THURSDAY, JUNE 14, 1900.

James J. Corbett is said to be so elated over his good showing in his "mill" with Jeffries that he is seriously considering taking a seat in the U. S. senate.

The chaotic conditions of affairs in China is steadily growing worse, and many think that the time has arrived for the long proposed partition of that great empire. Russia, Germany, Great Britain, France and Japan are all pictured as reaching forth for the largest possible lallow when the division takes place. Russia and Japan are threatening war and it is impossible to see what complications may ensue.

We have received a copy of the Newspaper Blue book for 1900, compiled by the 20th Century Press Clipping Bureau of Chicago. It contains an elite directory of the newspapers of the United States, naming only the best newspapers in each town or city, except in the larger cities, for which the best morning and the best evening papers are given. Each paper in the list has been selected because of its superior excellence compared with others in the same territory, the comparison being determined by the scope of its news columns and the quality and variety of special articles and editorials. It is with gratification that we note that the COURIER is listed in the Blue book.

It is reported that the saloons did a rushing business in bottled goods Saturday evening in anticipation of the Sunday closing order. Their patrons aghast at the prospect of being deprived of their Sunday potations, made the necessary preventative arrangements. It was generally conceded that last Sunday would be a "dry" day among the bibulous fraternity and this was the cause for the increased traffic in "wet" goods. It is preferable, if people must have liquor on Sunday, that they should take it to some out of the way quarter and there imbibe. It is no better for them but saves us the scandal of having drunkenness rampant disturbing the Sunday quiet of our town.

The famine in India is the horror of the century and the accounts and photographs of the scenes and conditions there can hardly be read or looked upon without an unpleasant shock. The British government is doing a good deal toward alleviating the suffering and other governments are contributing toward the relief of the sufferers. It is estimated that $2 will maintain a life till the next harvest. The British government has spent about $600,000,000 in the Transvaal war, enough to maintain life in the whole population of India till next harvest, if rightly applied and distributed. One of the perplexing problems in the case is that the bettered conditions there have promoted so great an increase in population that the soil of India seems incapable of supporting them.

The new city government is taking hold of the moral questions which confront it, in a very determined manner, and they should have the unqualified support of all good citizens in the object of the moral improvements of the town. It is right that our laws should be enforced. If they are not good laws, we shall discover it and they can be repealed. As our mayor at the council meeting said, "The law hurts no one but the law breaker." If a law is enacted for the common good, a refusal to submit to it on account of any trifling inconvenience, evinces a lack of patriotism on the part of any one who makes such a refusal. It is each individual's duty to conform to a law, if that law is for the best interests of nation or community. If the law interferes with him, it is his duty to get into conformity with it, instead of arraying himself against it.

The program is prepared for two additional saloons to be shortly opened in our city. The laws of our state recognize the saloon, under certain conditions, as a legal institution, and we are not able to state whether or not there will be any more drunkenness with seven saloons than with five, but this sudden increase of 40 per cent in their number is not to be looked upon with equanimity. It is a matter for unpleasant consideration that our city is considered so good a saloon town as this large increase in that business would indicate. Five of these saloons will be in one block. We are not in favor of these new saloons. We believe that the five already in operation are amply sufficient for harm and that more will be superfluous and will entail scandal. They should be made to go through the whole performance before licenses are granted.

Council Meeting.

The regular meeting of the council was held on Thursday evening, all the members being present except Haskins, who was detained by illness.

The following bills were allowed: John Patrick, street work, $24.40; R. L. Bartlett and James Holman, canvassing city election vote, $6; S. P. D. and L. Co. lumber $16.40; B. O. McCulloch, surveying, $5.

McGregor and Myers presented a petition to erect a temporary iron building adjoining T. A. Hood's bicycle shop on the east, for a barber shop. The suggestion was made that similar requests had been refused. Mr. McGregor being present, explained that it was his intention to replace the iron with brick next season and a permit was granted for a year, with the stipulation that brick flues should be put in the building.

Several petitions for sewer extension were considered favorably and the city attorney was asked to prepare an ordinance to provide for the various extensions petitioned for. An ordinance covering all the petitions and also providing for extension of the main to the alley in block 14 had been prepared, but it was decided not take any action at this meeting, in order to give the property holders along the line of proposed extension an opportunity to remonstrate if any should desire, and it was arranged to take up the matter at the adjourned meeting on Monday evening.

A petition signed by a large number of residents in the Third ward in regard to certain disreputable houses in Tar Flat precinct was read and was discussed at some length. The petitioners stated that they were annoyed and wakened at all hours of the night by people passing back and forth on the sidewalks, shouting, yelling and swearing, and asked the council for relief in their unfortunate situation. The council was quite unanimously in favor of acting on this petition, but the mode of action was a matter which occasioned some discussion. In reply to the remark that the petitioners would not testify, if an attempt was made to prosecute, one of the signers addressed the council and said there would be no trouble about that part of it. He said he had been wakened at 1 and 2 o'clock in the night by people knocking on his door and trying to break it down and he would stand it no longer. Somebody was going to get hurt. The matter was finally referred to the city attorney and the police force, with instructions to act.

Councilman Fetsch made a motion that the vote should be taken by ballot. The mayor declared this motion out of order and contrary to the method prescribed in the ordinance book, which stipulates that the "yea" or "nay" of each member shall be recorded for future reference. Randle's name was presented and the roll was called. Fetsch refused to vote and was recorded as voting "no". Rehkopf voted "no". Randle was declared confirmed. The next roll was taken on the question of allowing a monthly salary of $35 for day police. This was carried, Rehkopf and Fetsch voting "no". The appointments of Mott and Patrick were unanimously confirmed.

The council were requested to consider the tramp problem until the next regular meeting when they will endeavor to devise some way for dealing with those unwelcome pestry.

The council was adjourned till Monday evening, at which time they met, Chairman Decker presiding and passed the sewer extension ordinance. The bond of Marshal Randle was accepted, with L. L. Jewell and G. S. Colburn as sureties.

The treasure's bond was produced and accepted with the following names as sureties in the amount of $1000 each: Eugene Kiesling, J. L. Yokum, W. F. Kremer, F. H. Schmidt and John Schallhorn.

The water contract having expired, the fire and water committee were instructed to confer with the water company concerning a new agreement.

Councilman Fetsch made the suggestion that the town needed a thorough cleaning up. This was favorably received and the matter was referred to the health committee.

The street commissioner was instructed to look after the repairing of the sidewalk in front of the city hall. The bridge across Gilbert creek on Burgess street was reported to be in a dangerously unsafe condition and it was ordered condemned and closed up, a new bridge to be erected immediately.

The mayor read a petition signed by a number of citizens and business men, respectfully praying that David Keenan should be appointed as marshal. The petition stated that the undersigned believed Keenan to be the only man capable of controlling the rougher element of the city. The mayor expressed a doubt as the accuracy of that belief and expressed his regret that such a petition should have been presented, as he would be obliged to refuse to consider it. The marshalship, as it was well understood, was one of the issues of the late election. He had talked with a number of the signers of the petition, and some had made a sort of of apology for signing it and others had affixed their names as the easiest way to dismiss the subject, with the expectation that the mayor would not be influenced by it. The mayor then made his appointments which were as follows: for marshal, J. C. Randle; for day police, Theo Mott, with a salary of $35 per month; for street commissioner, John Patrick.

The Excitement Not Over.

A Flag for Your Schoolhouse.

Every school house in the county should have a flag. If you want one for your district write to the COURIER about it.

When life's autumn comes, women, worn out by the burdens and obligations of motherhood, yet shrink from that second "change of life" which will banish these burdens forever. They fear a change in form, in feature, in personal attractiveness, and that the lees of life will alone remain at the bottom of the cup of existence. Such fears are largely occasioned by the effects which this change produces in many women. But no woman need let these fears fret her, who from the time of the first change of life, from childhood to womanhood, has taken care to constantly keep her system in vigorous health.

Those who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription do not suffer from the change of life either in face, form or feelings as do other women. This fact is due to the intimate connection of the general health with the health of the organs peculiarly feminine. By preserving the health of these organs, and relieving the system from the debilitating drains, ulcers and inflammations which sap its health, "Favorite Prescription" paves the way for this natural change to come in Nature's way, without the loss of capacity to please others or the personal loathing to enjoy life.

Mrs. M. Burgess of Bells Ferry, Shasta Co., Cal., writes: "My physician says I am free from the effects of 'change of life.' I had heart disease and womb trouble and rheumatism. My head was so dizzy I could hardly stand up. When I began Dr. Pierce's medicines I improved right along. I took seven or eight bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' a teaspoonful three times a day, and the 'Pleasant Pellets' at night. I feel as well as I ever did."

There is no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant in "Favorite Prescription," neither does it contain opium or other narcotics.

You may be willing that somebody else shall say that their baby is "just as good" as yours, but you don't want that baby substituted for yours. Let dealers say what they like about other medicines being "just as good" but don't let them substitute anything for "Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system of impurities.

Reames' majority in the district is 421.

Mining Notes.

F. W. Morgan Draper, a mining engineer of note, arrived here Thursday and left for Waldo by team on Friday.

W. H. Hampton of the Columbia mine at Placer was in town on Monday. They are now making their spring cleanup which will considerably surpass that of last years run.

W. D. O'Brien, manager of the C & C mine on Jump-off-Joe, was in town last town last week. They are still working at that mine, having the advantage of two large reservoirs to reinforce the water supply.

Dr. J. F. Richenbach came in on Friday from his quartz mine on Horsehead creek in the Louse creek district. What development has been done has given the property a very favorable appearance and the prospects point to the existence there of a property of large value.

J. J. Fox came in from the Waldo district last week and left on Friday evening for Coos county where he will remain during the summer at least. He has been mining in this county for several years and is one of the most efficient manipulators of the giant in this part of the state.

It is reported that the dredger located about three miles above Gold Hill is about to resume operations. This portion of the bed of Rogue river can not fail of being immensely rich in gold. An attempt was once made to divert the river from its channel near this point and a large amount of money was expended, but without success.

L. N. Browning reports good prospects and progress at the Yellow Horn quartz mine in Slate Grave creek district. They have a 130-foot tunnel with a 30 foot shaft and are considering the question of a mill. Some of their ore assays as highly as $864 per ton and the average is near $130. The ledge runs from one to five feet in width. From all indications this will develop into a property that will rival the Victor Jr. in the same district.

Hon. Frank C. Ray of N. Y. made this place a visit last week. Mr. Ray through his brother, Dr. Ray, has expended much money in mines and the operation thereof in this vicinity, and his visit was for the purpose of seeing what had been done. He visited his several properties near here and spent four days at his Elk Creek mines. He is well satisfied with the stability of southern Oregon ledges and has made preparations for increased work on all his mines. A few more men like F. C. Ray operating here would soon prove to the croakers that this is not a pocket country, but on the contrary, that our ledges are true, well defined and stable.—Gold Hill News.

PRECINCT OFFICERS.

Following are the officers who were elected in the various precincts of the county:

PRECINCT	JUSTICE	CONSTABLE	ROAD SUP.
Wolf Creek	A. S. Rosenbaum	Wm. Lichtenberger	Henry Gross.
Althouse	G. W. Young	G. W. Lewis	Peter Payne.
Waldo	W. B. Whipple.		A. J. Winser.
Galice			Edward Fritz.
Mt. Reuben			W. A. Klam.
Oak Flat	Geo. B. Ward
Kerby	E. Sowell	J. Turner	Homer Wallis.
Leland		G. N. Blalock	A. A. Porter.
Williams	G. H. Spurlin		J. T. Kennedy.
Merlin	Chas. Ladd	C. F. Kayser	G. F. McCormick.
Slate Creek			Geo. C. Booth.
Murphy	Lee Sill		J. E. Swindon.

G. H. Steward and J. A. Band old are in town from Bolan creek, where they have recently made a remarkably rich strike. They have a defined vein, 2 to 12 inches in width, in which the gold literally stands out in lumps. This is apparently one of the best finds ever made in southern Oregon.

W. G. Wright expects to have his quartz mill here soon. This, in connection with his already very completely equipped assay office, will give him very full facilities for the treatment of ore. The quartz development in this section is steadily increasing and this mill will be an important factor in determining the values of the quartz ledges of this vicinity and for milling on a small scale. The mill has a daily capacity of two to four tons.

James Rush, who has been working lately on the quartz lead known as the Golden Eagle, owned by Corliss & Rush, is exhibiting some quartz specimens which are literally full of gold. Their best prospects are found in a porphyry seam about 5 feet wide, with a pay streak from 6 inches to a foot in width, containing bunches in quartz. When these quartz bunches are found, the gold is always present in encouraging quantity. Some of the porphyry also carries very large values and the favorable appearance of the property increases under development. The mine is situated on Jump-off-Joe, near the famous Lucky Queen.

W. H. Baird Briggs creek, was in town last week. Mr. Barr is the owner of one of the best placer mines in that district. His property is quite extensive and has the advantage of first choice in the water privileges of that section, a water right taken from the upper portion of Briggs creek. His ground is situated very favorably for operating, with plenty of grade and dump. It is not of great depth, an advantage where as in this case, the larger portion of the profits are found near the bedrock. The boulders are not so large, heavy or numerous on this ground as they are on some other portions of the creek. The gold is of the coarse order and the ground has always paid well for operating. The water right which belongs to this property would, by an extension of the ditch, cover a large amount of valuable ground farther down the creek, which now has insufficient water for working, including some high channels of known richness.

A Minister's Mistake.

A city minister was recently handed a notice to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the matter. The clergyman started to read the extract and found that it began: "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best Cough Cure." This was hardly what he had expected and, after a moment's hesitation, he turned it over, and found on the other side the matter intended for the reading.
