ASTHMA CURE FREE

Asthmalene Brings Instant Relief and Permanent Cure in all Cases.

SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE ON RECEIPT OF POSTAL.
Write your name and address plainly.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full sized bottle."

Rev. Dr Morris Wechsler,
Rabbi of the Congg. Bnai Israel.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1901.

DRS. TAFT BROS', MEDICINE CO.,

Gentlemen: Your Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is astonishing and wonderful. After having it carefully analyzed, we can state that Asthmalene contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or ether. Very truly yours,

REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER
AVON SPRINGS, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1901.

AFT. BROS. MEDICINE CO.

Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your window on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the 1st of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can conscientiously recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.

Yours Respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. Feb. 3, 1901.

Gentlemen: I was troubled with Asthma for 22 years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full-sized bottle and I am ever grateful. I have family of four children, and for six years was unable to work. I am now in the best of health and am doing business every day. This testimony you can make such use of as you see fit.

FOREIGNERS AND THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

While nearly all anarchists are foreigners, it does not follow that all foreigners are anarchists. Some of our very best citizens are foreigners, and any general accusation of anarchistic tendencies on the part of our foreign born fellowcitizens is unjust.

Nor is it at all apparent that on the question of higher education in the public schools, the population is divided on the lines of foreign or American birth. Some of the staunchest supporters of our public schools are found among those who were born outside of the United States, and some of the bitterest opponents of the higher grades are among those born under the stars and stripes, and about whose patriotism there can be no question.

The MAIL believes that our public schools should be kept on the highest possible plane of efficiency, and that in the case of the Marshfield schools it is not only right but profitable financially to retain the ninth and tenth grades, yet this paper is not inclined to place the defense of the schools entirely with the American-born, and honestly believes that a poll of the voters would show that the foreign born voters of the district are entitled to at least half of the credit for the support of our splendid school.

When you wake up with a bad taste in your mouth, go at once to Red Cross drug store and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. One or two doses will make you well. They also cure biliousness, sick headache and constipation.

"DOES MOTHER WANT ME?"

The little fellow has blown with all his strength, and the downy tufts still cling to the dandelion stem. According to the oracle of childhood mother does not want him. But mother would tell a different story. She has noticed the weakness of the lungs, and if she saw him now, flushed with his unusual effort and struggling to stifle the cough which followed it, she'd feel how much she wanted him, and wanted those "weak" lungs made strong, that she might not lose him.

For "weak" lungs, obstinate cough, hemorrhage, weakness and emaciation there is no medicine so healing and so strengthening as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is especially valuable for children, building up weak bodies with sound, healthy flesh. It is entirely free from alcohol and narcotics.

"Winter before this, my oldest boy (who is now nearly five years old), had a terrible cough; he had it the whole winter and all summer," writes J. M. Farr, Esq., of Cameron, Screven Co., Ga. "Physicians did him no good and nothing my wife and I could do did him any good. After your 'Discovery' had cured my cough so quickly when everything else failed, I wrote my wife to bring him back from the country, she having carried him there to see if the change would do him good. We were living in Savannah, Ga., at the time. She brought him back and after giving him your great 'Golden Medical Discovery' for a time, he entirely recovered."

YELLOW JOURNALISM NOT RESPONSIBLE

The newspapers that are trying with such untempered zeal to lay the assassination of President McKinley at the door of "yellow journalism" are making qualified fools of themselves. There is not the slightest evidence that the assassin ever read the yellow journals or that he drew his inspiration from them in the smallest degree. On the contrary, it is known that he was "set on fire" by the teachings of Emma Goldman; that he was an anarchist; and that he committed his crime, not as an American citizen who had been led to believe that the murder of McKinley would bring a needed reform in the government, but as an anarchist who believed in no government, and a part of whose creed was the murder of all rulers, good or bad.

The coarse and vituperative attacks on the president had no influence on this moral pervert. Had the entire press of the country been vying with each other in eulogy of President McKinley it would have had no influence as a protection against the criminal creed of the anarchists. In fact, it would have served to brighten the mark for their bullets. Excitement, horror, strong feeling and strong language is to be expected at this time, but there is no reason why we should all take leave of common sense. As a matter of fact, the motives of the howlers is in some instances so plainly to be seen that their rantings arouse a strong feeling of disgust.

Take the San Francisco papers, for instance. The Bulletin, Chronicle and Call are jumping on the Examiner with all the foul language and intemperate abuse of which their editorial writers are capable. They are printing columns of the most vindictive and scurrulous attacks upon W. R. Hearst. Not content with the most vindicative criticism of his newspapers they are tearing his private character to shreds, or trying to. He is accused of nearly every crime in the calander, and nothing is too coarsely abusive to be said of him. With all this the glaring fact appears, that Hirst, with his Examiner, is a business rival, and the Chronicle, Bulletin and Call are combined in an attempt to wreck his business for their own pecuniary advantage. The Examiner is not a model newspaper. It is a yellow journal, with all that that implies. At the same time, it is morally on fully as high a plane as either of the others, and it is enterprising enough to beat them as a news gatherer. San Francisco is peculiarly unfortunate in its daily newspapers. There is not one in the lot with any claim to respect. Their readers know it, but can't help themselves, and the attempt of the three to seize upon the assassination of President McKinley and use it to make business capital against a rival will only earn them a deeper measure of contempt from honest and thinking people.

What is true in San Francisco is true elsewhere, and the most of this din about yellow journalism is kept up by so-called newspapers that hope to reap a business advantage by turning the people against their more enterprising yellow rivals.

Moreover, the very newspapers and public men who are now falling over each other to put themselves on record as favoring restrictions on criticism of public officials would be the first to set up a howl about freedom of speech and of the press, should the law restrict them in their criticism of political opponents.

You can't make him eat either. You can stuff food into a thin man's stomach but that doesn't make him use it.

Scott's Emulsion can make him use it. How? By making him hungry, of course. Scott's Emulsion makes a thin body hungry all over. Thought a thin body was naturally hungry didn't you? Well it isn't. A thin body is asleep—not working—gone on a strike. It doesn't try to use it's food.

Scott's Emulsion wakes it up—puts it to work again making new flesh. That's the way to get fat.

We may have a Democratic or Socialistic president some day, and then we will want the privilege of abusing him and caricaturing him with all the ability in that direction that we may possess. We want no "lese majesty" business in this country.

* * * * *

The Oregonian, in recent editorials, has said so many cool-headed and sensible things on this subject, some excerpts are given below:

In the specific case of Czolgosz there is good reason for believing that no incriminating evidence against "anti-imperialism," strictly so-called, can be found. The bitterest assailants of the Administration's course toward the dependencies have been the New York Nation and Evening Post, Springfield' Republican—papers that no anarchist ever reads or ever heard of, and such men as Edward Atkinson, F. B. Sanborn, William Lloyd Garrison, Erving Winslow, and others like them, equally unknown and unheard of in the councils of the "Reds."

Nothing appears, moreover, to connect oppression of the dependencies with the assassination in the mind of Czolgosz. All he had against McKinley was that he was "a great ruler." The effort now under way to charge anti-imperalism with being accessory to the murder of the President is very much like the effort made by certain rabid Blaine papers in 1881 to lay President Garfield's murder at the door of the "stalwarts." In the hour of rage and grief we say and do things impulsively which will not look well in the cold light of later time. * * *

The Oregonian has little sympathy with the newspapers that have portrayed President McKinley as an oppressor, and attributed imperialistic ambitions to him. These charges have had no basis in fact, and might easily have inflamed ill-balanced minds. Nevertheless, it is extremely doubtful if suppression of such utterances would not do greater harm than good. The hostility of the antis to the Administration has made it cautious in its acts. The certainty of criticism in case of error is, in a free country like ours, a most profound and salutary conserver of safety and decorum. * * * Yet here again the difficulty of a general rule is great, for we might some day have a president deserving of censorious attacks on his character. Who is to draw the line? Who is to judge between justifiable and unjustifiable criticism? History will sift the acts of President McKinley, strong points and weak. Because he has been killed is no reason why truth should be perverted or why intelligent men should stultify themselves. Discussion of men and measures, for and against, is the only means through which truth can be established and the folly or wisdom of courses correctly apprehended. * * * Perhaps the greatest danger we confront in the matter is that in the agitation of the moment we shall forget the necessity and the glory of our free speech.

* * * * *

Touching another point of this business on which much wild talk is being indulged in—anti-anarchist legislation—the Oregonian takes presisely the same stand as did the MAIL two weeks ago. It says:

Under the common law today seditious speech and the instigation of criminal violence is prohibited in about all the states. * * * In fact under the common-law prohibition the Chicago anarchists were reached and punished.

No man can be punished for an assumed or acknowledged belief, but the moment he ventures to utter views whose purpose is to move men to crime he is subject to indictment, conviction and punishment. Under the common law Judge Gary held at Chicago in 1886 that since August Spies, by his incendiary spoken and printed views, incited others to commit crime, he was an accessory before the fact involved with the actual bomb-throwers, and subject to the same penalty. On the line of the ruling and decision of Judge Gary, under which the Chicago anarchists wers hanged in 1887, there is no need of any special legislation aimed in terms at anarchy and anarchistic societies. We have only to enlarge and strengthen the common law under which the Chicago anarchists were reached and punished. Special legislation is not necessary, and might in practice be wrenched to attack the liberties of the citizens.

ABOUT WORMS

The editor of the Capital Journal has an erratic taste. He urges his readers to save all their wormy apples and pears, in spite of the State Board of Horticulture, and have them dried, saying: "The worms are all removed in the process of evaporation." But he thinks that "making cider from wormy apples ought be forbidden by law, and the man caught grinding up worms prosecuted for cruelty to animals." We don't see that it is any more humane to roast a worm to death than to grind him up; nor do we understand why Brer Hofer should object so strenuously to drinking ground-up worms, if he is so fond of eating dried ones.
