ITALY, in refusing to have anything to do with the World's Fair, because New Orleans sent a few of her (Italy) convicts and murderers over the river, should carry her good intentions, for that class of her subjects, still further by not allowing them to come to America, but keep them at home where they can be protected in their lawless career.

MANY years practice have given C. A. Snow & Co., solicitors of patents at Washington, D. C. unsurpassed success in obtaining patents for all classes of inventions. They make a specialty of rejected cases and have secured allowance of many patents that have been previously rejected. Their advertisement in another column, will be of interest to inventors, patentees, manufacturers and all who have to do with patents.

THE Farmers' Alliance seems to be here to stay. We hope the effect will be for good; but still if their only desire is to protect their own business, utterly ignoring the rights of all others, we can't see why their battle cry should be "down with all monopolies." We would advise consistency, and while it is perfectly correct and proper for the farmers to protect their interest, we cannot agree with them that it is proper to form a bread monopoly.

OUR exchanges gives the news that Baron Fava, the Italian minister, has declared to the secretary of state, that as the United States government has given no assurance that the murderers of Italian subjects, acquitted by American magistrates, and murdered while under the immediate protection of the authorities of New Orleans, would be brought to justice, the Italian government has found itself under the painful necessity of showing openly its dissatisfaction by recalling the minister of his majesty from a country where an Italian representative is unable to obtain justice.

While recalling their minister they had also better recall their cut-throat subjects, the U. S. has no earthly use for them.

WHY is it that so many persons will condemn a country, town or people without any just cause for doing so?

Parties will leave certain localities, expecting the change to be favorable to them, in a financial point of view, knowing at the same time that if money is scarce, making "hard times" in the country they are quitting, it is just as likely to be "hard times" in the country or locality to which they are going. After arriving at their destination, if every thing isn't just as they pictured it in their own imagination they become immediately dissatisfied with the country, and instead of going to work to help make the country prosperous, they spend their time sitting around and in their conversation condemn the country and every one in it; or may be (which is better for the country) pull up stakes and trudge along looking for the "bonanza" their imagination has told, awaits them just a short distance ahead. Thus they go on, fondly expecting to find that land of "milk and honey," where enterprise is a fool and industry a myth.

We have some such men in Harney county. There are exceptions in all cases: a few of these parties have been unfortunate and, altho', they have used capital and industry, have not succeeded. Those persons we do not blame for grunting, but by far the larger portion of the discontented are individuals who have never tried to do anything for themselves or neighbors.

There is one fact that stands out paramount on the relief. That is: Harney is certain to make a rich and prosperous county. We have the stock range, we have the farming land; but as a general thing the immigrants are of that class of people who have not the money to develop the country rapidly. Whereas men have to work for a support for their families, and at the same time put their ranches under fence and in a state of cultivation, without some money to help on with the work, it is an uphill business.

What Harney wants particularly is men with enterprise and some money. We have laborers sufficient. Now we desire a class of men to invest and to take a class of put them to work.

HERALD'S WASHINGTON LETTER.

A Synopsis of a Week's Working at the White House.

[From our regular Correspondent]

WASHINGTON, D. C. March 29, 1891.

Ex-Senator Mahone became a republican and attained his first political prominence through as dastardly a political bargain as ever was made in this or any other country by persons as eminent as the President of the United States and a member of the Senate. By that bargain Mahone obtained much notoriety and absolute control of the Federal patronage of Virginia as the price of his allegiance to the republican party. He has now made another bargain, by which he hopes to again get his grip upon the throat of Virginia. His partner in the present enterprise is that blatant Washington negro demagogue John M. Langston, who, for office holding purposes, claims a residence in Virginia, and who has broken Mahone's power in his own district by taking the negro vote away from him.

The terms of the bargain, as told to me, are that Langsten shall again turn the negro vote over to Mahone, who is to resume his position as republican boss of Virginia, in return for which Mahone is to urge the name of Langston upon Mr. Harrison for one of the new United States Circuit Judgeships. It is believed that Mr. Harrison has already partly promised to elevate Langston to the bench, and that he had this bargain in mind when he told the delegation of cheeky negroes, calling themselves "journalists," several days ago, that he would be pleased to consider the name of a member of their race whom they considered sufficiently learned in the law to discharge the duties of a judge. Harrison is to get the solid Virginia delegation to the next republican national convention for his pay. If he dares to appoint this negro, Langston, to the bench he will also get, and fully deserve the execration of ninety-nine decent white men out of every hundred in every section of the country. It is entirely in keeping with Mahone's political career that it should wind up in a partnership with a negro.

The trial of Judge Charles E. Kincaid, who while a Washington correspondent shot and killed ex-Representative Taulbee, of Kentucky, in the Capitol building on February 28, 1890 is going on this week and is attracting much attention. The defence is self defence Ex-Representative Grosvenor, of Ohio, has taken the place of Senator Vorhees, who is under treatment at the Arkansas Hot Springs, as Kincaids chief councel. A feature of the trial was the cross-examination of Samuel Dodson, of Tennessee, ex-Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives who stated in answer to questions which the judge directed him to answer, that he was by occupation a lobyist and that at the time of the shooting he was working in the interest of the Western Union Telegraph company. This public admission will not be pleasant news for a number of Congressmen who have been in the habit of chumming with "Sam" around the capitol corridors and restaurants.

Russell Harrison, who is said to be mixed up in several speculations involving questions affecting public lands, has succeeded in having his man, ex-Representative Carter of Montana, appointed Commissioner of the General Land Office, to succeed Judge Groff who was compelled to resign, because he would not change his opinion in order to oblige Secretary Noble. There's nothing like being a son of the appointing power, and nobody knows any better than Russell.

A copy of the letter from Governor Nichols replying to Mr. Blaine's excited telegram sent on the day the Sicilians were lynched at New Orleans, was sent to the Italian minister as soon as it was received at the department of State. He has not since been heard from regarding it; and he declines to see newspaper men who have called at the legislation.

The National Association of Democratic Clubs has sent a circular letter to democratic clubs all over the country requesting them to appropriately celebrate the anniversary of the birthday of Thomas Jefferson Thursday April 2d. The letter calls attention to the contrast between the simplicity of Jefferson with the prodigality, centralization, favoritism and corruption of the last Congress, of which it says: They could go no farther for they have exhausted the surplus in the treasury and in the McKinley bill, raised taxes and prices to the last points of endurance. The time is especially appropriate—while celebrating the birth of the great apostle of liberty—to rejoice over the popular repudiation and a final adjournment of the odious billion dollar Congress, whose existence was a menace alike to the freedom, the prosperity and the business of the country.

Considerable scandal has been created by the State department sending ex-minister Foster, who is known to be a paid attorney of the Spanish Government, to Madrid as a special envoy, and the matter isn't mended any by the knowledge, but he is accompanied by that worthless young scapegrace, James G. Blaine Jr. who would not be tolerated in decent society—he is only just tolerated—were it not for consideration of his parents feelings.

Corp-Weather Bulletin No .

Of the Oregon Weather bureau, Central Office, Portland Oregon. For the week ending Saturday, March 28, 1891.

WEATHER.

Continued cool, partly cloudy weather, with showers have prevailed. The nights have been very cool, several frosts occuring, which did no damage. A slight hail storm of small area occured in Clackamas and Wasco counties on the 22d and in Washington county on the 27th.

Snow fell on the Cascades on the 17th and 23d. Snow also fell in Morrow county on the 22d, which melted as fast as it fell. Some snow yet remains on the ground in Gilliam, Grant, Crook and Klamath counties in the mountains the snow has not yet commenced to melt. In parts of Oregon the ground freezes at night and thaws in the day time.

CROPS.

The showers during the week have kept the soil very moist, so much so that in the Willamette valley spring seeding and plowing has been greatly retarded, seeding is farther advanced in Southern Oregon, while in Umatilla county it is about one half done. In Morrow county an unusually large acreage will be sown. Throughout Eastern Oregon the soil is well moistened and prospects for excellent crops are good. Throughout the State winter wheat is reported to have stood the winter well, and to be of good stand and color. There was very little frozen out. In Clackamas county the wheat is 6 inches high.

Grass has had a good start, but somewhat slow in growth. In Yamhill county acreage of oats, hay and fruit increased, the latter very largely so. There is a slight shortage in winter wheat

Fruit is very backward. The season is very favorable to it however, for it's being now retarded insures it against possible late frost. Peaches, almonds and apricots are in bloom, in many sections; pear and cherry buds swelling. Currant, goose and strawberries are in bloom. Fruit prospects are indeed very flattering and if no unusual conditions arise the yield will be large.

STOCK.

The stock are reported in good condition. Range is good for them and there has been little loss during the winter. The lambing season is on and there is very little loss, less rain would be more beneficial to them. The spring wool clip promises to be large, clean and of good quality.

HEALTH.

"La grippe" is prevalent in some sections but no deaths, measles are common in various counties. The general health is, however, good.

The general conditions of the weather most needed are warmth and sunshine, with occasional showers.

Gods blessing to humanity—So says an Oregon Pioneer Ninety Years Old.

Forest Grove, Or., March 19—I have used the Oregon Kidney Tea and obtained immediate relief. It is God's blessing to humanity. I take pleasure in recommending it to the afflicted. I am now nearly ninety years old, came to Oregon in 1842 in the employ of the Hudson's Bay Company, and since I began using the Oregon Kidney tea I enjoy good health.

Character in Handwriting.

Graphology, which is very lightly in this country, is vastly considered in England, where many women, young and old, make a profound study of reading characters through the handwriting. In the society set, a Miss Valentine is often startingly successful. Not long ago at a breakfast, the company listened with breathless interest while she unfolded the virtues, vices, ambition and vagaries of the authors of various specimens of handwriting presented for her consideration. Merely from the address of an American she minutely and accurately described the writer, even telling that the lady was a skilled musician. One of the men produced an envelope directed to himself, and she announced instantly: "The man who wrote that is a clergyman, and I should think rather high in the church." It actually proved to be from the Bishop of Lincoln. A young daughter of Sir William Bruce is said to be the most remarkable palmist in England, but is chary of exhibiting her skill.—Illustrated American.

Takes 1000 people to buy Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, at 50 cents a bottle, to make up $500. One failure to cure would take the profit from 4000 sales. Its makers promise to cure "cold in the head," and even chronic catarrh, and if they fail they pay $500 for their overconfidence.

Not in newspaper words but in hard cash! Think of what confidence it takes to put that in the papers—and mear it.

Its makers believe in the remedy. Isn't it worth a trial? Isn't any trial preferable to catarrh?

After all, the mild agencies are the best. Perhaps they work more slowly, but they work surely. Dr. Pierce's pleasant pellets are an active agency but quiet and mild. They're sugar-coated, easy to take, never shock nor derange the system and half their power is the mild way in which their work is done. Smallest, cheapest, easiest to take. One a dose. Twenty-five cents a vial. Of all druggists.

STRICTURE!

Permanently Cured without Cutting Burning or Dilating. A perfectly painless treatment and a guarenteed cure in every case, no matter how long standing. This treatment for Stricture, of Dr. Boxwell's, is the greatest discovery known to Medicine. It dissolves and completely removes the Stricture without annoyance or pain to the patient.

DISEASES OF MEN!

Peculiar to their Sex, and not proper to name here, including all those delicate Infirmities and Weaknesses which they would shrink from disclosing to their family physician, permanently cured in less time than was ever known to Medicine before, by Dr. Boxwell's "New System of Treatment." It rejuvenates the genito-urinary organs and makes weak men strong.

When possible, it is always best to call for personal consultation and special examination. But those who cannot possibly call, should write, stating their case fully. Medicine sent by mail or express, sealed free from exposure, to all parts of Pacific coast. Address:

WM. A. BOXWELL, M. D., Consulting Physician, St. Paul Dispensary, Portland, Oregon.

The Druggists

In Lowell, Mass., agree in saying that they sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of all other blood purifiers. For instance:

F. C. GOODALE: I sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than all other blood purifiers.

A. W. DOWS & CO: Hood's takes the lead of Sarsaparillas in our business.

C. P. BLANCHARD: We sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of all others.

MARSTON & SHAW: We sell the sale of Hood's is 10 to 1 of any other kind.

F. & E. BAILEY & CO: Hood's Sarsaparilla has more than all the others.

CARLTON & HOVEY: Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best medicines we have. Its sale increases every year.

F. P. MOODY: We sell twice as much of Hood's Sarsaparilla as of anything similar.

C. A. SWAN: Hood's is the most popular sarsaparilla of the day.

THIRTY OTHER druggists speak similarly. This popularity at home, where Hood's Sarsaparilla and its proprietors have been known for many years, could not continue if the medicine did not possess merit. And these facts should certainly convince people in other sections of the country that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good, reliable medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Sold by druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.
