FACTS ABOUT LEBANON.

The Soil, Climate, Fruit, and other natural resources, make the State of Oregon the wonder and pride of those who have long lived on its soil, as well as the many distinguished visitors of national reputation who have been in the State. While not trying to disparage any locality in the State, and believing its destiny in the near future will rival if not excel the most prosperous State of the Union, yet we deem it not only right, but proper, that the mighty throng whose eyes are turned toward the Pacific Slope should be advised, ere they seek a new home, of the many advantages of this portion of the State.

As will be observed by consulting a map, Linn County is situated near the center of the far-famed Willamette Valley, and possesses in many respects superior advantages to all other portions of the State.

Its citizens as a general rule are contented and happy, enjoying what Nature has so lavishly bestowed upon them, supplemented by activity and industry unrivaled by none in the whole country.

Its resources are great and its possibilities beyond the comprehension of the most reasonable mind. Its great want is population, to aid in developing these great and possible resources. To the overcrowded cities of other States, to the toiling masses that feed the world, in older settlements, to the laborer, capitalist, business and professional man, the opportunities offered are rare, the field wide and a happy home within reach of all.

The town of Lebanon is situated near the center of the prosperous County of Linn. To the North and West the Willamette Valley with all its boasted fertility lies in open view. No portions of the State or Coast excel in production in any market particular over this locality. The view itself, in season, under the hand of industry, fringed in the far distance by the snowy peaks of the Coast Range mountains affords an oriental banquet to the eye. To the East and South the land becomes in a few miles more elevated and continuous so for some eighty miles till you stride the summit of the Cascade Mountains, where is found Mt. Hood in all her grandeur, Mt. Jefferson, her rival, and The Three Sisters, linked together in beauty and majestic appearance. This large section of land, in addition to producing grain, is for the most part well adapted to stock raising and horticulture.

For some twelve miles back most of it has been opened up and partially settled. From there on the larger portion of this great area is still owned by the government and subject under the law for entry. In many places it is covered with the finest and best timber found on the coast.

Since the settlement of the country gold and silver has been found in this region and more than usual interest has been manifested to open and develop the rich mines which are universally believed to exist there.

These resources are comparatively undeveloped. Each year the line is farther advanced and it is simply a question of time until the greater portion of the county will be occupied.

The foregoing is only an imperfect sketch of the surroundings of the town of Lebanon.

"To see is to be convinced."

The town is beautifully situated.

The present population counting the suburbs is about 1000.

The city government is in charge of broad and liberal men, and since its existence has never called for a levy of taxes to keep up and maintain its running expense.

It can boast of as many churches and good schools as any town of the same size in the State. Its business men are active and enterprising and the moral tone and culture of the people will suffer no comparison with any.

The erection of the largest paper mill in the State is under way at the cost of $50,000. The pay roll of the same when in operation will not be less than $4000 per month.

Steps have also been taken for the construction of a canal during the year at an estimated cost $20,000 for additional power for manufacturing and other purposes. This is the country and the town to which we invite you. It is not our desire to mislead any. We firmly believe those seeking new enterprises, investments and homes can be as well suited if not better in and around Lebanon than any other locality on the Pacific coast.

At a congregational meeting of the C. P. Church in Brownsville this week Rev. J. R. Kirkpatrick was unanimously elected to the pastorate for another year.

THE WASSOM ADDITION

Is the place where men and women of Money and Sense and Refinement will make their homes—and why?

BECAUSE

The College, the Mineral Springs, Ravenna Park, the view of Mount Ranier (which is grander here than any where else on Puget Sound) which, if for no other reason, would make it most desirable.

In Seattle a mighty City is building. Take hold of the best while you have a chance at Lowest Prices.

TO THE PIONEER A WORD:—Why did you cross the plains? Why did you take your life and that of others in your hands to come to this Coast? What pen can write the history? You have conquered this land, made the growth of great cities imperative, and the amassing of great fortunes, almost in a day, possible. Now; by the investment of a few thousands, or hundreds, you may reap the harvest that belongs to you. Will you do it? The greatest corporations, the ablest financiers of Europe and America, are investing thousands—nay, millions, in Seattle. Will you not invest? Your chance is NOW. Seize it.
