The following little sarcasm from the Oregonian is not without its logic. It proves that we are not so much without a precedent as we might be. It says, "By withdrawal from the Philippine islands we should save ourselves a great deal of trouble.' So says an anti-expansion orator. It is a profound remark. It is certain also that by staying away from Oregon we should have saved ourselves a great deal of trouble, many dangers and many lives. Through privation, through excessive labor and hardship, through conflict with the natives, many of our people perished. By staying away from Oregon all these hard and sad consequences would have been averted. The same remark may be offered as to settlement of our people in Massachusetts, from which state the above profound observation comes. In fact it would have been money in the pockets of all of us if our ancestors had stayed out of America and we never had been born. The whole business is nothing but "trouble." It is clear that the "aunties" have the best of the argument.

The state board has placed the state tax levy at 5 7-10 mills, as against 8½ mills last year; an increase of 2 1-5 mills. The amount expected to be raised has not been made public. The increase in this year's levy over that of last year is due to unexpected items in the general appropriation bill passed at the special session of the legislature, including $41,000 for the legislature of 1897, which did not organize; $33,000 for the purchase of the branch asylum site at Union; $25,000 for the replacing of the burned buildings of the state agricultural college at Corvallis, and $15,000 for the expenses of the Oregon commission at the Omaha exposition.

The late war with Spain has brought up a new complication that will likely cause some more international law-making. The cable companies were in some instances, constrained from dispatching certain news at given times. This affected the business of said companies and now they ask for damages. It is a peculiar case. The United States undoubtably had the right to put a censor on these lines, and had they been American or Spanish lines, the question would have been easier; but it is foreign companies that causes the complication.

The people of Portland are waking up to the fact that the sailor boarding house men are one of the greatest curses a town can have. Their vocation levies a tribute of the shipping interests of the Northwest that is something frightful. The Chamber of Commerce has taken the matter in hand and will endeavor to have the legislature enact a law for the suppression of such proceedings. The people of Portland are to be blamed for not taking hold of this question sooner.

A bill to abolish the office of district attorney and create one of county attorney will be considered at this session of the legislature. It seems to be a sensible bill and, will, no doubt, receive the consideration it deserves. Every county certainly has an attorney competent to fill such a position, and it would have a tendency to drop such office out of politics.

The physicians of Washington are trying to get the legislature to authorize the publication of the weather bureau reports, they are in Oregon, claiming it is not only valuable information that should be in the hands of the people, but that it is also a valuable acquisition to the medical profession.

Olympia is in a fix. She is only allowed to float a certain amount of bonds without a vote. This has not been adhered to and several thousand in excess are out. They are all illegal and even the interest cannot be collected. This is a lesson for Wasco's council to heed.

Perhaps it might be as well, for the citizens of Wasco to remember that there is a "clean up" ordinance in force, and, that, by spring it is liable to be enforced. A dirty town is a a menace to health. A scavenger would be a proper thing.

Baker county owes $200,000, because, according to a local authority, she "has too much government in proportion to her taxable property." Isn't it about time the counties of Oregon were made to live within their income?—Oregonian.

Admiral Dewey should not be compared with Bryan. They are two different men. Just now Dewey is the foremost man; and, until all new questions concerning expansion are settled, he should be kept so.

A scheme to license the card tables and in cigar stores is on foot. Such a license would legalize gambling. It is to be hoped the council will not say gambling games will be supported by them.

It is a significant as well as a pleasing fact, that the paymaster's department is the best handled during the war. It is the only one among many that is entirely satisfactory.

And now, some of those men who were so anxious to get to Klondike last summer, are applying to the United States for assistance. Its only the old, old story.

The NEWS does not like to be considered a kicker, but if the streets are continually to be made a hog pasture—four footed ones we mean—someone is going to get roasted.

And now the reins are in the hands of Governor Geer.

Girls are warned not to marry editors, says an exchange. An editor in a neighboring town came near killing his wife recently. A servant was awakened by the screams of the mistress, and found her being choked by her husband The editor had dreamed that a delinquent subscriber had paid up his subscription, and he was grasping his wife by the throat thinking he had the money in his hands.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs A E Hart, of Groton, S D: "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr King's New Discovery for Consumption, colds and coughs. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. ### La Grippe Successfully Treated.

"I have just recovered from the second attack of la grippe this year," says Mr. Jas. A. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days against ten days for the former attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting 'down.'" For sale by Marsh & Medler. j
