On the Square, Isn't Mutt the Laziest Thing You Ever Saw? By "Bud" Fisher

BELL RINGERS ARE HEARD AT NAT

The Royal English Bell Ringers one of the number of the entertainment course that is being put on in the city of Medford by the Medford Entertainment association, appeared at the Natatorium last evening, and to say that the entertainment given by these people was most excellent is putting it very mild.

The company consists of ten men direct from England and under the management of Mr. Boileau for the Britt Lyceum bureau, and the entertainers captured their audience from the very start of the program. The music rendered was all of the highest class and thoroughly appreciated by the large audience.

Not only was the music of the bells enjoyed, but several songs were rendered by the double quartette, and several fine solos by the manager, Mr. Boileau, who is the possessor of a most pleasing baritone voice.

DARROW ATTACKS JUDGE.

tinctly marked today, and frequent clashes between counsel and occasionally with the court enlivened the usually dull monotony of interrogating talesmen. Darrow's charge followed three rulings by the court which were directly against the defense and which were received with distinct disappointment by them and with corresponding elation at the state's table.

Darrow was interrogating F. L. Brodie, a prominent business man and had asked him one of the thousands of leading questions with which the record of the case is filled. Deputy District Attorney Horton objected and was sustained. Darrow his face flushed with anger, took exception to the ruling.

"Why, when the other side wants to disqualify a juror, the court permits them to ask leading questions for an entire half day. I—" he began.

"That remark is decideduy improper, Mr. Darrow," sharply broke in Judge Bordwell.

"But it is a fact that record discloses, nevertheless," continued Darrow. "I want a specific ruling on this point."

Judge Bordwell ruled that certain questions might be proper in the case of one juror that would not be proper in the case of another. This ruling plainly amazed Darrow, who promptly declared that never in all his court experience had he found a similar position taken.

WOMEN RIOTERS IN JAIL.

determination not to make suffrage an administration issue.

Mary Oldham, specifically charged with having obstructed traffic, assaulted the police and destroyed property, was first arraigned. The woman defied the court, and upon her declaration that she would willingly undergo martydom, she was sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment or a $17.50 fine. She preferred jail.

The court then adopted a system of graduating the prisoners' sentences according to the extent of damage they were accused of doing. Where the reputed damage exceeded $25 the prisoner was bound over to the superior court.

A huge force of police was lined about the walls of the court room to preserve order. The women promise to create disorder in jail. Refusal to work, furniture smashing, the prosecution of a hunger strike and resistance to atttendants are some of the methods by which they threaten to make things warm for the authorities.

MISINTERPRETS KIPLING'S "FEMALE OF THE SPECIES."

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 22.—Gemenaly Baptista, "Treea de mont' in disa countree," was arrested for carrying a double-barrelled shotgun about with him. He was asked by the judge if he didn't know there was a law against it.

"But what gonna do for protect against da she bear?" Baptista came back. "Gotta carry da gun fora da wild animal."

"Take this man into my chamber and see if you can enlighten him on the subject of 'Wild Animals I have Met in San Francisco,' said the judge.

"You gotta me wrongkeed," piped Baptista. "I wanta protect from da females of what you call 'da speeches.'"

Passing over the "kid," the court learned that Baptista had misinterpreted Italian translations of Kipling's latest.

DIAZ NEVER TO RETURN.

each calumniating the other.

"Opinions change quickly in Mexico. Senator Root and others who attended the celebration shortly before my retirement fro mthe presidency can testify that the people loved—almost worshiped—me they. They changed overnight. They said they wanted me to leave. They wanted another president. I replied: 'I'll go.' I don't know the truth about home conditions now. I am afraid to state my opinions, because, perhaps, I am not unbiased myself.

"No, under no conditions would I return to Mexican politics. I never will have another word to say concerning them. I'm done. I gave my youth, my age—everything—to my country. I was happy to do so. They asked me to leave. I will not return to a country where conditions change so quickly.

"But no—there is one condition upon which I would re-enter public service. In the event of war between Mexico and a foreign power I would give all I possess to help Mexico.

"My plans are unsettled. I love Spain and may live there. At any rate, I shall not live in any other part of Europe."
