It must be encouraging to those who take the Peoples press, published at Albany, to read that the paper is to be improved.

George W. Palmer of Silverton Or. has gone with 150 head of cattle, enroute to Yakima, where he expects to establish a cattle ranch.

Scio must have better fire protection, and unless we miss our guess she is going to have it. We must have it, as our business interests demand it.

Already we begin to feel the beneficient effects of the trust system. Plow manufactures have advanced prices 15 per cent on account, as they say, of the increased cost of iron and steel.

Stayton is going to celebrate the Fourth of July, and as Stayton people attended the celebration at this place last year it is only fair to suppose that our people will visit our sister village in goodly numbers on the coming Fourth,

Admiral Dewey has informed the department that he would not be home until October. He has an inkling that there will be no opportunity for rest when he arrives at New York. He is not rushing and not anxious for applause and the banquet.

The first issue of the Northwest Herald, published at Portland, has made its appearance. The paper is an illustrated weekly and is a credit to any city. Its pages are filled with choice matter, ably written, clean and spicy. It deserves a good support which it will no doubt receive.

During the war with Spain there were 6200 deaths in the American ranks, as follows: In Cuba 1200, in Porto Rico 287, in Honolulu 45, in the Philippines 606, in the United States 3872. More died of disease than were killed by the enemy's bullets, and more succumbed in the United States than on foreign soil.

We have suggested several times that it would be a good plan to clean up this town of ours, and just as soon as the weather will permit it would be a pretty good idea to burn up about seventeen carloads of old rubbish which adorns the back alleys and side streets Included in this bonfire might well be about a mile of dilapitated sidewalk, which encircles the property of some of our prominent citizens, and then replace it with good substantial walks.

Our vigorous policy in the Pacific has already proved a stimulant to our foreign commerce in that part of the world, as is shown in the recent figures of the Bureau of Statistics which indicates that our export to China and Hong Kong in the fiscal year about to end will far exceed those of any preceding year, the total being probably over $20,000,000, while that to the various Pacific countries will reach nearly $75,000,000.

There is a republican paper out in Southern Oregon, run by a democrat, which advocates the formation of trusts, and says they are a sign of prosperity. We believe that it is on account of the editors lack of understanding that caused make the statement as all leading him papers, both state and national, regardless of politics, are a unit in opposing the formation of trust, and the daily papers are filled with statements telling of the thousands of persons who have been throwo out of employment by the formation of trests.

The papers throughout the state are scoring Governor Geer pretty hard on account of the number of pardons he has issued to the criminal profession of late. It is doubtful if there are many men who, if they had the power to prevent would stand idly by and see a man hung, when there might be a chance that he was paying the penalty for another's crime. There are many men in our prisons today who are doing time for crimes which are but a tith when compared to the crime which a'e committed against our laws by men high in the political and social ranks of our nation. With these facts in mind it is a little wonder that one who has the authority to do so will pardon men who are homeless, friendless and penniless, and where a doubt exists as to their real guilt.

There will be a midsummer meeting of State Horticultural society at Salem June 9th and 10th. It promises to be an interesting meeting and coming as it does at this time it cannot but be productive of much good. Commissioner L. T. Reynolds writes that the program contains the names of men prominent in horticulture, from this and other states, and the meeting is expected to be the best convention of fruit growers ever held in Oregon. The injuries suffered the past season are but temporary and fruit growers should study to be better prepared to handle next crop.

We are in receipt of a communication intended for publication, but the writer failed to sign his name to it, and hence it will not appear in these columns. We cannot print letters which come to us from unknown sources, therefore it is necessary for persons writing for publication to either sign their articles or accompany them with a letter properly signed. However the sentiment expressed in the article was good, as it referred to our roads. It showed where one man had done a large amount of work on the roads adjoining his property, and if others would do the same thing the condition of our roads would be much improved. The road question, as it presents itself to us at the present time, is a serious one, and one which must be handled with great care. Every one should do all they can to better the condition of our roads, and not confine their road work to the few days which the law compells them to do. It has been shown that the farmers of Benton county lost $12,000 on last years grain crop by not having roads which would enable them to haul their grain to market during the winter season. The warehouse storage on the grain raised in Linn county amounts to an enormous sum, and is paid by the farmers because the roads will not permit him storing his crop at home and hauling it to market during the winter and spring. The farmer should be interested, as well as the merchants in the building of good roads.

HIS TOMB A WELL.

Singular Means Adopted by a Reformed Gambler to Stay Reformed.

As uncreditable as it may seem, it is nevertheless a fact, says a Mount Clemens correspondent of the Detroit Journal, that there is a man now living in this city who has dug his own grave in the side of an old deserted well, several feet down from the top, and placed a rudely constructed coffin therein in such a manner as to baffle detection. An acquaintance, bordering on to sincere friendship, for the last twenty years between the writer and this eccentric individual, is what led to the divulging of his secret. An ironclad oath not to reveal his name was demanded. He then proceeded to relate how the device and intrigues of supposed friends had led him into bad habits some years ago in this city when gambling and dissipation was at its height. He kept them up until ruin stared him in the face. Resolution after resolution to change was broken. The hated vice had him with an iron grip. "God knows," he said, "I tried hard to escape them, but like the siren in ancient mythology did these habits draw on and devour me, until I hit upon this unnatural, barbarous and monstrous idea some time ago. Since that time all desire for the fascinating but cruel siren seems to have left me. Perhaps this grewsome sight, which I often come and look at, has caused the change. But should my passion again return for the old life, and I break this, my last resolve, I shall come this old forsaken well, climb down to where that coffin is embedded, get into it, and take a sufficient amount of chloroform to produce an everlasting sleep, wrap the drapery of my overcoat around me for a shroud, and declare myself master at last."

The seriousness with which this man spoke would leave no doubt as to his present intention, should the occasion demand it. He is a man of intelligence, and is strongly averse to wrong-doing in other channels, but rather than fall back into his former rough and rugged path, and continue there, he will commit suicide, as above stated, and hide himself forever.

I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last fall had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend, who, knowing me to be a poor widow, gave it to me, I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle has absolutely cured me. I have not had as good health for twenty years. Respectfully, Mrs. Mary A. Beard, Claremore, Ark. Assaulted and Robbed.

Robert Foren was arrested Monday on a warrant sworn out by George Gumm before Justice Lovelee, on the charge of robbery from the person on the public highway.

Gumm says the facts of the case are as follows: Foren and he were in town drinking together Saturday evening and both got pretty full. A little before 9 o'clock they started home together afoot, both living a few miles east of this place, and soon after they got outside of town just this side of Mr. Coleman's place Foren, who was walking behind, struck Gumm back of one of his ears with his fist, knocking him down, and then beat him and took his watch and his money, $18. About half an hour later Gumm was found lying beside the road bleeding and in an unconsious condition by George Smith, Earl Carleton and Jas. Ewing, who were on their way home. They aroused him and assisted him to the home of his brother-in law, Wm. Saltmarsh, and the next day he came to town and swore out a warrant for Foren. Sunday, the day after the robbery, Gumm's empty purse and a ten-dollar greenback were found close together in the road, about half a mile on the other side of the river bridge, by George Smith and Dave Ridgway.

Foren claims that three men attacked him and Gumm, two jumping on him and robbing him and then telling him to run for his life, which he did.

As we go to press we understand that Foren will waive examination. He is now in the custody of Marshall Ritter, who is acting as constable. His mother is trying to secure the necessary bonds for his appearance befors the next grand jury.—Lebanon Express Advance.

A Pulp Mill Plant.

O'Neil Bros. & Callaghan, proprietor of the Lebanon paper mills, who purchased the sawmill plant at Niagara, up the North Santiam, are now making arrangements to build there a pulp mill. A stone dam will be built across the river, which is very narrow at that place, affording excellent water power. Expensive machinery will be put in, making it a large pulp-mill plant. The work will be carried on this summer. Hemlock timber, of which there is an abundance along the river, will be used in the manufacture of pulp.

Bad management keeps more people in poor circumstances than any other one cause. To be successful one must look ahead and plan ahead so that when a favorable opportunity presents itself he is ready to take advantage of it. A little forethought will also save much expense and valuable time. A prudent and careful man will keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house, the shiftless fellow will wait until necessity compels it and then ruin his best horse going for a doctor and have a big doctor bill to pay, besides one pays out 25 cents, the other is out a hundred dollars and then wonder why his neighbor is getting richer while he is getting poorer. The report of C. T. Roberts, voluntary observer of the weather shows extradinary conditions for the month of May. The maximum temperature was 74 on the 8th; minium, 34 on the 14th. There was a total precipitation of 3.9 inches. The clear days numbered 7, partly cloudy 22, and there were 2 days on which the sun shone not at all. One inch of water fell on the 24th in twenty four hours.—Salem Sentinal.
