LACOMB.

ORE—It was the privilege of our correspondent to visit the little village of Lacomb a short time ago. It is beautifully situated in the foot hills, about ten miles north east of Lebanon and twelve miles southeast of Scio, surrounded by a country rich in agricultural resources and is also noted for its fine fruits and vegetables. Mr. Wm. Turnidge has built a large and commodious house on the corner lot south of Fern Ridge Avenue and uses a portion of the building as a residence and the balance as a store room for his immense stock of general Merchandise.

Mr. Turnidge predicts a bright future for Lacomb, as his trade is advancing steadily. Already he numbers his customers by the score. Mr J. E. Turnidge is offering to sell town lots very reasonably, and to those meaning business he offers special inducements.

Mr J. C. Tucker has put up a shoe shop on Meridian Avenue, and is prepared and ready to put on a patch or drive a hob nail on short notice, and insures his work to not rip, ravel or run down at the heel.

During my stay with the good people of Lacomb, which was short, the village was visited by an agent representing a publishing firm in San Francisco, and after canvassing the vender of dry goods and groceries, and holding up his samples before the astonished gaze of the merchant in every light it was possible, failed to secure an order. Our sympathies were greatly aroused as we noticed with sadness the picture of discouragement stamped on his countenance that words written even by a newspaper correspondent would fail to describe. And to the front door he went forth into the cold world and bent his slow and unsteady footsteps in the direction of the shoe shop. Here he was more successful, for after the usual canvass the generous hearted man on the bench gave him a liberal order: and from thence he went on his way rejoicing. We also heard that certain young—gentlemen I like to have said—were expecting in the near future to put up a saloon on the east side of Main street. However we were unable to gain any authentic information in regard to this enterprise. We would recommend the city fathers to adopt extremely high license. The Fern Ridge school is situated one-half mile north and is progressing nicely under the efficient management of the present board of directors. Prof. J. C. Hardin is teaching the winter term and giving general satisfaction.

FERN DIGGER.

Language is hardly strong enough express my admiration of the merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is the best remedy for croup and whooping cough I have ever used. During the past eighteen years I have tried nearly all the prominent cough medicines on the market but say, and with pleasure too, that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is is the best of all. Thomas Rhodes, Bakersfield, California. For sale by M. A. Miller.

Last winter Mr. H. E. Kinkade, collector for the United States Express company, at Des Moines, Iowa, was severely troubled with chilblains. The swelling and intense itching of his feet was a great annoyance to him. He tried several remedies without benefit, but fortunately bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says he only applied it three times until his feet were entirely well and free from itching and swelling. For sale by M. A. Miller.
