Chomping Plant Sharpens Minds

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 1—(U.P.)—The intelligentsia may become even more intelligent in the near future simply by eating "intelligence," according to the North Carolina department of conservation and development.

No idle statement, that. Centella asiatica, a plant which the sages of India claim stimulates the intellect, has been found growing in the marshes of North Carolina.

Prof. B. M. Wells, author of "Natural Gardens of North Carolina said that Hindu sages claim that tea made from the dry leaves will make genii out of idiots.

Ashland Elks defeated Klamath Falls Marines here Wednesday night before nearly 500 fans in an infantile paralysis benefit basketball game, Medford's top hoop attraction of the year.

Medford high school Black Tornado is still riding the crest of the Southern Oregon conference cage race, having beaten Klamath Falls, Grants Pass and Ashland. The Tornado goes against Grants Pass Friday night as league play starts the second half of the schedule.

Camp White Navy moved into the lead in the Southern Oregon independent basketball chase over the idle Ashland Elks by stopping Mobilgas 49 to 38 this week. Neither the Navy nor Elks have been beaten in league play.

Another event which added a sizable sum to the March of Dimes fund took place at the Midway auction yards when an old felt hat belonging to Charlie Hoover, and a miniature Stetson presented by his cronies, brought $125 in an uproarious sale.

To discuss the problem of what Jackson county farmers can produce and market in the post-war era, farmers, farm wives and extension service specialists are holding a planning conference here next week.

Howard Gault, appointed county sheriff after the death of Syd Brown a few months ago, has announced that he will be a candidate for nomination on the republican ticket, and County Commissioner William Perry has announced that he will run again. Vern Smith, deputy sheriff for the past five years, has resigned.

School has opened for the second semester, with an increase of 272 pupils over January of last year. There is discussion of enlarging and remodeling junior high school, said to be badly overcrowded. Mrs. Ruth Sether, English instructor at senior high for 20 years, has resigned.

Reflecting the growth of the city and surrounding areas, the postal department is making many changes in routes. Houses on routes adjacent to the city limits are being numbered and roads are being given names. Between 1,100 and 1,200 homes will be affected. The local office has three rural and two mounted routes and 10 foot carriers.

Buying, selling and building homes and businesses continues a main point of interest. Norris K. Porter, Seabee veteran, and Chauncey Brewer, former architectural engineer for Howard Hughes in Los Angeles, have formed a construction firm and have four houses underway. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gaddis have sold their East Main street home to H. D. Christensen, who plans to move the residence to the back of the large lot, convert it into apartments and then construct a drive-in cleaning establishment on the corner of Main and Hawthorne.

Lloyd Rupp has opened a new ranch type dining room in Central Point and eight new houses are to be built near-by by Rupp and Cheney brothers. Later the men plan to build a modern two story motel court with 22 ranch-style living units.

John Taylor has purchased the Oyster Loaf cafe from Paul Hartsook and Othar Richey while Robert C. Gail, recently out of the navy, has purchased a building on the highway opposite the Rogue River bridge and plans to open a grocery store. Medford ranked fifth in the number of building permits issued in Oregon in December of last year.

Alan Kircher has received a principal appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy while Ferney McKibben has been advanced from alternate to principal. McKibben is now attending the U. S. Coast Guard prep school at Groton, Conn. Miss Norma Pree, employed in Washington, D. C., by the army service forces, has received a citation for meritorious service.

Third snow of the season fell Monday morning, with .8 of an inch recorded, but melted with warmer weather in the afternoon. At Crater Lake a group of four men braved deep snow and storms and finally succeeded in installing the sound recording instrument which it is hoped will prove if there is a recurrence of volcanic activity in the lake. A federal geologist is established in the lake lodge to watch the instruments.

The valley young folk are doing their part to help along the national marriage rate, said to be sharply rising. Announced last week were the weddings of Betty Jane Trueblood to Howard Blew of Perry, Ia.; La Velle Mason, Talent, to Chester Ricks; Juanita Mildred Brittsan to Clarence Tingleaf; Barbara Jane Fash, Enid, Okla., to Robert Iven; Verna Grace Quackenbush to George Donald Kerby, both of Ashland; Harriet Harris to Albert T. Armstrong of San Francisco; Private Dora Hartland of Shotton, England, to Staff Sgt. William Burnette; Beverly Malone to Sgt. Albert Bergold of Alameda, Calif. Sgt. Burnette is expected home from England soon and his bride will follow when she is released from the army's auxiliary transport service.

Mary Wilson, in Honolulu with the Waves, has been promoted to chief yeoman. She will remain in Hawaii until next fall.

Added to the list of discharged veterans are Leigh Blew, veteran of 15 months with the 11th armored division; Larry J. Marsh, who served 18 months in Europe; Myron B. Meehan, former sergeant who served with the 70th division in Europe; John McCabe, who served in the coast guard and is now again on the staff of the Chrystal brewery; Jean Prock, who served with the naval air corps and Joseph A. Wetterer, formerly a corporal with the quartermaster corps and who served 15 months in Europe.

Also released are Weldon R. Slowan, who spent three years with the army transport command, including 20 months at Casablanca; Richard B. Smith, Jr., who served 18 months in Europe with a tank battalion; Roger Westerfield, former sergeant with the 158th regimental combat team and whose last assignment was in Japan; Frederick W. Schmidt, formerly a major in the quartermaster corps and now living in Seattle; Ivan J. Cherry, formerly a radio technician with the navy; Andrew J. Florey, veteran of three and one-half years with the army, of which 18 months was in Europe, and George R. McCormick, who served for 26 months in the Hawaiian Islands and who held the rank of staff sergeant.

Portland, Feb. 1 — (U.P.) — The position of chief engineer for the Oregon State Board of Aeronautics will be taken over tomorrow by William C. Hill.

He will serve under State Director of Aeronautics Leo G. Devaney, and his first job will be the formulation of a master plan for airport development for the state. The plan will be the basis for appropriation of funds by the state legislature to match federal funds for airport construction provided under bills now in conference in the national capital.

PHOENIX BUILDING READY IN 30 DAYS

Phoenix, Feb. 1—Erection of a 20 by 40 tile brick building for his propane gas agency was started yesterday by D. H. Adams at the corner of Church street and the Pacific highway here.

The structure, which Adams believes should be ready in about 30 days, will have a workshop and a show room for displaying a complete line of water heaters and stoves. He will have two tanks on the lot for 7,000 gallons storage space. Adams hopes to obtain an 18,000 gallon storage site along the railroad.

Propane distributor for Jackson and Josephine counties, Adams says that the gas can be adapted as fuel for autos as well as for household appliances. A special carburetor is needed he explains. The gas is tanked as a liquid under pressure.

Adams, formerly in the trucking business in Monterey Park, Cal., now resides at 1310 West Main in Medford.

AFL OFFICERS HIT ANTI-STRIKE BILL

Miami, Fla., Feb. 1—(U.P.)—Members of the American Federation of Labor executive council were en route home after firing a last minute blast at the Case labor bill in their final session of the midwinter meeting here.

AFL President William Green denounced the measure sponsored Rep. Francis Case, R., S. D., as one which will "cause confusion, chaos, injustice and disrupt industrial relations."

Green said that all units of the AFL would bring pressure on their congressmen to forestall a vote on the bill without public hearings.

Old Quarry Yields Three Automobiles When Cops Grapple

Quincy, Mass., Feb. 1—(U.P.)—Police here are ready for anything to turn up.

Take the case of the vanishing automobile that multiplied, for instance.

It all began the other day when someone found automobile tracks running through a "lover's lane" to the edge of a water-filled quarry.

That's where the tire-marks ended. Right on the edge.

So the police went to work with ropes and a crane. They hauled up one car. Then another. And still another.

The cops called off their salvage operations after the third vehicle was dragged out. Apparently the quarry was a favorite spot for auto thieves to dump their loot.

G. P. ROBBERY SUSPECT NABBED IN CALIFORNIA

Grants Pass, Feb. 1—Donald VanBuren Ayers is being held by Santa Barbara, Calif., authorities for armed robbery of Tracy's Steak House here last Dec. 31, the Josephine county sheriff's office has been advised. Ayres has admitted the crime and waived extradition, the California officers advised. He will be returned here for prosecution.

Babson Discusses Self-Control

By Roger W. Babson

Babson Park, Fla., Feb. 1—(Special Correspondence) — A friend of President Truman has asked me to boost his national health program. No one appreciates more than I the importance of good health, having once been "given up for dead" in connection with a long sickness of tuberculosis. This is the reason why my offices now are "out in the woods." I still do much work out-of-doors. Naturally, I favor helping those who are ill to get needed time and money for sufficient rest, the best of all remedies.

On the other hand, I have learned that financial aid is of little value in keeping well and getting well unless it is accompanied by self-control. All doctors will agree with this statement. Yes, self-control is necessary in keeping one's health, in keeping one's job, and in keeping one's happiness. President Truman should insist that schools and colleges do more to teach and develop self-control.

Most Sick People Lack Self-Control

Most people know what to do to keep well. They know that they should eat different food and eat it more slowly and regularly; they know that they should go to bed earlier and sleep in good fresh air; and they know that they should keep their feet dry and do other things that our mothers tried to teach us. It is not knowledge or money that most sick people lack; but rather self-control.

We all need self-control to avoid being careless, lazy and indifferent about the important things of life. We need self-control to develop good habits and to avoid bad or careless habits. Our habits are the most important factor in enjoying good health and good jobs.

Save Money To Become Employer

Too many of my readers are content to drift along at their present jobs and depend upon labor leaders, friends, or others for advancement. When I was young, most of us wanted opportunities, and laughed at those few people who wanted security. Today, however, most people seem to want security; they lack the self-control necessary for getting better opportunities; more promotions and higher wages.

A foreman must have self-control to keep fit physically and mentally so as to concentrate on his work; self-control to make friends; and self-control to never lose his temper. If he expects to someday go into business for himself, he must also have self-control to save money with the help of a good wife. The determining factor of whether a man will someday be an employer, or must always work for someone else, is this man's ability to save money. The man who constantly saves money, can ultimately become an employer; but the one who does not save money, must always work for someone else.

Self-Control Needed In Investing Money

Speaking of money reminds me of the need of self-control in successful investing. It is not difficult to pick out good stocks. A few weeks ago I gave a list of 25 stocks, all of which have paid dividends for over 25 years, and some for 50 years! The important need is to know when to buy, rather than to know what to buy. Most persons buy only when their neighbors are buying which usually is too late.

The time to buy is during a panic when prices are low, but this requires self-control. A person with sufficient self-control could have invested $2,000 forty years ago and, without borrowing a penny, could have made it worth over $1,500,000 today—buying and selling only nine times during these 40 years. But such a person needed to have self-control enough to sell when others were buying, and to buy when others were selling.

Success In Business Demands Self-Control

Returning servicemen, who hope to go into business for themselves, especially need patience and self-control. No new business can be expected to pay from the first, whether it is a little factory, a small store, or a barber shop. Starting a new business is like planting a tree. It cannot be neglected and needs care and watering for a long time before it bears fruit.

Men starting a business should have the self-control to say "no" and stick to it when they should say "no"; and the self-control to say "yes" and stick to it when they should say "yes." Sometimes I think that self-control is a spiritual quality which we cannot buy; but which we can get only on our knees through humble prayer.
