THURSDAY - DEC. 14, 1899

This is the way a socialist organ—the Appeal to Reason—looks at it: The bank at Carl Junction, near Joplin, Mo., was blown open with dynamite and robbed of $4,000 the other night. Two men in Kansas City, whose lily white hands wouldn't do so much work as blowing up a safe, robbed the Missouri National Bank of several hundred thousand, and will probably be acquitted for it. It makes all the difference in the world how you do a thing. Now in either case, had socialism been in operation neither would have been committed, for there would have been no profit in it for anyone. All the money would have been credits to individuals on the books of the nation, good for any goods in the nation, and all the robbers could have got would have been the book accounts like Napoleon found when he took the bank of Venice, and would only have been so much old paper. But people prefer the methods of their grandfathers rather than a sensible, safe, just system, and there you have it. Under socialism all forms of robbery would disappear, because there could be no gain by it.

With a reasonable fall of snow, the Inland Empire will produce the largest crop of grain next year that has ever been produced on the coast. It is stated that there is many times the number of acres sown this fall that was sown last fall. It has been demonstrated from year to year that the fall-sown grain on an average yields a far larger crop than the spring-sown; therefore, the farmers are feeling in a very good humor, and expect to realize large profits next year.

We take the following from the Oregonian. It is evidently copied from the News of two months ago: A mighty big job it is the British have on their hands. It is nothing less than the job of destroying a fighting force of fifty to sixty thousand men, as brave and stubborn as any in the world. It will be done, but the sacrifice will be the greatest required of English-speaking men since our civil war.

All indications point most forcefully to a splendid crop next season. If signs can be relied upon, Sherman County will have a crop year that future generations will refer to when in a comparing mood.

Yaquina gets a black eye again. Poor Yaquina! Her sorrow is only equalled by the chagrin of the Inland Empire at being denied an open river for many years by congress.

Diamond Production of Transvaal.

According to the United States consul at Pretoria, the output of diamonds in the Pretoria district during 1898 amounted to 11,625 carats, valued at $43,151. In December, 1897, the output was 166 carats, valued at at $710, and for the same month in 1898 the output was 3,100 carats, with a value of $11,626. The largest stone found in 1898 was 381 carats. Although the diamond industry is not developing with abnormal rapidity, there is every cause for satisfaction, the first stone having been discovered at Reitfontein in August, 1897. The average value of stones found in the Pretoria district is $3.89 per carat; the average value of Kimberley diamonds, $6.33 per carat, and those found at Jagersfontein, in the Orange Free State, $8.27 per carat. The diamonds in the Pretoria district are found in pipes, as on Schuller's mine and on Montrose. A similar formation has been found on Roodeplaats on the Pienaars river, and another is also reported at Kameelfontein and Buffelsdoff. On the De Kroom farm, about 26 miles west of Pretoria, diamonds have been found, but according to the State Geologist, not in a blue ground formation. At Byrnesport an alluvial deposit is being worked, also one on the adjoining Elandsfontein farm. The area of diamondiferous ground is very extensive, though its thickness is not considerable. The total quantity of diamonds found in 1898 in Transvaal was 22,843 carats, valued at $212,812. At the alluvial diggings 12,283 carats, valued at $171,427, were found; while from the pipes 10,283 carats valued at $41,374, were obtained. The difference between alluvial and pipe diamonds consists in the fact that river stones are of a far better quality and are generally larger.—Scientific American.

Rock of Ages.

There is not a reader of The News that has not known that wonderful hymn "Rock of Ages" always and yet few have heard the story of its origin. Rev. Augustus Toplady, a young clergyman in the Established English church as long ago as the year 1775, was walking through what is known as Barrington Coombe, which is a deep indenture in a forbidding and dangerous hill known as the Black Down, when the fury of one of the severest storms ever known in that locality broke upon him. At one point a crag of rock over one hundred feet high conspicuously rears its head. Near the center of this is a fissure with an overhanging roof of stone under which he found protection, and here while the appalling storm raged without he wrote upon some stray leaves of paper nearly the entire hymn which for more than a century has brought hope and comfort to the weary and afflicted and has been the light of peace to the departing soul.

For Young People.

You can get the Youth's Companion and the News one year for $2. This offer holds good only till Jan. 1, 1900, and includes the Companion until that date, too. Now is the accepted time. The Youth's Companion is too well known to require endorsement in these columns. It is the only journal of its kind in the world. The offer is made to secure new subscribers for the Companion, and does not include renewals.

Pains in loins, puffed eyelids, palpitation of heart. Hudyan cures. All druggists, 50 cents.

Your Face

Shows the state of your feelings and the stase of your health as well. Impure blood makes itself apparent in a pale and sallow complexion, pimples and skin eruptions. If you are feeling weak and worn out and do not have a healthy appearance you should try Acker's Blood Elixir. It cures all blood diseases where cheap sarsaparillas and so-called purifiers fail; knowing this we sell every bottle on a positive guarantee. Marsh & Medler, druggists.

Had Grown a Bit.

One of the Natives — Talk about healthy locations! Why, when I came to this town I only weighed about 60 pounds. Now look at me. I don't weigh an ounce less than 260!

Guest—Been here long?

Native—Not very long. Let's see. I'm 33 now. It was about 29 years ago.—Boston Transcript.

Generosity.

"In this great republic it is everybody's privilege to think for himself."

"Yes," said the friend who is always unhappy, "but most of us can't be satisfied with that. As soon as a man gets the impression that he is a thinker he wants to bulge forward and think for the entire community."—Washington Star.

Then You Do Know.

Mrs. Youngbusband—You never really know a man until you are married to him.

Mrs. Muchwed—You don't then; you never really know a man until you are divorced from him and your friends come round and tell you lots of things you never even suspected.—Leslie's Weekly.

Economical Pleasuring.

City Cousin—I see the farmhouse next to this one is closed. Why is that?

Rural Relative—Mrs. Hayfork, who lives there, has gone to the seaside for the summer. She says it's cheaper than stayin' on the farm and feedin' city relations.—N. Y. Weekly.

Trde to His Belief.

Wigg—I see that young Muggins, who was always talking against woman suffrage, has married a widow who is 27 years older than himself.

Wagg—Yes; he always said he would never have anything to do with the new woman.—Cleveland Leader.

Might Be Worse.

"I should think life would be a constant torture to you," remarked the sympathetic visitor at the dime museum.

"O, no," responded the ossified man. "One gets hardened to it."—Chicago Tribune.

Alas! Alack!

You may salt, you may season
The cucumber it you will,
But the old celtic prerogative
Will cling to it still.
—Chicago Daily News.

MISSED IT THAT TRIP.

Doctor—You're all run down. What you need is a sea voyage. What's your business?

Patient—Sailor with Dewey; just home, sir.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

It takes but a minute to overcome tickling in the throat and to stop a cough by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. This remedy quickly cures all forms of throat and lung troubles. Harmless and pleasant to take. It prevents consumption. A famous specific for grippe and its after effects. Marsh & Medler.

Walla Walla Sidetracked.

The Walla Walla Union says: The change of time on the O. R. & N. has been the topic of conversation in Walla Walla the past few days, and the general sentiment is that the city is being treated shabbily by being placed on a "jerkwater" line. All assert that a night service on the present schedule on that road is bad enough without a change to a night service on a local between Dayton and Wallula this city being a way station. It is claimed that the vast amount of trade that the O. R. & N. has had and is obtaining from this section is worthy of some consideration.

The road is putting on the new schedule so as to save two hours between Spokane and Portland, mainly to accommodate the Great Northern in transcontinental business, a trade that is insignificant compared with the heavy hauling from this section, not particularly in passengers, but in freight. All this has bearing upon the question and should be fully considered by the road before concluding to sidetrack Walla.

The matter is considered of such vast importance to this city that the Commercial Club has taken a lively interest in the question.

Tired limbs, aching joints and pains in muscles. Hudyan cures. All druggists, 50 cents.

My son has been troubled for years with chronic diarrhoea. Some time ago I persuaded him to take some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using two bottles of the 25c size he was cured. I give this testimonial, hoping someone similarly afflicted may read it and be benefited.—Thomas C. Bower, Glencoe, O. Marsh & Medler.

Advice of a Druggist

"It is proper, I think, to let others know about the popularity and virtues of Acker English Remedy for Coughs, Colds and Consumption. From the moment I began handling it, sold rapidly, and the sales keep growing all the time as fast as people find out what a remarkable preparation it is. The satisfaction it gives is universal. Our best citizens use it and say it is the best thing for throat and lung troubles they ever saw. Mr. S. H. Culver, one of our prominent townsmen, says Acker's English Remedy is the only medicine that helped his chronic cough of many years' standing. At first it gave relief, and now, after taking a few bottles he is wholly cured. I buy it by the gross at a time, and my sales are larger on this one medicine than on any other in my store. It is a great pleasure for me to feel that while I am prospering I am also doing so much good to the community in selling such a grand medicine." (Signed R. R. Douglas, Westfield, N. Y.

Sold at 25c., 50c. and $1 a bottle, throughout the United States and Canada, and in England, at 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., 4s. 6d. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist, and get your money back.
