How War Appears When Viewed from Certain Different Points.

A number of printers, all of whom were born since the last war, were sitting about the office of Secretary Marsh one day lately when an "extra" was brought in which indicated that war with Spain was near at hand.

"If we have war it will afford our navy some good practice—just what it needs—and be better than a dozen sham battles," suggested one.

"And Spain will find it quite a change from bull fighting."

"I don't believe there will be any war," said a baseball crank. "Just as we think everything is all ready you'll see a sign up: 'No game to-day. Wet grounds—too sloppy on the Atlantic.'"

"I think we'll have to make up a purse for Spain," said the pugilist of the party. "But if she don't stand up for four rounds she don't get any of the receipts."

"You boys are very cunning," said the veteran Marsh, wheeling about in his chair. "It's easy to see that none of you know what war means. I'm older than any of you, and I know. In 1864, when I was working on the old Tribune, eight men from that office enlisted in the Twenty-fourth Michigan. They were all fine fellows, the best of the lot. Six of them never returned. The other two got back so wasted and changed that it was hard work to recognize them, and they were carried from the depot to the hospital on litters. One of them, Witherspoon, a personal friend of mine, was shot through the wrist. Both died. I saw several regiments leave here, 1,200 to 1,500 strong, composed of the finest young men in the state. I saw them come back with only 300 to 500 maimed and broken men—men that had practically ended their lives. That is what war is. It is only funny to fools."—Chicago Evening News.

For Better Roads.

The county court has addressed the following circular letter to the taxpayers of the several road districts of Linn county:

The subject of good roads is becoming an all-absorbing question. Its consideration is not confined to Oregon. There seems to be a general awakening along this line throughout the land. It has become the topic for leaders in our magazines, newspapers and agricultural journals; it is discussed in conventions, granges and social meetings by all classes of interested people.

Public sentiment is rapidly growing in the direction that the county can spend no money so profitable, and enlist no genius so usefully as in making permanent good roads. When the stupendous aggregate o the transportation on our roads is considered, we can partially realize the cost resulting from bad roads.

The prosperity of our country depends so largely on the prosperity of our farmers, that everything possible should be done to render life in the rural districts agreeable as well as profitable, and nothing it it seems to us, would conduce more to the comfort, happiness and prosperity of our people than the systematic and permanent improvement of our public highways. To the end that the people may have better service in road builing in Linn county, we request each road supervisor to call a meeting of the voters of their respective districts to convene during the month of December, 1898, at some central point in said district, for the purpose of discussing and laying plans for next season's road work. One thing necessary to economical and systematic road building as operated under the present inadequate road laws of Oregon, is the selection of a qualified supervisor. At this meeting we suggest that the voters present select some good energetic, substantial resident of your district as supervisor for 1899. The residents of a road district are much more familiar with their wants and know much better than any county court who is the best man among them for a supervisor. Select the most pushing and enthusiastic road man in your district, without regard to his religion, politics, or color of his hair. Send his name to the county court, and at the January term we will gladly appoint him supervisor of your district for 1899. Let us take hold during the new year and initiate a vigorous permanent road-improvement era in this county.

Notes from Spicer.

From our regular correspondent.

Frost is king now-a-days.

Mrs. Paul Buchner is reported very sick at this writing.

Etta McDaniel was visting relatives in these parts Sunday.

W. T. Loofbourrow and wife took in the county seat last Saturday.

E. Keesler has as fine a lot of apples a person will find in a week's travel.

G. T. Burkhart was visiting relatives near Harrisburg the fore part of the week.

Ed. Morguson has moved into his new home, recently purchased of G. T. Burkhart.

Our regular engine, 1249, passed through town last Sunday. Cause, we do not know.

Bessie McDaniel returned home Saturday from a week's visit with friends at Albany.

Mr. Adams and two of the McDaniel boys are doing the grubbing act for Mr. Munsey.

The revival closed last Thursday evening, with one convert as the fruits of several week's labor.

Albert and Newton DeVaney were visting with their brother-in-law S. D. Titus the latter part of the week.

Our newly weeded couple have settled down to married life with as much complacency as though they had been married a life time.

Miss Dot M. Harris has closed her school in the DeVaney district and is staying with the family of O. L. Baltimore. Miss Dot is one of the rising young teachers of the county, and we predict for her a brilliant future.

Three More Dead.

The names of three Oregon boys appeared on the latest official list of dead from Manila, which was received at Washington Sunday. They are Fred I. Norton, of company F, dynastery; Frank M. Hibbs, company A, dynastery; Harry G. Hibbard, company K, typhoid fever.

Fred J. Norton was 21 years old, and a resident of Snohomish, Wash., at the time of enlisting. He was a son of B. F. Norton, of that place, and gave his occurpation as that of atea minister.

Frank M. Hibbs was 21 years old, a resident of McMinville, and was a student there when he enlisted. His parents Mr. and Mrs. George Hibbs, now live at McMillville.

Harry G. Hibbard was 24 years of age, and a native of Marion county. He was a student before enlistment and was the son of King Hibbard, of Willard, Ore.

The cold weather which has imposed upon us during the past week moderated on Tuesday evening and rain fell for a while. On Wednesday morning however, this had turned to ice and made walking a very dangerous operation.

It is not often that skating can be indulged in in Oregon, but the first of the week the ponds near the city were sufficiently frozen over as to permit good skating, and those of our people who possessed a pair of skates indulged in this very pleasont pastime.

Jeweler Hagey is not slow when it comes to selling watches. On last Saturday he disposed of seven watches, besides numerous other articles of the jewelery line. He now has a fine line of table silverware, just the proper thing for a Christmas present.

The following officers were elected at a meeting of Scio Camp, No. 211, W. O. W., last Thursday evening: J. L. Ray, C. C., A. J. Johnson, A. Lieut.; Geo. W. Phillips, banker; Ira A. Phelps, clerk; E. V. Smith, escort; S. P. Munkers, watchman; F. I. Jones, sentry.

The little three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Munsell, living a few miles south of this city, died Sunday evening, having been ill but a few days; and was not thought dangerously ill at any time. The remains were intered in the Masonic cemetary on Tuesday.

A Southern Pacific carpenter gang has been at work for a couple of weeks past putting in new culverts and stock guards on the track from this city to West Scio. Much work is just now being put on this piece of road, and it will soon be in as good shape as the main line.

N. T. Higgins is anything but slow when it comes to putting a "shine" on anything in the wood line. Last week he scraped revarnished a violin for Fred Gooch, of Shelburn, and there are few violins fresh from the factory which have a finer finish than this one.

Sixteen Bohemian people arrived from Nebraska on Monday evening, being the families of Frank Bartl, A. Stepanek and F. Stastny. Mr. Stastny will arrive in a few days with a carload of stock and household goods. They will settle on the Cyrus place as soon as it is sub-divided and suitable dwellings erected.

Speaking of one of our new citizens the Ashland, Nebraska, Gazette, his former home paper, says: W. C. Klotz's sale Monday went off to his entire satisfaction, the property bringing good price. Mr. Klotz left Tuesday for his new home at Scio, Linn county, Oregon, where he will receive The Gazette for the next year.

Cascade Camp, no. 5627, M. W. A. of this city, elected the following officers at their regular meeting held on Monday evening of this week. A. M. Young, consul; G. L. Sutherland, advisor; C. A. Warner, banker; C. N. Young, clerk; Jos. Wesley, escort; A. G. Prill, physician; W. H. Stam, watchman; A. Lukenbauch, sentry.

Johnson & Phillips have had the stairway's in their mill all inclosed and doors hung, thus shutting off any draft from one story to another in case of fire. The basement has been whitewashed with a fire proof mixture, the same as the top stories. This was done at the request of the insurance companies, and a reduction of rates has resulted.

Wm. May was out in search of ducks the other day, and he found them, two. After he had creeped something less than a half mile and fired both barrels of trusty shot gun at four nice looking birds you can imagine what he said when he found that he was shooting at four of Joe Wesley's decoys. "Bill" isn't saying a word about it, though.

The sidewalk on the norh of the south approach to the bridge was repaired and raised up on a level with the bridge last week, the work being done by Marshal N. Young and State Williams. A new railing was also put up on the west side of the north approach. This improvement has long been needed, and adds greatly to the safety of pedestrians.

T. J. Munkers lost a valuable horse the first of the week. One day last week the horses were in a lot, and one of them kicked his carriage horse, well known in Scio as "Old Pomp," on the throat, and injured the windpipe to such an extent that medical aid could do nothing fo him. He was a fine driving horse and one which will be greatly missed by Mr. Munkers.

About the dirtiest, uncivilized lot of humans that ever struck Linn county passed through Scio on Wednesday, accompanied by four bears and a monkey. They gave an "exhibition"—made the "bears dance"—on the streets, greatly to the amusement of the school children and a crowd of bystanders. Such people here have no place in a civilized community, and should be made to "move on" whenever they strike a town.

Mr. James Shahan, of Mill City, is in the city receiving surgical attention. Several days ago a team ran away with Mr. Shahan throwing him out and partially under one of the wheels in such a way as to break his left arm between the shoulder and elbow in a serious manner. The bones were set and two days afterwards reset. Not doing well Mr. Shahan came to Albany, and Tuesday Dr. Davis set the bones in a manner it is thought will make the arm all right.—Democrat.

Read the new adv. of S. M. Daniels in this issue. He is offering great inducements to intendinging purchasers.

Mrs. Mary Alice Garland, wife of John W. Garland, died at the farm home, about seven miles south of Scio, Wednesday, December 14, 1898, of typhoid fever, aged 36 years. Deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Richardson, of this city, and leaves a sorrowing husband, five children and host of friends to mourn her death. She was the seventh victim of typhoid fever, the entire family having been ill of this disease, but all had recovered save her. The remains were laid to rest at the Providence cemetary at 11 o'clock to-day, Friday, the services being conducted by Rev. Elmore.

T. W. Griffin, state agent of the Aetna Savings and Trust company, of Butte Montana, was in Scio this week, and did some business for his company. The plan upon which this company works makes it one of the soundest and solidest of its kind. A small payment each month matures at the end of a given period and though the process of compound interest the money you have paid in more than doubles itself. Mr. Griffin has appointed Ira A. Phelps, the editor of THE NEWS, as local agent for the Aetna company, and we should be pleased to explain its plan to anyone wishing to make a small investment in stock. It is an absolute money saver, and is the only way in which a small amount each month grows to a much greater sum in a few years. Call and see us, and we will give you all the information at hand regarding the workings of the company.

At the present juncture, says the London Graphic, the want of a trained naval reserve and an adequate personnel is causing the United States navy department grave trouble. The men in the United States navy, excluding the fish commission and the coast survey, are 8,685 in number, and of these only 55 per cent. are American born. The American citizens, however, number 74 per cent. English seamen who have served their time in our navy are largely represented among the aliens or naturalized Americans. It was so in the war of 1812, when hundreds of British tars were to be found in the American frigates which beat us with such painful uniformity. The food is better than in our navy, the pay higher, and the discipline is not so strict. It is pleasing to note the fact that the American officers recognize the high value of the British element. Now that the two great branches of our race are reunited in sympathy we shall not grudge our cousins the help of British hands.

PURELY PERSONAL

J. N. Morris spent last Sunday with friends in Albany.

Dr. A. G. Prill was a visitor at Albany the first of the week.

Jake Bilyeu was at Jefferson the first of the week on a visit with relatives and friends.

Henry Myers returned Tuesday from Dallas, where he had been for a week visiting with relatives.

T. F. Walker, of near Salem, was in Scio the first of the week on a combined business and social visit.

Mrs. Nancy McNamer, of Forest Grove, is in Scio this week, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. T. J. Munkers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Warner returned home from Albany Tuesday, where they had been visiting Mr. Warner's parents.

V. F. Menerick, of Nebraska, is a late arrival in our city. He is looking over this section with a view to a future home in our midst.

Earnest Long, of Stayton, was in Scio Sunday. Mr. Long has a half interest in the meat market at this place and also runs a shop at Stayton.

Mrs. Coffey, who has been stopping with her son, T. S. Coffey, for some time past, returned to her home in Salem on Thursday, of last week.

J. S. Morris was at his very familiar post, behind the prescription counter at the drug store this week, during the absence of druggist M. M. Perry.

J. B. Smith, of Thomas, was over and spent a couple of days with his brother, "Fred" Smith. While here he added his name to the rapidly increasing list of readers of THE NEWS.

Druggist M. M. Peery was in Portland the first of the week. Messrs Peery & Peery have about as fine a line of holiday goods on display at their store as one could find in cities many times larger than Scio.

Judge Barton was up at Mill City Monday looking after the new bridge that is being built by Linn and Marion counties. He reports the work progressing nicely, and states that the work will soon be far enough as to be out of all danger from high water. The bridge is a good one and is being built to stand the high water and swift current of the Santiam.

L. W. Richarnson returned Saturday evening from Portland. He also visited friends in Polk and Marion counties. While in Portland he purchased a large invoice of goods for his confectionery and notion store. "Lew," as he is better known by his Scio friend has just about as neat a place of business as can be found in a days travel and his trade is rapidly increasing.

Prof. E. C. Peery was unable to get released from the principalship of the Moro schools to accept the presidency of the Mineral Springs College, at Sodaville. The Moro school board ncreased his salary $15 per month and would not take a substitute in his place. They undoubtedly know a good instructor when they get him, and hence their desire to retain "Ed" at the head of their school. Prof. Peery's many friends in Scio are congratulating him upon his success in the school room.

V. Cladek, of "Bohemian Valley," was a pleasant caller at THE NEWS office last Saturday, and left his measure for THE NEWS and Oregonian one year each. Mr. Cladek may put in a cheese factory in this city in the near future, provided satisfactory arrangements can be made. He is the purchaser of the 1000 acre Cyrus farm, and has sub divided it and sold a large portion of the land in 80 and 100 acre tracts. His son and family arrived from Nebraska last Friday, and the first of the week four other families arrived. In the spring there will be a large number of these people settle in this section, as those who have already arrived are so well pleased with our country that they are not willing to see their people still remain in that blizzard stricken eastern states.

MARRIED.

BILYEU-FICKLIN.—At the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Cain, in Albany, Ore., on Wednesday, December 14, 1898, Mr. Walter Bilyeu and Miss Julia Ficklin, both of this city.

Again it becomes our pleasant duty to note the joining in marriage of two of Scio's young people. Mr. Bilyeu has spent the greater part of his life in Scio, and by honest dealing and manly conduct has gained for himself a host of friends. He has the esteem and respect of all and none there are who do not speak of him as a young man of sterling worth, one well worthy of the confidence of all. Miss Ficklin is the eldest daughter of Mrs. A. W. Ficklin, of this city, and has lived in Scio for several years past, having come here with her parents from the east. She is a young lady who numbers her friends by her acquaintances. It was through the help of Miss Ficklin that THE NEWS has been permitted to visit its readers once a week since last July, she having been a compositor in this office since our management of the paper began. She has proved herself a tireless worker, one in whose company it was a pleasure to be.

Mr. and Mrs. Bilyeu have the congratulations of a host of friends in Scio and vacinity, not the least of which is THE NEWS.

The happy young couple will arrive home to-day, and will make their home in Scio for the present at least, and we hope permamently.

Col. T. E. Hogg Dead.

Col. T. Egenton Hogg died suddenly in Philadelphia last Thursday night. His home was in Maryland. Col. Hogg had been married about two years.

Col. Hogg was the founder of the Oregon Pacific railroad and built it to its present terminous. He came to Oregon the first time in the early '70's and began agitating the construction of a road from Yaquina Bay, and displayed great energy in securing the money for the purpose and appropriations for the Bay. The history of the road is familiar to our citizens.—Democrat.
