Executive Condemns New Shopping Areas

Chicago —(U.P.)— A real estate executive has spoken out against shopping centers and said they demoralize established business areas.

Arthur Rubloff, head of Arthur Rubloff & Co., blamed a lack of planning on present commercial real estate troubles.

"In many areas," he said "shopping centers are being built so close to one another that a fierce competition has developed . . . resulting in a 'dog-eat-dog' situation."

This, he said, coupled with "the demoralization of many of our established business areas, could bring about the foreclosure of more commercial real estate than any of us would care to see."

Stores in shopping centers, Rubloff said, "competitive to already established business areas, obviously will tap the spendable income supporting these business sections, and the end result is a division of sales that will ultimately support neither."

Driver Training Unit To Visit Local Plant

The Union Oil company's driver training trailer will be the company's McAndrews rd. plant here Oct. 19 to provide further training for drivers, according to N. S. Buvick, resident manager.

The training unit visited Medford in 1953, when basic tests and training in proper driving were given.
