IT'S NO WHISKEY TICKET.

The impression has gone abroad that just because in Wasco's recent municipal election there were two tickets in the field, one of them was a whiskey ticket. Just where this rumor started from is probably shrouded in mystery; but the general impression is that it had a selfish desire for its origin. Anyway the impression has gained sufficient credence abroad to call out the following ill timed comment from the Grass Valley Journal:

"The 'whiskey' ticket was elected at Wasco, and Mayor Crosfield sits on the barrel."

Mr. Brown's bump of mirthfulness evidently got the best of his better judgment this time. The NEWS does not think for a moment that he meant any injury to Mayor Crosfield, or to any one in Wasco. But, for all that, it was an untruth. Wasco never had a whiskey ticket. Perhaps one ticket may have been more liberal in its views on temperance than the other, but the successful ticket is no more liable to put a saloon into Wasco than would the other. The fact is Wasco will continue to be as dry as it has always been. It is to be deplored that such reports get abroad, but it seems impossible to avoid it. Selfish motives will interfere with justice in spite of all that can be done.

Now that election is over, the opposition have gracefully acknowledged defeat, and stand ready to defend the good name of the city and its officials. The smoke of battle has cleared away and harsh words are no longer heard. And why cannot our friends in sister towns allow us to remain peaceful, happy and temperate?

DEADLY WORK OF CONTRACTION.

The New York World of January 30, unconsciously advertises the decay of business in the United States. It says:

"Here is a little illustration of the goodness of our government's credit. There are still $25,000,000 outstanding of the bonds of 1891. They bear only two per cent interest. They have been redeemable any time during the last seven years, yet their holders have never called for their money, simply because they do not know what better to do with it than let the government keep it at two per cent interest."

Who can estimate the advance of poverty and decay when the general business of the country does not afford opportunities to make more than two per cent per annum on money, which is less than the tax and cost of repair on real estate? The deadly work of gold contraction has destroyed profit in productive enterprises, forced millions to starve in idleness, and made United States bonds drawing only two per cent a desirable investment. Such conditions of stagnation and decay have existed from time to time in the Old World, but they were never mentioned as evidence of prosperity. On the contrary, the low rate of interest and the want of profitable enterprise which followed have been the principal cause for the flood of emigration which has increased the population of the United States without a parallel. There will be no need of legislation to exclude emigration, if the gold standard is maintained, because when Asiatic conditions are established here, and the poverty of the world is equalized, no change of locality will benefit toiling serfs.—The Knight

The tone of the republican league convention was to lead one to believe that some subtle influence has been at work since the legislature met. If Corbett can't get there by appointment he will try to dominate the coming election. Any way it was pretty yellow.

The NEWS always believes in giving credit where credit is due. Nor does it think anything more creditable than a charitable act; especially so when this noble trait of character is exemplified by the boys that are growing to manhood. Last week a number of Wasco's boys called on a widow lady and put in some good work on her wood pile. It was not done for notoriety, because they went under cover of night, and it was only by accident a NEWS reporter learned of the success of their kind intentions. The motive that prompted this generous act was a good one, and ought to be encouraged, so they may not tire of well doing.

NATURAL CRIMINALS.

The following from The Dalles Times-Mountaineer is pre-eminently true. It proves only too well that we have only to look about us to find the cause of so much criminality:

"Let the butcher take care of his own meat," was the response of old Albert Wachline, father of Gus Wachline, who was hanged at Hillsboro last week, when asked by another son to assist in giving the murderer a decent burial.

Could anything but a criminal be raised by such a heartless parent? The father who refuses to bury his son, no matter if he is hanged for murder, possesses natural brutish instincts that are instilled into their offspring from their early childhood. The elder Wachline has shown himself devoid of human instincts, and it is but natural that his offspring should exhibit like depravity. It is no wonder Gus Wachline was a criminal; he could be little else with such a father. That he displayed all the brutish characteristics of a depraved and vicious man was shown by his brief career. First convicted of felony and sentenced to the penitentiary, instead of learning the lessons of honor and profiting by the punishment inflicted for his misdeed, his brute nature was developed while in servitude, and scarcely had he been admitted to liberty until the vice that had been inherited began to again predominate, and murder was his first act.

Gus Wachline was indeed one of those beings that curse society, but he was not altogether to blame for his disposition. He was reared by a brute, for nothing but a brute would thus refuse his child a decent burial; hence he was a natural criminal, devoid of the sense of honor or a conception of the rights of others. It is well he has been removed from society before he should inflict greater damage upon it by his own acts or by rearing others like himself.

State Chairman Young of the populist party does not believe in fusion this year because he thinks the democrats worked them for suckers in '96. Whenever Mr. Young succeeds in controlling the populist party he will have no cause to fear the democrats. The old stock stood up far better than did those of the new faith. Mr. Young's letter would well apply to his own party.

The appointment of David M. Dunne as collector is another object lesson to office seekers. It means that to be in it at all, one must stand in with John H. Mitchell. That gentleman still dispenses goods at the old stand regardless of the Corbett-Lord combine.

Already the special edition of the Times-Mountaineer is bearing good fruit. The editor of the NEWS has had several letters from eastern people who have been attracted by its description of this western country.

President McKinley is planning a western trip next summer. It is a good move. No man ought to be president who has not seen the territory he is to govern.

Restored to Health by Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine.

MR. MURRAY, engineer for Keet & Bountree Mercantile Co., Springfield, Mo., writes: "I suffered from dyspepsia, was unable to eat anything without severe distress. Treated by several physicians without benefit, I became almost a physical wreck and unable to attend to my work. I took Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and in six weeks I was well. My wife had a severe attack of La Grippe which brought on troubles peculiar to her sex. The Restorative Nervine is the only thing that has helped her. We both hope you will use this in a way to help others as we have been."

Biglow, Or. M. V. UNDERWOOD.

Houses Where Crops Never Fail.

I have for sale a farm of 296 acres 19 miles west of Umatilla and two miles west of Coyote station, Or. The improvements on the place are as follows: Two good houses, two stables, outhouses and two good wells of water, one at each house, 60 acres under fence. I have a steam pump which will furnish from 7500 to 8500 gallons of water per hour, which will go with the place if desired. The land is sandy in formation, very similar to the lands in the famous fruit region of the Los Angeles valley in California; are level, requiring no work for clearing or preparing for seed orchard other than that of the plow. Fruit trees can be planted in February and March, and will produce a crop of fruit in three years. Every kind of garden vegetables and fruit has been planted and thoroughly tested. Two to three thousand watermelons, averaging 30 to 35 pounds, have been raised upon a single acre. Corn has been grown equal in quality and quantity to any grown in the corn belt of Indiana or Iowa. Potatoes, both sweet and Irish, produce an abundant yield. The climate is warm both summer and winter, the land being at an elevation of only 200 feet above the sea. The Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co.'s railway runs through this place. The land, too, is situated on the Columbia river, where one will always have the benefit of water transportation, thus insuring the lowest possible rate. Markets for everything produced will be found in the cities of Spokane, Helena, Butte and Anaconda, and all points in Montana and Northern Idaho. Wood and fuel is to be had for the taking, there always being abundant timber for fuel and fencing floating down the Columbia river. No person residing in that locality has yet had to pay a dollar for timber for fuel or fencing. Alfalfa, timothy, and red top clover does as well as in any state in the Union. Peanuts, celery, asparagus and strawberries have been raised and proved to be not only successful, but profitable crops. Strawberries can be grown and put on the market ten days or two weeks earlier than the famous Hood River berry and equal to it in every respect. Peaches, apricots, apples, pears and cherries, all do well. The first peaches to reach the market within the state of Oregon come from the sand lands along the Columbia river. No cultivation of the ground is necessary after the seed has been planted, and very little work is required is irrigating, because of the fact of the porous condition of the soil, thus making sub irrigation do the work instead of surface irrigation. In addition to the pumping plant now on the place a current motor can be placed in the Columbia river which will furnish 10,000 gallons of water per hour, at an expense of not to exceed $175, there being a 3½ to 4 mile current every day in the year. This is choice nursery land, and anyone desiring land of this nature can do well on this place. The place will be sold at a bargain. Taking everything into consideration, it is a rare chance for a profitable investment.

70 acre farm in Linn county, Or., 8 miles south of Albany, 1 mile from Tangent station on S. P., with a good 10 room house, good large barn, stabling for 8 horses and 6 cows; a hogbarn and chicken house, granary and all other necessary outbuildings. 50 acres in cultivation, 2 acres in bearing fruit, 10 acres in pasture and balance in green timber. All fenced and cross-fenced on good county road. Title perfect. Cash value $3000, or will exchange for farm of equal value in Eastern Oregon. Owner is affected with asthma and desires to get east of the mountains, hoping that the change would benefit his health.

135 acres farm land on Columbia river in Klickitat county, Wn., about 17 miles west of Umatilla, known as the Forwood ranch. The land is rich, level river bottom above overflow; is subirrigated by river, so good hay, fruit or crops of any kind can be grown successfully without artificial irrigation. The largest stock range in the state adjoins the land, which, combined with various other advantages, make it valuable for a stock ranch. $800.

320 acres in Sherman County; 200 acres in cultivation, 100 in grain, 60 in stubble, running water on place, all fenced, 9 miles from Wasco. Price $3000; $1500 down and balance on long time. Valuable place this.

320 acres in Grass Valley, Sherman county, Or., 9 miles from Wasco; 200 acres plow land, all fenced, running water, price $1400; $700 cash, balance on easy terms.

320 acres, 10 miles east of Wasco, all plow land, 193 acres plowed in stubble; fenced; price $1600; $800 cash, balance one year with security.

126 acres timber land, 9,000,000 feet of saw timber on the place. This place is located in Washington 1 mile from Columbia river, 1½ miles from county seat, Stevenson, 1 mile from boat landing; good sawmill location on river; 8 acres in grass, 20 acres ready to burn. This is a bargain at $1200. Good title.

24 acres berry ranch, house and barn, spring water, well fenced; 10 acres in strawberries, 1 acre in blackberries, 1 acre in raspberries, all in bearing, 6 acres in orchard, some in bearing, rest in meadow and garden. The earliest berry ranch in Hood River; flumes and irrigating ditches all made and everything handy. One mile from the postoffice at Hood River. Price $3000.

20 acres, 8 in strawberries, good house and barn, good orchard, well fenced and watered, 1 mile from postoffice. Price, cash, $1850; on time, $2000; $500 down, balance on mortgage at 8 per cent. This is one of the cheapest places in Hood River valley.

Three lots in Hood River 150x100 ft, corner, small house, 20x20, land level and dark loam soil; right in town. Cash, $400; time, $450; $200 down, $250 on mortgage.

I also have some of the best wheat farms in Sherman county, Or., Hood River valley and Willamette valley lands for sale. For prices, terms, etc., call on or address,
