rooting just like they do when they go to a football game. We would like to take the lid off some day just to hear them.

Reading clerk. He is Jim Vernon. He reads for hours. And then he has a machine to spray his throat with, for after reading old dry bills for an hour his neck gets tired. At first we thought he was out of wind and was pumping himself up like a spare tire.

Here are the bad children. Booze, beer, wine, speakeasies, hotels, restaurants, beer halls, dance halls; all fighting one another with legislation for each wants the money—greed, selfisness, deception. But of course the saloon won't come back. They are already here. The fire will fly when the booze bills come in. More fire—chain stores, tax exemptions, tax bills, labor bills and election changes. But a fight can start any time on anything.

Cigarettes. There are only three women in the House. And so a tax on cigarettes would be taxation without much representation for the ladies would have to pay much of the tax on cigarettes. And then the proposed tax on cigarettes is the entering wedge for the sales tax. It is a start. We are independent for we smoke Bull Durham and roll our own.

No major legislation has reached the House but it will be fast and furious for the next two weeks—maybe longer.

could not adjourn before March 2. The matter of relief is still bothering the leaders, and in view of the Governor, nothing can be done about that until word is received from the Federal Government.

A resolution was presented in the House during the past week its purpose being the raising of the salaries of the Legislators. In commenting upon the motion former Governor Oswald West declared. "That is what I declare unproductive skill. Should the member succeed in putting it over on vote of the people, he would not be present to enjoy the raise from the present $8 stipend."

****

The present week will see probably one of the biggest fights of the legislature—that over the "cock tail" bill which would permit the serving of hard liquors and wines by hotels and restaurants with meals. A poll of the House only revealed 25 of the necessary 31 votes required to pass it. The proposal appears doomed.

****

The House, without publicity during the past week, passed a bill which will leave to the County Courts the discretion of pay for county officials. To date it has taken legislative action to either raise or reduce pay for certain county officials. Should the bill pass the county court may designate the salaries with privileges of referendum in the event to electorate was dissatisfied.

****

Statistically the Legislature the past week has shown progress, but only statistically. For instance about 300 new bills were introduced between the 20th and 27th days. That brings the total up to 645. So far both houses had passed but 34 measures of which 20 were signed by the Governor. Martin has not sent a veto back to the Legislature up to the present writing.

****

Appointments to state officers including that which would replace Charles M. Thomas, public utilities commissioner, who is slated for the skids, will not be made by the Governor until after the session, it was learned. The only appointments to date have either been those by the Board of Control or those which were emergency adjustments.

****

W. L. Gosslin pronounced "Josslin," secretary to the Governor, although a fine young chap, has aroused the ire of some Democrats who have been refused admittance to see the Governor, and they now are attempting to have the Governor change secretaries. What luck they will have remains to be seen.
