HOLIDAY CLOSING ASKED OF STORES

The retail trade committee of the Chamber of Commerce recommends that all stores of Medford close for Labor day, Monday, September 7, it was announced today.

It has been customary for all stores to close for the holiday during previous years, and it is hoped they will continue the custom this year.

The retail trade committee will meet again tomorrow morning to consider further plans for annual fall opening.

Playing at Holly

Ben Lyon and Constance Bennett

"Bought," Constance Bennett's latest starring vehicle, and now at the Holly, is considered by many her best picture. The star's father, Richard Bennett and Ben Lyon are featured in the supporting cast. A special stage attraction is being offered with the feature picture consisting of a novelty presentation, featuring tap, adagio and eccentric dances, and presenting Laura Hasting's Variety Four.

This quartette of big time artists is stopping in Medford for a few days and will appear matinees and evening each day, during the engagement of the feature picture.

Hangar Dance Will Be Big Fall Affair

One of the best Legion dances of the fall season is anticipated when the annual Labor Day ball takes place at the Medford airport next Monday night. The big hangar with its specially finished cement floor, affords a fine cool place to dance and there is ample space to take care of a record crowd. Special music and novelties will be provided and a big time is assured all who attend.

Proceeds of the affair will be used to help defray expenses of the American Legion junior baseball season, sponsored by Medford post No. 15. The following committee has charge of the dance: Elmer Wilson, chairman; Fred Scheffel, Horace Bromley, Dr. Johnson, Lew Corbett, Walter Olmscheid, Lloyd Williamson, Phil Sharpe, John Holmer and Earl York.

HARRISONS TODAY OBSERVE WEDDING OF 53 YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Harrison, who reside at 838 Bennett, this city, today celebrated their fifty-third wedding anniversary, when a number of their friends and relatives called during the day. The couple has resided in Medford for the past ten years.

They were married near Manchester, England September 2, 1878, where they lived for fourteen months before sailing for America. Upon arriving in this country, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison made their home in Kansas City, Kans., for one year and nine months before moving to Mansfield, Ohio where they made their home for three or four years.

Mrs. Harrison was 73 years old last January 29, and Mr. Harrison was 76 on May 19. They have five sons and seven grandchildren.

Their son Herbert is shipping clerk for the Pelican Bay Lumber company at Klamath Falls, and Clifford is in the hardware business at Laurel, Neb. Harry Harrison is distributing agent for the Shell Oil company in Ashland, and Lee resides on a farm near Martin, S. D. Their youngest son, Ray, is employed by W. H. Fluhrer in this city.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Harrison are enjoying good health, although Mrs. Harrison was quite ill about two years ago. She reported today that she is now feeling fine, and is able to be about the house and do her work.

CRUELTY CASE IS COUNTY PROBLEM

A complaint was filed yesterday by residents of the "family camp" at the Copco construction work near Prospect, charging C. N. French, a worker, with alleged mistreatment of a 6-year-old girl. The child is now in charge of a county health nurse and will be given care and observation at the Community hospital. A delegation of women from Prospect called upon the district attorney yesterday and made statements against French and his alleged treatment of the girl.

Besides the girl, there are five other children in the family, and a visit of the stork is expected. French is their sole support, so his present difficulty presents quite a welfare problem. The county feels that if he is discharged he will become a county dependent, thus increasing the already overburdened charity fund. The California Oregon Power company is understood to have extended its cooperation in the handlin gof the problem.

It is also alleged by county officials that complete harmony does not prevail among the neighbors in the family camp and that squabbles are frequent.

MEDFORD WATER BOON FOR THOSE IN RURAL AREAS

No matter how good is their well water or other legitimate drinking supply, many residents of the suburbs or other adjacent communities of Medford enjoy the bootlegging of Medford's pure water from the street fountains or from homes, especially during a hot weather spell.

Their own communities shut off from obtaining an extension of the much desired city water, from the city system by practically minded but seemingly hard-hearted municipal governments, these outside residents are thirsty all the time for the city water, and there being no law against the practice, or even complaint, they are seen at all hours jumping from their cars close to the street drinking fountains, or going into the homes of friends or relatives thruout the city ,and filling their jugs or other containers with the precious fluid, after first drinking their fill.

Then they hurry home where other members of the family eagerly await with parched throats their arrival.

Some of the suburbanites are too proud to be seen in daylight, filling jugs and the like and carting them home, hence they do this work at night, and any curious citizen doubting this statement, can verify it by keeping watch at the fountain just east of the chamber of commerce building, which has a faucet adjunct, placed there primarily for tourists to fill their containers.

As far as the majority of Medford people are concerned the residents of the adjacent communties are welcome to carry away all the water they want, either from the street fountains or from the homes of relatives or friends. Medford people are proud of their water, and it pleases them to see outsiders so greatly appreciate it.

There is no way of knowing just how much water is thus bootlegged from the city mains, but it is generally figured that the amount in no way depreciably decreases the city's supply.

Rolling Log Crushes Skull of Truckman

LA GRANDE, Ore., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Marion Christman, 22, of North Powder, was fatally injured east of Union late yesterday while trucking logs for the Union sawmill.

The logs rolled from the truck when Christman and his companion attempted to tighten the chains which held them in place. One of the logs struck Christman, fracturing his skull. He died before reaching town.
