As We Live

By ELIZABETH HURLOCK, PH.D.

Defect In Speech Handicaps Girl

Defective speech is a handicap to a person in whatever he attempts to do. A young girl writes:

(Q) "I have the poblerm of stuttering and stammering, and it is driving me crazy. Could you give me some advice about what to do to correct my speech? I'd like to start a singing career, as I can sing without stammering. But when I'm nervous or excited, I'm lost."

(A) If you can sing without stuttering, that should give you the confidence you need to realize that you can lick this problem. However, do not jump to the conclusion that just because you can sing without stuttering you can have a successful career as a singer.

Dr. Hurlock

In the first place, a singing career requires a good voice to begin with and years of training to cultivate it. Also, a singer must have emotional control to be able to sing her best in spite of an audience.

You say that when you get nervous or excited, you are "lost." This would suggest to me that you might find your stuttering creeping into your singing if you sang before an audience.

You singing teacher should be able to recommend a good speech teacher who can help you to control your voice when you are talking. You have acquired from your singing one of the foundations of speech correction, the ability to control your breathing.

That is not enough, however. You must also learn to control your emotions, especially when you are with people, so you will not get excited and nervous. Your teacher can help you in this only within limits. The rest you will have to do for yourself. Until this problem has been met successfully, do not plan on a singing career, no matter how good your voice is. Good singing can be ruined by stuttering just as everyday speech can.

Your Health and Its Care

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Readers should address inquiries to: William Brady, 263 El Camino, Beverly Hills, Cal.

OILY SKIN, BLACKHEADS AND PIMPLES

In my early 'teens I suffered with oily skin, blackheads and pimples (doctors call it acne) and so I have a lot of sympathy for youngsters with this trouble, for boys and even more for girls, because a girl's vanity is tender and more easily hurt.

Dr. Brady

I urge every reader who has this common skin rash eruption, blemish or whatever you please to call it, or who has a boy or girl so troubled, to send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask in writing (you see, knucklehead, if you use a clipping of this item instead of asking in writing and signing your request, it is likely to become separated from the envelope and we cannot stop to guess who writes what) for the pamphlet Acne.

If you use the camphor-sulfurglycerin-witch hazel lotion every night, following hot soap and water scrubbing, it will probably set up some irritation after four or five days. That is not bad; in fact it is desirable. Just give the treatment a rest for two or three days, or until the irritation subsides, then resume applications every night or each alternate night or twice in the week.

For goodness sake don't take my pamphlet or any part of it to the drugstore and ask the man to put up this or that "prescription" for you. The formulas or recipes I give are not prescriptions. They are merely directions to guide you in making up the mixtures yourself. You can read, can't you?

If you don't want an impudent clerk to ask embarrassing questions or try to sell you the nostrum that pays the largest profit, you may purchase the sublimed sulfur at one store, the camphor water at another, the glycerin at a third and the witch hazel "extract" at the 5&10 maybe.

For the benefit of ignorant and vicious persons who know so much that isn't so, I repeat here what I say in the pamphlet:

Nearly all normal young persons have more or less acne—perhaps it is a blessing in that it tempers what might otherwise become insufferable vanity in youth.

Pimples are in no way related to "impure blood" (whatever that may be) and have no bearing whatever on the morality of the individual.

Young persons with oily skin, blackheads and a tendency to acne should avoid all salves or creams and rely on plain soap and water skin care. Plain soap, I say, not medicated, "beauty" or "penetrating" nostrums.

For excessive oiliness of the skin, without pimples, soap on the skin once daily a solution of ten (10) grains of resorcin in the ounce of bay rum, witch hazel or toilet water of any kind.

6 QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

That Tired Feeling

Different person since taking your Iodin Ration. Feeling of tiredness and depression have left me . . . (Mrs. E. B. O.)

Thank you so much for your advice about iodin deficiency. Never felt so good in my life as I have since following your advice . . . (T. P. S.)

I have most remarkable results . . . at 46 I have more energy, zest, better appearance, better disposition and I find I am much more competent . . . (Mrs. M. E. C.)

Now I am sure I feel better taking the Iodin Ration than I did taking thyroid extract for twenty years as per metabolism tests . . . (Miss R. S.)

I have taken your Iodin Ration for nearly four years and my friends marvel at the wonderful growth and blackness of my hair while most of them have gray hair of scanty growth . . . (D. A. C.)

At 63 by hair had been getting grayer for several years. I started taking the Iodin Ration. At 65 my hair is seemingly changing back to its natural color, so that old friends accuse me of using dye. My physical condition is certainly much better, too . . . (Mrs. R. L. M.)

For years my hairwas thin, dry, lifeless. Used many hair preparations with no apparent benefit. Since taking Iodin Ration for 1½ years, my dark brown hair has little gray, is thicker, longer and has more luster. I only wish I had discovered your column long ago. Please keep telling your readers . . . (Mrs. F. N. L.)

Answer—Thank you all. Instructions in the pamphlet THE IODIN RATION, for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.
