis of our grand State, as well as the city of cities of this great northwest, viz: Portland."

I find this thriving place at present alive with people from all sections of not only Oregon, but, also, from Washington, California, Montana, and other Pacific States and Teritories. The City being alive with strangers. The cause of so many strangers being here is very easily explained. The First Annual Exposition of the North Pacific Industrial Exposition, being the cause. Your correspondent had an opportunity to attend the same on Saturday eve last, and to tell your readers that a crowd was there, does not by a half explain matters. Just think of a crowd to the extent of only 20,000 people being in the immense building at one time, and you have a picture of the vast multitude that was present at one eve's entertainment.

Liberati's band of New York City, consisting of 40 persons, was the music selected by the committee of the Association, and praise too great cannot be given to the parties having had music to select, as every member in this great and talented band is within himself, a musician, and their selections are heartily encored by the vast multiude of people, during the entire eve, very often the band responded by playing some very catching air.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

ILLUSTRATED.

HARPER'S BAZAR will continue to maintain its reputation as an unequalled family journal. Its illustrations are of the highest order, its literature is of the choicest kind, and its Fashion and Household departments are of the most practical and economical character. Its pattern sheet supplements and fashion-plates alone will save its readers ten times the cost of subscription, and its articles on decorative art, social etiquette, house-keeping, cookery, etc., make it indispensable to every household. Its bright short stories, and timely essays are among the best published; and not a line is admitted to its columns that could offend the most fastidious taste. Among the attractions of the new volume will be serial stories by MRS. FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT, MRS. ALEXANDER, WILLIAM BLACK, and THOMAS HARDY, and a series of papers on nursery management by MRS. CHRISTINE TERHUNE HERRICK.

THE CELEBRATED ILLUSTRATED HUMO
TEXAS SIFTI

The subscription price of SIFTINGS is $1 a year. It is profusely illustrated by the leading artists and caricaturists of the day; of original humor, it is acknowledged to stand at the head of the country, and has been well named "The Witty Weekly." It is published in New York and has a National reputation. The merits are so well known that we do not deem it necessary to refer to them.

Both new subscribers and those who renew their subscriptions have the privilege of this offer.

REMEMBER that TEXAS SIFTINGS is offered at this low price only to those who subscribe within the next 60 days. No such offer as this has been made before. We offer the two papers for less than the price of TEXAS SIFTINGS alone.

No one but our subscribers can get SIFTINGS for less than $1.00. The publishers, being desirous of adding to their list of subscribers in this locality, have made a special and extraordinary reduction to us for a limited period.

The amount for both papers should be sent direct to us in Post Office Note, or otherwise, and we shall order the publishers to mail the New York to you for one year.

Call, or write to this office, and you will get a sample copy of SIFTINGS.

A WONDERFU

Many suppose DEMOREST'S to be a fashion magazine. It undoubtedly contains more PATTERNS of any magazine, but the case from which they are taken is about equal to a romance in point of interest. It gives a dozen magazines in one, in the shape of Complete Stories, Poems and Essays, Illustrated Articles, Sketches, Adventures, Biography, Science, Art, Photogravures, Water Colors, etc., making it the most Attractive Monthly Magazine. Each copy contains a coupon which entitles the holder to the selection of ANY PATTERN illustrated in any number of the series manufactured, each valued at from 20 cents to $1 (cost of one pattern).

Yearly subscription, $2.00. A trial will convince you that you get more than the value of the money paid. Single copies (each containing Pattern Coupon) 30 cents.

Published by W. JENNINGS DEMOREST.

The above combination is a splendid chance to get our paper at a reduced rate. Send your subscriptions to this office.
