BROWNSVILLE.— Sunday afternoon, while some children were riding horseback two miles north of the city, Lola Howe, oldest daughter of J M Howe, was thrown from the saddle by her horse becoming suddenly frightened, and her foot being fast in the stirrup she was dragged some distance with the horse at great speed. When found she was insensible and badly cut about the head and her body was bruised in a shocking manner, but at this writing she is improving and will probably soon be all right again. It was a very narrow escape from a terrible death.

J J White, of this place, has been appointed road master of the Narrow Gauge Company, and with P L Gerow, bridge superintendent, is going over the road and getting things ready for active work by widening out the bridges.

A C Hausman, assisted by several farmers north of this city, has been at work repairing the levee near the depot

Work is progressing rapidly on the bridge across the Calipooia.

Dr. R H Curl returned home last night from east of the mountains. He reports short crops in most localities.

A team belonging to W A Templeton, in charge of two of his young sons, ran away and into a fence, fatally injuring one of his horses.

Considerable wool comes to town for the Eagle mills.

The north Brownsville school closed last week, and gave an exhibition at the city hall that was well attended.
