The Albany Morning Herald has been enlarged to eight pages, but the pages have been reduced to five columns. We also note that the Herald arrives in this city one day behind time, which will reduce its circulation here if the trouble is not remedied at once. Under the new management we are glad to note that the Herald now has news in its columns both telegraphic and local that does not appear to be second hand.

Should these same people wish a little voluntary aid in building roads, churches, or anything else that depends upon public enterprise, no doubt Sears & Roebuck or Montgomery & Ward would be glad to donate. Nit!

Covered With Glory.

Lebanon covered herself with glory this week in the manner in which she received the Willamette Valley Development League and the Farmers Institute. Quite a large delegation of her citizens were at the depot when the train arrived to welcome the distinguished gentlemen who were to participate in the exercises. The NEWS representative noticed Governor Chamberlain and Mr. Judd, of Salem; Dr. Withycombe and Profs. Knisely and Lewis, of Corvallis; Col. Hofer, of Oregon; Mr. Weeks, of Salem; Mr. Schulmerich, of Washington County, and a number of others whose names we did not learn. Tuesday afternoon was devoted to the discussion of farm topics, such as the dairy herd, tile draining, clover. The evening, as here, was given up to a sort of entertainment, welcome address by Hon. M. A. Miller, response by Governor Chamberlain, music, etc. A violin solo by a young lady was worthy of special mention; also a vocal solo by Mr. Judd. Show windows of Lebanon business houses were profusely decorated with splendid farm products, all marked "Raised in Oregon," that would be a credit to any country. Deep interest was shown by the large number of farmers present.

Four Souls Made Happy.

George Bostwick and Miss Ida Wirt, two worthy young people of Lacomb, were united in marriage this forenoon at the residence of and by Rev. J. W. McDougall. The father of the groom and the mother of the bride were among those who witnessed the happy event. Both are native young people deserving happiness and prosperity.

Richard B. Lyons, of Lyons, and Miss Ella Baker, of Kingston, Oregon, both popular young people, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. A. L. Hiatt, in Lyons, on Sunday at 3 p. m. by the Rev. Father Charles. The bride looked very pretty in a gown of pearl silk voille, while the groom wore the conventional black. After the ceremony a wedding repast was served to a few intimate friends of the couple, wishing them a long life of happiness. They will make their home at Lyons.—Albany Democrat, November 6.

Jute Mill and Free School Books.

Hon. F. J. Miller went to Salem this morning on a short business trip. Mr. Miller was unable to go to Pendleton on the jute mill trip, but from his present information on the subject doubts the propriety of the project, but will give it a thorough investigation before there is action upon it by the next Legislature. Free school books is one of the important matters which will be up before the Legislature. Mr. Miller is opposed to a bill providing indiscriminately for free books for the rich and poor alike. The present law makes provision for free books for those unable to buy them, and this is as far as the State needs to go.—Albany Democrat, Nov. 3.

Arm Broken.

Last Sunday County Clerk Miller visited friends in this city and states he slipped and fell from a side walk, breaking his arm. We shall have to take Mr. Miller's explanation of the accident though we have frequently heard of arms being thrown out of place, but rarely of their being broken, when a young man visits a friend, especially if the friend should be a lady. We have, also, known of people getting injured from falling from side walks in towns where there are saloons, but as Scio is "dry," accidents of that nature ought not to happen here. So Mr. Miller's story must be the one and only true explanation.

THE ELECTION.

Wm. R. Hearst Defeated By Over 60,000—The New Congress Will Be Republican.

The battle of ballots was fought in all but three of the states on Tuesday. New York has had perhaps the hottest political contest of her history, with Republican success for the head of the ticket, though the rest of the state ticket is in doubt, but in favor of the Democrats. Hearst carried but two counties outside of Greater New York. As compared with two years ago Hughes majority of 60,000 is equivalent to a Republican defeat. Had not every possible influence been thrown in favor of Hughes Hearst would have been the winner. Had the president and his cabinet remained at their posts of duty in Washington except simply to go home and vote, Hearst would have been elected. Had Hearst received the united vote of the Democratic party he would have gone in by a good plurality. Hughes' victory is a victory for the plutocracy, for plutocrats, while they have no love for Mr. Hughes, prefer him to Hearst.

In other states there has been a general falling off of the Republican vote and a corresponding Democrat gain, with a loss to the Republicans of about 60 Congressmen.

IN OTHER STATES.

Colorado—The entire Republican ticket carried by a plurality of 10,000. Haywood, the Socialist candidate, received but a small vote. The Legislature is Republican, which insures a U. S. Senator of that party.

Iowa—Both parties claim the election of governor. Governor Cummins' election is claimed by 3000, while Democrats claim that Porter (Dem.) has won by a plurality of 12,000. The Legislature is safely Republican.

Minnesota—Johnson (Dem.) is re-elected by a majority of 60,000, the greatest majority ever given a candidate for governor by the state. All the rest of the ticket elected is Republican.

Wyoming—Governor Brooks (Rep.) is re-elected by 6000. Mondell (Rep.) for Congress re-elected.

Nebraska—Geo. L. Sheldon (Rep.) has received a larger plurality than was given Governor Mickey two year ago.

Texas—Solidly Democratic. Total vote did not exceed 400,000, of which 135,000 represented the Republican vote of all shades.

Wisconsin—Republicans swept the state by 40,000 majority.

Delaware—Republicans elect all their candidates and will control the Legislature.

North Dakota—Republicans carry the state by a small majority.

Tennessee—Democrats carry the state by 30,000. Large falling off of the Republican vote.

Washington—Republicans make a clean sweep, electing all three Congressmen and a full state ticket.

Arizona—Joint statehood defeated by a large majority.

New Mexico—Joint statehood carried by a good majority.

Georgia, North Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Arkansas, and Mississippi all returned the usual Democratic majorities.

Rhode Island—Democratic candidate for governor carries the state by 6000.

California—Gillett, Republican candidate for governor is probably elected. Two of Abe Ruef's judiciary candidates win out.

Massachusetts—Guild, Republican candidate for governor, increases the majority of last year, receiving a majority at this time of over 32,000.

Idaho—Both parties claim the election, with the Democrats having rather the better prospect.

Nevada—Democrats win all along the line by a large majority.

Illinois—Republicans elect state treasurer by 100,000 majority, though they lose three and possibly five Congressmen.

Utah—Republicans carry the state by their usual majority.

Indiana—Democrats gain one Congressman in the state.
