CAN NEVER BE RECONCILED

Countess de Castellane Decides to Ask Absolute Divorce.

PARIS, March 12.—There is reason to believe that the preliminary hearings instituted by Countess Boni de Castellane, formerly Anna Gould, against her husband, Count Boni, which was set for March 14, will be postponed. This is understood in view of the fact that the Countess contemplates applying for an absolute divorce, instead of a separation, which will require the filing of a new bill of complaint.

The proposed change appears to be the result of the conclusion of all concerned that a reconciliation between the Countess and the Count is impossible during the three years in which the legal separation would be operative. It is the intention of the lawyers on both sides to avoid public hearings, the case and to secure a decree without a contest.

Wickliffe Gang of Cherokees Resists Attack All Day—Army of Deputies Goes Out to Capture Murderers.

VINITA, I. T., March 12.—One hundred armed men have gone into the Cherokee country in pursuit of the Wickliffe band of Indian outlaws, who on Sunday afternoon, 21 miles southeast of Vinita, ambushed a United States Marshal's posse of six men, killing one and wounding another.

Bob Thompson arrived here at 11 P. M. from the scene of the fight. He says that the posse, of which he was one, after trailing the Wickliffe all day with bloodhounds, came upon them at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The Indians, 11 in number, took refuge in a ravine and opened fire. The deputies threw themselves upon the ground and a hot fight began, which lasted an hour.

Deputy Sheriff D. L. Giestrap was shot through the head and killed at the first exchange of shots. Dick Ferry, another posseman, was wounded.

The deputies were driven gradually back to the head of a ravine. There they formed a breastwork, and the Indians, despairing of reaching them, withdrew. Thompson reports an ugly feeling among the Indians. The posse can do nothing until tomorrow.

The trouble with the Wickliffe dates back to January, 1905, when the Cherokee Land Office was opened at Vinita. The full-blood Cherokees objected to this proceeding, and they held war dances all over the Cherokee country, and the situation became alarming. On one occasion Peter Wolf, a full-blood Indian, was killed by another full-blood for no other reason than that he came to Vinita and secured an allotment.

All were well on board.

Both vessels have been purchased by New York parties for service on the Atlantic Coast.

SMOOT CASE NEXT MONTH

How Women's Petitions Against Senator Failed of Effect.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, March 12.—The Smoot case is apt to be brought before the Senate early in April, and will continue to be the foremost topic of discussion in that body for the better part of a month, if leaders of the anti-Smoot campaign are to be relied upon. Before the present Congress assembled, it was understood that the case would be reported early in January, but the anti-Smoot people had some additional witnesses to produce, and then Senator Smoot wanted some of his friends to appear. The result has been to delay the report at least two months.

But once the case is reported, it becomes a question of highest privilege, and will take precedence over everything else.

An incident of more than passing interest recently occurred in connection with the Smoot case. Women in all parts of the country worked throughout the past summer preparing enormous petitions demanding the expulsion of Smoot from the Senate. These petitions were forwarded to the anti-Smoot headquarters in Philadelphia, there they were arranged by states, and the anti-Smoot people then presented to the Senate day by day by the Senators from the respective states. It was planned to be an imposing spectacle, conveying the idea that the women all over the United States were overwhelmingly in favor of banning Smoot.

But, unfortunately, the first petitions were sent to Washington were placed in the hands of Senators who intend to vote for Smoot. Senator Perkins presented the California petitions, and accompanied them with a statement that served to offset the effect of the protest, and he incidentally stated that he would vote according to the law and his convictions, and not according to the dictates of the women signers of the petitions. Senator

Patterson and Senator Warren followed in like terms.

The flood of petitions suddenly ceased. There has not been another laid before the Senate. Apparently the managers of the anti-Smoot campaign fear that the entire effect of the big protest will be lost if the original plan is followed, and they have decided to withhold the protest until some more effective way can be found of laying it before the Senate.

The anti-Smoot managers made the mistake of starting with the wrong Senators. Had they led off with Idaho, permitting Senator Dubois to present the protest of the women of his state, a very different result might have been accomplished.

But there is another objection to the plan as originally outlined. The presentation of petitions would constitute a virtual spoil of the Senate, and would show in advance what sort of vote might be expected when the Smoot case comes up for determination.

WINTER WEAKNESS

LACK OF OXYGEN WEAKENS MUSCLES AND NERVES.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the Tonic That Most People Need.

In winter the air of the close rooms in which we spend so much of the time does not furnish enough oxygen to the lungs to burn out the foul matter in the blood. Everyone knows the uncomfortable feelings that follow the breathing of bad air and that are cured by simply opening a window for a short time. The worst effects, however, are those which are stored up and do not appear at once.

In the cold season we do not exercise as much and the skin and kidneys do not throw off the waste matter as freely as usual. The whole system gets clogged just as a machine does when it is not cleaned with frequency. The stomach does its work feebly and gets less nourishment out of the food. So there is weakness everywhere; weak organs, weak muscles, weak nerves. The system becomes overloaded with poisonous matter, and too feeble to throw it off. Relief can be had only through the use of a remedy that will promptly and thoroughly purify and strengthen the blood, and the one best adapted for this purpose is the great blood tonic known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"They acted like magic in my case," said Mrs. Clara L. Wilde, of No. 877 Farnsworth avenue, Detroit, Mich. "I was weak and thin and could not sleep. My stomach and nerves were out of order. I can't describe how miserable I really was. I dragged through six months of feebleness, growing weaker all the time until I finally hadn't strength enough to leave my bed."

"Then a glad day came, the day when I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They made me feel strong right away. My appetite came back, I took on flesh and the color returned to my cheeks. People wondered that these pills did for me what the doctors couldn't do. I took only six boxes and then I was perfectly well. If I had not found this wonderful remedy I surely think that I must have wasted to death. Believing firmly that these pills saved my life by the strength which they gave me at a critical moment, I unhesitatingly recommend them to others."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no alcohol and do not produce false strength. They do not contain a single grain of any harmful drug. They give strength that lasts. They may be obtained at any drug store.

B-r-r-r Cold! Back to Warmer Underwear

First-Floor—Knit Underwear Shop. The weather man has been playing tricks on us Oregonians, just giving us a touch of "high life" that Easterners enjoy (?) about five months of the year—a genuine freeze-up. This suggests that perhaps you've been fooled by that self-same weather man and changed your underwear too soon—doffing the Winter weights and donning Summer garments. It isn't wise to trust that fleckle dirt, Miss Weather, too fully, she's apt to turn the cold shoulder right after a warm smile any time this month. We've brought forward some late arrivals in heavier underwear and hosiery, that we had intended returning to the factory on account of the late shipment and delay in transit, but instructions come to sell them at a loss from the mill price as they get on sale today. If you don't need them now it will pay you to buy them and put away in some unused drawer until next winter. The savings are worth while better than money on interest in the bank—read:

Better Buy Elbow Gloves Now

We've a big shipment just in—won't last long. Read what America's great dry goods authority has to say in its issue of March 3, about the elbow-glove question:

"No Stocks of Long Gloves

Prospect of Obtaining a Supply Limited to Meet Personal Demand Getting Smaller and Smaller. Are you looking for gloves? If so, the chances are ten to one that you will continue looking long time before you will obtain the goods which you seek. The prospect of obtaining a supply of long gloves sufficient to meet the present enormous and increasing demand grows less bright with each passing week.

The clipping here reproduced from the advertisement of a Western glove importing firm presents some very interesting reading. In the first place it shows:

A BEAUTIFUL GLOVE This 16-button Glove Would you like to have some?

But we haven't them, and we will not have enough to nearly all our customer's needs for this season. No one will have.

Because, the kids are not born that will yield enough skins for the world's demands.

Because only a certain percentage of skins can be cut into long lengths.

Because, the ladies have, with common accord, united in metaphorically "crying for the moon" and also very accurately reveal the reasons for the present shortage, thus explaining why the retailer is unable to obtain the long gloves which he so badly needs. (Dry Goods Economist.)
