SHOWER IN HONOR OF MISS TAYLOR

Mrs. Herman Hector and Mrs. Clyde Peacock motored to Monroe to attend a miscellaneous shower for Miss Marybelle Taylor, who is soon to become the bride of Harold Edwards of Eugene. The afternoon was spent in games and music, after which the bride-elect was showered with many beautiful and useful presents. Later dainty refreshments were served. Those assisting in serving were Bertha Taylor, Eva Trenholm, Nellie Hector and Ruth Peacock.

Those present including the hostess Marybelle Taylor were Mrs. Will Howard, Evalyn Trenholm, Sadie Newman, Lettie Herron, Mrs. J. S. Watkins, Mrs. Laura Martin, Mrs. H. C. Herron, Mrs. D. Ross Barclay, Mrs. R. C. Herron, Verneita Herron, Sadie Smith, Amy Hinton, Clara Taylor, Mamie Hall, Hontas Taylor, Katherine Finley, Ella Herron, Miss J. Robert Meek, Mrs. G. R. Taylor, Bertha Taylor, Marybelle Taylor, Mrs. H. E. Hector and Mrs. Clyde Peacock. Everyone wished her the best luck there was.

Stevenson and Lang.

Robert Louis Stevenson was "ordered South," and, as we know, he left it on record that he never had been quite happy anywhere except at Hyeres. But that accomplished man of letters, Andrew Lang, was of another mind. He went to the Riviera, and was bored by it. He particularly detested being introduced to strangers and having afternoon tea in hotels, so when the time came for his departure to his last holiday he chose Banchory, on Deeside. "After all," said he, "there is nothing better than Scotland." So he died in the land he loved.

Servant Problem an Old One.

Parson Cole, who lived in the middle of the 18th century, judging from one of his manuscripts, was quite familiar with the servant difficulty, which apparently was just as acute as in these later days. The reverend gentleman's entry is as follows:

"Paid Mary her wages, and would not let her stay, as she refused to stop with me till Michaelmas. I don't know where to provide myself of one in her room, but 'Wilkes and Liberty' have brought things to that pass that ere long we shall get no one to serve us."

Holley Notes

HOLLEY, June 3.—Special.—The residence of T. J. Morris was burned to the ground recently. It caught fire in the roof by the flue. No one was home but his daugher, Amie Tindle, and her little girl. Mr. Morris was a short distance away in a hollow cutting wood and did not hear the screams of his daughter for help. After she had tried repeatedly to put out the fire, his son Clarence, who lives a short distance away, heard her and called the neighbors. The building was a complete loss. His daughter worked heroically to save all she could. Some bedding caught fire and burned after she threw them from the window above. The neighbors helped save all they could. All the outbuildings burned but the smokehouse. They carried no insurance.

T. J. Philpot held a sale last week. He is going to start to California with his son Verne. His son Landis is going to Idaho to work.

The recent rains were quite a help to the gardens and the late grain also.

Fred Malone is having some improvement done on his residence and fences.

Mr. Pie's little child has been critically ill, two doctors waiting on it night and day. It is some better at present.

Lester Burnett visited at the Malone residence over-Sunday. He recently cut three of his toes almost off at the mill. The doctor placed them back and is dressing them. He goes on crutches but is able to run his car some.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rice's little daughter has been quite sick.

Fred Malone has returned from Salem where he went as a delegate to the I. O. O. F. convention.

Several of the Holley citizens took wagons and teams and helped work the road to the Crawfordsville cemetery last Saturday.
