JURY DISAGREES IN GOODMAN'S TRIAL

The jury in the trial of J. Goodman on the charge of vagrancy could not agree at the trial Friday afternoon at the city hall and the date for a new trial will be set by Gordon Wells, deputy prosecuting attorney. The jury was out nearly a hour in an effort to arrive at a verdict.

Goodman was released on bail following the rtial. He was represented by S. M. Calkins of Eugene, Gordon Wells prosecuted. Goodman was arrested on the vagrancy charge July 26 and ran away from the officers when they left him at the city hall while they went to search his rooms. He was arrested two weeks ago in Springfield.

Goodman claimed at the trial that his real name was John Emerch and that he owned a 160 acre ranch in Canada, that he received an income from his ranch, that he had $300 in a bank at the time of his arrest and that, consequently, he was not a vagrant.

The state sought to prove its case by showing that Goodman habitually walked the streets of Springfield at late hours of the night.
