Mothers' And Teachers' Club.—The Mothers' and Teachers' Club of the Brooklyn school closed a successful year Brooklyn school closed a successful year yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting and reception held in the assembly hall. Mrs. T. Luke, who has been president, presided at the opening of the meeting. A short business session was held when Miss May Montgomery spoke in the interest of the "Consumers League." Mrs. Millie Trumbull made some pertinent remarks on the duties of mothers. Mrs. Grace Watt Ross, representing the City Federation of Women's Clubs, was introduced and gave an effective talk. After the programme the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. C. H. Fox; secretary, Miss May McKeown; treasurer, Mrs. James Neely. Members of the Brooklyn Basehall Club, which won the cup, were present as the guests of the day. The cup the club won was on exhibition.

WANT TO DRAIN ASYLUM CREEK .- As want to Dhain Astion Chairs.—As the fill on Grand avenue proceeds, the water in Asylum creek on the east side continues to stand on a level with the opening in the sewer at East Alder street, and of course cannot be drained off through that connection. There is much apprehension in Central East Portland over this accumulation of water, which is already covered with a green scum. The impression is that the slough will become a serious menace to health if the water is allowed to stand. Dr. A. W. Moore, of the health board, has advised that it be covered with oil to prevised that if he covered with oil to pre-vent it becoming a breeding place for in-seciz, but nothing has been done to miti-gate any possible evil that may arise. A special committee from the East Side Improvement Association is now urging that something definite be done.

Church is Arousen.—The probability of a saloon being established across the street from the Mississippi-avenue Congregational church has aroused the members, and they will make a vigorous fight against it. It is announced that a corner lot 70x100 on the opposite side of the street from the church has been secured for saloon purposes at the price of $5.000, and that the owner of a saloon on Mississippi avenue, in precinct No. 60, recently put out of business by the local option election, will run the new saloon, which is just outside of precinct No. 60. There is no law to prevent a saloon being established under the eaves of a church.

STREET COMMITTEE ACTS

Recommends One Part to Be Paved With Bituminous Macadam and the Other With the Bitulithic Article.

Competition between rival street-paving companies, which has been the stimulus for innumerable discussions before the Councilmen, added another chapter yes-Councilmen, added another chapter yes-terday afternoon in a spirited debate at the meeting of the atreets committee, where the proposed improvement of Grand avenue came up for consideration. After arguing the question for two hours, the committee took action which will probably result in the work being divided between the opposing companies, the Barber As-balt Commany improving the section bephalt Company improving the section be-tween East Pine and East Everett streets and the Warren Construction Company the section between Belmont and East Stark streets. The two sections are re-garded as separate improvements because they are intercepted by a fill which cannot Discussion Over Pavements.

The discussion was opened by Dan Ma-larkey, who represented the Barber Company, which furnishes a bituminous mac-adam. He called attention to the fact that the Council had already passed a preliminary resolution favoring the improve-ment of Grand avenue with bitulithic pavement, which is furnished by the Warren Construction Company, without the usual preliminary of referring it to the streets committee for consideration. He asked for the committee to request the Council to reconsider its action, and presented a petition of the property-owners stipulating bituminous macadam. On the portion of the street between East Pine portion of the street between East Pine and East Everett the petition bore the names of more than one-half the owners.

W. M. Davis, for the opposition, said that the matter had been before the committee for months in the form of a petition calling for bitulithic pavement, and he thought his company ought to get the contract. "The improvement has been kept back by Councilman Kellaher, who is simply an obstructionist. Some of the Well, if the shoe fits you, then wear "I am not sympathizing with either company, but I am trying to see that the property-owners get what they want. Some one has been circulating the report that I am a stock-owner in the Barber Company, and I want to say that whoever did it is a liar."

Mr. Davis then said that the ordinance providing for bituminous macadam made a monopoly for the Barber people, as other companies cannot compete under its conditions. City Engineer Taylor said that this was true to the extent that it barred out pavements made from liquid asphalts. If the Barber company had control of the hard asphalts others could not bid. He suggested changing the ordinance in this did it is a liar.' suggested changing the ordinance in this

At the suggestion of Malarkey, it was voted to recommend to the Council that the Grand-avenue improvement be divided under the two ordinances. This was done over the protest of Mr. Davis, who said that his company ought to have the entire job, as the resolution had already passed the Council.

JUSTICE OF PEACE TO WED

George T. Ashley Applies for Marriage License in Multnomah,

"I have been Justice of the Peace of Brookfield, Wash., for several years, and have tied many score of matrimonial knots during my official experience, and it seems strange to me that I should be a candidate to face the hymeneal altar with somebody else on the throne."

These were the audible musings of George T. Ashley, the veteran Justice of the Peace of Brookfield, Wash., who, despite his threescore-and-six years, appeared as blithesome and happy as any youth as he applied for and secured the necessary license yesterday to wed Addie Peck, aged 53 years, of this city. The required affidavit to the application was made by D. J. Buckley, of 25½ First street.

"In all of my experience," continued the aged bridegroom, "I have never tied a knot that falled to stick, and I challenge anybody to show a record that will equal

I get the work because it is ordered that I should get. It came up on the steamer from Australia and landed in San Francisco. I had done some little drawing on the ship.

"The attention of John D. Spreckels, owner of the San Francisco Call, was drawn toward me, and the consequence was that I worked in the Call office for six wasks after I landed there. I filustrated the manuscript of a story and drew a front-page cartoon each Sunday. The author of the story, who had sold drew a front-page cartoon each Sunday. The author of the story, who had sold the rights to the Call, wanted me to illustrate the story for publication in New York. I went on there, and did the work More work poured in. I now have a studio, am under contract to furnish a page a week for the Telegraph; also draw for the Times, and keep up this vaude-ville cartoon act. RINALDO M. HALL PREPARES FINE PUBLICATION.

Issued by the Passenger Department of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company.

Under the title of "Restful Recreation Resorts" the passenger department of the O. R. & N. has issued one of the handsomest and most interesting booklets ever cinculated in the West, It was designed and planned in detail by Rinaldo M. Hall, advertising agent of the Harriman lines in Oregon, and he is the author of all the many different excellent articles which it contains.

Many declare that it is the handsom est booklet ever turned out in Portland and Mr. Hall is receiving much praise because of the taste and skill he has displayed in the design and the literary ability he has shown in the spien-didly-written articles. The cover is particularly attractive and in colors is shown a young woman mountain climbshown a young woman mountain climber who is ascending some snow-clad peak, supposedly Mount Hood. It is produced in four colors, as is the scene upon the back of the booklet, which shows the seashore. The color work snows up well upon all of the inside pages. There are 48 pages of beautiful illustrations and the reading matter. It is plain to be seen that Mr. Hall took great pains with the booklet and the large and varied range of his articles is evidence of his thorough ticles is evidence of his thorough knowledge of the attractions and ad-vantages of Oregon. Portland is described as the metropolis and pride of the Pacific Northwest. His description of the Columbia River could hardly be excelled and his friends declare it is one of the very best things he has ever written. All the famous pleasure resorts in the state are described both by picture and pen.

Mount Hood is not neglected, but instead it is doubtful if ever its matchstead it is doubtful if ever its match-less beauty and the attractions it offers to the mountain climber and all those who love Nature have ever been better set forth. In fact the booklet is re-markably complete. All the attractions on the line of the O. R. & N. offered the tourist and the pleasure seeker re-ceive fitting recognition.
